CAMPING

Worcester County offers over 1500 campsites, both public and private. Camps are located on the bay, ocean, river, and forest.

Choice campsites are available at:

- 1 Shad Landing State Park
- 2 Milburn Landing State Park
- 3 Assateague Island State Park
- 4 Assateague Island National Seashore

FISHING

Salt water enthusiasts can find it all off Worcester County shores. As the White Marlin Capital of the World, it offers a fine fleet of party boats. Off the beach surf fishermen hook kingfish. In the bays, there are blues, trout, flounder, and other varieties. In the southern and central part of the county, fresh water ponds and the Pocomoke River hold large mouth bass, pike and crappies. Crabbing is great sport in the Chincoteague Bay. With a little patience, some string, bait, and a net, you can catch a gourmet meal.

HUNTING

Thousands of acres of Pocomoke Forest land are open to the public during deer season, while Assateague provides duck and goose for wildfowl gunners.
