

For Second Time S. H. H. S. Wins Attendance Banner

Increasing her lead over Pocomoke City by one tenth of a point Snow Hill High School again captured the Worcester County Attendance Banner. Stockton was third on the list and Berlin and Ocean City brought up the rear with records which were considerably below their own percentage for the same month in 1928.

Snow Hill's splendid record shows beyond question that there has been intense co-operation between students and teachers in this regard. The efforts made have not been unavailing. As has been mentioned in other issues of "The Representative," the Student Council has been sponsoring an attendance campaign.

For two months the Senior Academics have had the highest attendance of any room in the school, thereby winning the Council banner. Every effort has been made to increase the percentages in all the rooms.

During the month of December we had an added impetus to work. The presence of the County banner on our walls made us work just that much harder to win it a second time. And win it we did! Though a number of students have been out with the "flu" we hope to win the banner for the month of January and to keep it the rest of the School year.

The percentages of the rooms follow:

Field Ball and Soccer Players Receive Awards

On Friday morning about a week before the Christmas Holidays the school was surprised to hear the assembly bell ring.

The whole school gathered together in a very few minutes and Mr. Simmons took charge of the meeting. He said that its purpose was to present to the members of the Field Ball and Soccer teams the school letters and stars.

He then gave the meeting over to Miss Riches, the Field Ball coach. She gave a short talk about the success of the season and then presented the following girls with stars (any player who plays more than one season receives a star:

Lola Godfrey (Capt.) Wilma Jones, Minnie Dryden, Mildred West, Elizabeth Barnes, Ruby Keister, Mary Evans, Grace Lewis.

Those receiving monograms (a player receives a monogram for the first year) were:

Mary Harris, Wilson Hudson, Nellie Hearthway.

Elizabeth Carter and Vera Jones received numerals for playing as substitutes.

Miss Riches then turned the meeting over to the Soccer coach, Mr. Jones. He made a short speech in which he thanked the second team for its faithfulness in coming out to practice and helping the first team.

He then presented stars to:

William Bradley, (Capt.) Lester Hearthway, Hance Fooks, George Brown.

Monograms were awarded to: Marshall Johnson, Raymond Smack, James Moore, William Townsend, Emory Pennewell, Paul Hales, Walter Onley, Carson Chandler.

James Gray, Edward Cluff and Ralph Watson received numerals.

Miriam White Speaks To S. H. H. S. Senior Class

Miss Miriam White, who is the daughter of the Rev. Wm. White and who now attends Washington College, gave a very interesting talk on December 21, to the Senior Class. The subject stressed was "Why a Student Should Go to Washington College."

She says that a man is worth $72,000 more if he goes to college and that there are many vocations open to college students. Moreover, a student learns how to live.

She states the following reasons for going to Washington College:

1. It is a grade A college.
2. It is a small college.
3. It is a friendly college.
4. Pupils come in contact with the faculty.

The Snow Hill student may add two further reasons for attending Washington College:

1. The cost is low to Maryland students.
2. It is the closest college to Snow Hill.

There are also athletics as well as studies.

We were very glad to have Miss White give this talk, as it will probably help some students who have not yet decided what college to attend.

SENIOR CLASS PREPARES TO GIVE OPERETTA SOON

The Seniors, assisted by Miss Ethel Shockley and by the Glee Club, are hard at work on the operetta Purple Towers.

This operetta concerns itself with the fortunes of a group of people whom Fate gathered together and placed at the charming house, Purple Towers.

Mary Vanderlip (Wilson Hudson) returned from Europe to find that

SENIOR BOYS COMPOSE

PEPPY NEW CLASS SONG

—o—

A group of Senior boys, Carson Chandler, Raymond Smack, George Brown, and Ralph Watson, composed the following song to be sung to the tune of "Doing the Raccoon."

Senior girls, Senior boys, go to school,
Some are bright, some are dumb, none are fools,

So to graduate soon.

The Senior Class don't care whose worrying 'em,

They'll get there without you hurry-ing 'em,

So to graduate soon.

Five days a week you will have your tough luck,

Five days a week you will be boosted up,

Then comes Friday night when you are late

With a nice sweetheart and a red hot date.

So to graduate soon.

We study like college Freshmen,
We are proud as we can be,
We strut like Fraternity saps,
With heads high, like the king bee.
Hal'lihua, Jolly Junior,
What a Senior you too will be,
Hulo! Hulo! We're no foolo
To go to Schoola, to graduate soon
From every vocal cord comes a cheer
Four more months to go to school this year.

SIXTH GRADE GIVES

CHRISTMAS PLAY

—o—

On December 21 the sixth grade gave a Christmas entertainment, consisting of three parts: a play, "The Christmas Fairy", and two exercises, "Lights of Christmas" and "The Christmas Story." Almost everyone in the sixth grade took part in this program.

The guests were Mrs. O. P. Simmons and the honor roll students of the fifth and seventh grades.

Mr. Simmons then spoke about some new regulations the faculty had made. The meeting ended with cheers for the team.

her agent had leased her house twice, first to Miss Applegate (Wilma Jones) and then to Phil Bradley (George Brown). To add to the complications a prize fighter (Carson Chandler) and his trainer (Hance Fooks) had been secretly using the house during Miss Vauderbilt's absence and had given rise to the rumors that there were ghosts on the premises. Their frantic but secret search for a missing contract involved the entire household in a series of side-splitting episodes. Much of the humor is furnished by the driver of the Pink Taxi Company (William Bradley) and by the local officer of the law (Raymond Smack). Miss Helen Trumbull (Esther Tatman), Tillie (Iva Tull), and Snowball (James Grey) completes the cast.

The music is peppy and the chorus parts are being well handled by the Glee Club. There are 11 songs, every one of which is well worth the price of admission.

Those in the chorus are: Virginia Riley, Mary Harris, Nellie Hearthway, Cathrine Dickerson, Sue Jones, Lola Godfrey, Mildred West, Louise Had-dock, Alberta Littleton, Bessie Nock, Marshall Johnson, John Scott, Ralph Watson, Anna Jones, Lois Mason, Harriet Grey, Ada Carter, William Townsend, Wallace Watson, Lester Hearthway and Walter Onley.

The Seniors feel that they are very lucky in having the assistance of Miss Shockley. Her thorough training, her capacity for hard work, and her innate musical ability insures a success of whatever she undertakes.

The operetta will probably be given about the first of March.

SENIOR HOME ECONOMIC

GIRLS SEE "WHITON HOUSE"

—o—
 "What does Queen Anne furniture look like? and "Has anyone an example of a Governor Winthrop desk?" are typical questions which have been floating around Snow Hill High School lately, for the Senior Home Economics class has been studying Period Furniture under the direction of Miss Frances Hancock.

The best part of the study was the real experience in knowing types and seeing beautiful pieces given by a visit to "Whiton House", the home of Mr. C. V. White. The class certainly enjoyed itself and there were numerous "Oh's" and "Ah's" over the furniture, rugs and pictures. Among Mr. White's furniture there was some of two periods which the class had not studied, those of the Empire and the Victorian.

The class will always remember the interesting story of the beautiful table that has at last found its way from a colonial mansion of George Washington's time to the White House in Washington.

The old, old lamps which were used in the days when sperm oil was burned, can still be seen, with their original snuffers, while others have been electrified to fit in as modern conveniences.

True, the visitors can not all possess all of these lovely pieces of furniture, pottery, rugs or glass, but they have at least formed an appreciation of good design, workmanship, and materials that will aid them in choosing furniture for their own homes. Fads in furniture, like those in dress, pass with time, but a good design will live through the ages.

The Senior Girls wish to thank Mr. White for his kindness in allowing them the privilege of visiting his home and of seeing his furniture. Their only wish is that they might have had more time to spend there so that they could have examined the furniture more closely and could have heard more of the interesting stories connected with each piece of it.

SNOW HILL HIGH SCHOOL

HAS NEW FIRE ESCAPE

—o—
 Snow Hill High School has long awaited many things: a new building, better sanitary conditions and others too numerous to mention, but one of its dreams has come true; it is possessed of a real, honest to goodness, fire escape, made of wood, it is true, but a fire escape, nevertheless, and located on the northwest end of the building.

For a long time one of the worst dangers facing the High School has been that of fire, and fire in which the students would be forced to make their way from the building under circumstances which would be dangerous, to say the least. These will now be lessened by the addition of the escape.

This improvement and necessity was put in the primary school building some two years ago, but the High School had been forced to wait until last month for its turn. With periodic drills and the use of the "head" in any emergency the danger from fire should be considerably reduced at Snow Hill High School.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF—

—o—
 Paul Hales knew his Algebra lesson?
 Hance Fooks never disturbed a class?
 Louise Haddock and Alberta Littleton never went to Salisbury?

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The last meeting of the C. C. Club was held December 14, and discussion of business was postponed because of the absence of some of the members.

The program given was as follows:
Song: Silent Night.

Solo: "Auld Lang Syne" by Iva Tull.
Jokes: by Carrie Marshall.

Play by Cathrine Pusey, Lola Godfrey, Bessie Nock and Carrie Marshall.

Reading: "Awful Luck" by Iva Tull

Song: Hark! the Herald Angels Sing.

After the program refreshments were served. We were glad to have Mrs. Richard Heward as our guest.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club held its day meeting December 11, 1928 in Mr. Bromley's room. The minutes were read and the roll called. Walter Onley came before the club reciting Lincoln's "Gettysburg Speech." Six other boys, Louis Sturgis, Herman Perdue, Charles Kensey, Nelson Barnes, Irvin Holston and Edward Wilson also came before the club with a play entitled "The Great Medical Dispensary." The cast was as follows:

Professor Ketchum—Proprietor of Dispensary—Herman Perdue.

Mr. Allbones:—a patient who wants to gain flesh—Charles Kensey.

Pat McNoodle:—the Professor's assistant—Louis Sturgis.

Sputter:—a patient with gout—Irvin Holston.

Deadwater:—a patient who wants to lose flesh—Nelson Barnes.

Hans: — a Dutchman — Edward Wilson.

The boys were dismissed and the question of their admission was discussed. It was decided to admit Walter Onley and Irvin Holston to the club.

LATIN CLUB

The last meeting of the Latin Club was held at the home of Miss Grace Jones, the sponsor, on December 21. The meeting was called to order by the president and the minutes were read. Old and new business was taken up and a play called "The Roman Wedding" was given. The cast was as follows:

Publius Corneliu Flacuss----Herman Perdue.

Cornelia, daughter of Flacuss-----
Esther Robins.

Marcus Claudius Marcellus-----
Charles Kensey.

Lucius, son of Marcellus----Nelson Barnes.

Pronuba, a Roman matron ----Helen Harris.

Guests --Isabella Johnson and Mary Brown.

Pontifix ----- Irvin Holston

A Roman ----- Edward Wilson

A stranger in Rome ----Vera Jones

The business meeting was followed by a social hour during which interesting games were played and refreshments served.

SCIENCE CLUB

At a regular day meeting of the Science Club on December 17, two Juniors were admitted to the Club. These were Harriet Grey, who read a composition, "Man like Apes", and Viola Davis who gave a composition on "What Poisons Can Do."

Committees were appointed for the following night meeting, but on account of the epidemic of influenza the meeting was indefinitely postponed.

MRS. PERDUE GAVE HER CLASS A CHRISTMAS PARTY

On Friday afternoon, December 21, Mrs. Avery Perdue gave our class a surprize party. We were told to go in the backroom and, to our surprise, we saw an apple and an orange on each desk. While we were looking idly about the room some one said, "Oh! look at those peanuts on the black-board!"

A prize was given to the one who found the most, Lillian Tilghman, being the lucky one. Irma Lee Disharoon acted as Santa Claus. Each one was given a little gift. Homemade candy and popcorn were then served. Our joyful afternoon was ended by going to the sixth and seventh grade's Christmas plays.

HISTORY SECTION SOPHOMORES SERVED CHRISTMAS LUNCHEON

On Friday, December twenty-first the history section of the Sophomore Class served a Christmas luncheon as a part of its hot lunch project. The decorations, consisting of a Christmas tree, together with running cedar and sprigs of holly, were in keeping with the season.

With the aid of the instructor, Miss Frances Hancock, we were able to prepare and serve successfully the following menu:

Tomato Soup
Baked Chicken with Dressing
Candied Sweet Potatoes Peas
Cranberry Sauce
Rolls and Butter
Pineapple Ice Cream Cake Cocoa

Everyone spoke favorably of the dinner, which proved a financial success, as we took in ten dollars. The Christmas spirit was plainly shown by the enthusiasm and cooperation of the elementary grades as well as of the high school.

We wish to thank all those who have been among our constant patrons, and at the same time extend a cordial invitation to all those who have not.

SEVENTH GRADE

On December 21 the seventh grade gave a two act play entitled "An Interview with Santa Claus." The main characters were:

The Reporters:—

Henry ----- James Hancock
George ----- John Perdue
James ----- John Oxley
Santa Claus ----- Herbert Harris
Mrs. Santa Claus ---- Grace Higgins

Scene I represented the 3 reporters preparing to visit Santa in his home at the North Pole.

Scene II represented the reporters' interview with Santa, and when the belief was Santa had a monopoly the Christmas Saints of foreign lands and Old Mother Goose and King Cole's fiddlers livened up and wound up our little play.

SENIORS PLAN NEW PROJECT

With the beginning of school began the Senior work in Interior Decoration under the direction of Miss Hancock. This project is proving to be a successful one as it broadens the students' knowledge in such subjects as arrangement of flowers, lights and furniture.

The Seniors are planning to make as their last project some article that will make their home more attractive and homelike. They are choosing this from the following articles: pillows, silhouettes, scarfs, and hand-painting.

All of the projects, when finished, will be on exhibition and the class hopes that all will be appreciated.

The year 1929 has come with its golden opportunities.

It is with regret that we look back over the year that has passed and think of our mistakes and failures. But instead of grieving over the past we should rejoice in the fact that a clean sheet is before us, the record of a new year begun. And so we will use our mistakes and failures of the past year as stepping stones to greater success in the year that is before us.

But all has not been mistakes or failure. As we go back in our minds over the record of the last year there are some worth while accomplishments that we feel are the results of our very best efforts. Many things have been done, which prove to us that the past year has been profitably spent.

Some has said, "Hats off to the past! Coats off to the future!" We would do well to adopt these words for our motto. Looking backward, while there will be some regrets, we will be glad for what we have accomplished. Facing the future we will strive with all that is in us to do greater things. We will work hard to make the New Year the very best that we have ever had. A whole year full of opportunities is before us. Why not make the most them?

EXAMINATIONS

Well, examinations are over and we have either come up to our expectations and high standards or fallen below. Far too many of us, I am afraid, have fallen below. If we have, then whose fault is it but ours? We alone determine whether we pass or utterly fail.

We cannot cram at the last minute, hoping to get by. In examinations the real work is revealed, whether or not we have the right foundation.

Examinations test our ability to think clearly and quickly, as well as testing facts we have gained. They are disagreeable to nearly all of us, but we cannot go through life without having some disagreeable things. As Longfellow says, "Into each life, some rain must fall; Some days must be dark and dreary."

There is no need to say anything about the cheater. We all know cheating is dishonest and that it is far better to get a D honestly than an A by dishonest methods.

Let us resolve, as we are starting a new semester, to study conscientiously and thereby lessen the dread of examinations as well as increase our grades.

HIGH SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

Of what value are school days? Does a pupil gain anything or lose anything when he misses a day of school? Does the average high school boy or girl realize the value of just one school day? No, he does not stop to consider the effort of his parents to send him to school. He does not know that when he is absent from school he is lowering its standard.

Why not consider these facts in our own school? Why not make it our duty to attend Snow Hill High School just as regularly as possible.

It is true that we have won the attendance banner in our school for the last two months and that we have raised our standard of attendance; but why stop now? It is not the winning of the banner that should bring us pride, but it is the interest we have in the attendance of our school.

We can attend school regularly in every case except in that of sickness. Our parents would not keep us from school, no matter how badly they needed us, if they knew that we were eager to attend school and to make the most of our high school education.

From now on through our high school career, let us do everything in our power to make the best of our days.

HONOR ROLL

The following students have made a grade of not less than B in each subject during the month of December:

Seniors: Carson Chandler, Mary Harris, Eunice Helm, Eleanor Johnson, Bessie Nock, Virginia Riley, Leanord Timmons, Mildred West.

Juniors: Mathilde Dryden, Margaret White.

Sophomores: Julia Conaway, Helen Harris, Esther Robins, Elizabeth Warner.

Freshmen: James Dryden, Clarence Evans, Cynthia Hales, Clay Mumford, Paul Scarborough, Kenneth Mason, Ellen Payne.

The following students have been on the Honor Roll the entire semester: Carson Chandler, Eleanor Johnson, Bessie Nock, Virginia Riley, Margaret White, Esther Robins, Julia Conaway and Cynthia Hales.

These students deserve to be congratulated, for the quality of their work has been excellent.

BEAR CUB OR WHAT?

—o—

Four wheels, but no brakes—that was the case of the Seniors on the morning of December 21. At the ringing of the bell, they breezed into the room, faces aglow with excitement. What was up? Why was everyone so excited? There must be some surprise!

Whoopee! What a pretty tree. Yes, it was a beauty, but best of all it was loaded with gifts for every member of the class.

Slam! Bang! A big box arrived for Miss Riches. It had come clear from Clam St., Oyster, Oregon. "Perishable, handle with care." What could it be?

"Suppose it's a Bear Cub!" broke in Miss Riches. At this everyone edged away from the box. It was some sort of an animal, and it might bite.

"But am I to open it?" asked our teacher, with a worried look. The nails were soon withdrawn from the lid, and everyone came nearer to see the contents of the box. Encircled with straw, glass and paper lay a somewhat smaller box, that, when opened revealed another one. After opening about fifteen such boxes our teacher came to a small, flat white one.

"This must be the last," she said, as she sighed with relief. Well, what a disappointment! It couldn't be a Bear Cub, now. Yet what was it? "I thank you all," said Miss Riches, as she held a shining five-dollar gold piece in her hands.

Hush! Santa had just arrived. Every little Senior sat quietly with arms folded.

"Well, boys and girls, I suppose you all have been good children," began Santa. Everyone nodded with approval. He then distributed the gifts, and they were nice ones indeed. Imagine Eleanor Johnson receiving a beautiful diamond ring tied to a stick of gum! Worse still, Catherine Dickerson was presented with a milk wagon like those of the Snow Hill Cooling Station, and Tootsie Jones with a beautiful Ford Coupe. Well, that was enough to set anyone guessing.

Then forming a line, the Seniors marched through the hall singing Christmas Carols. Thus, the excitement ended and everyone returned to his room to begin the day's work.

SNOW HILL, MD.

Everett Townsend '28 has not been able to return to Beacom's Business College on account of a broken leg, received while playing Soccer in the late fall.

Miss Hermione Riches spent the holidays with her family in Baltimore, and Miss Gertrude Little in Vandergrift, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Arthur Humphreys, Jr., has been substituting in Manuel Training for Mr. Kelly, who has been ill.

Lillian Pusey '29 visited her parents in Selbyville during the holidays.

Miss Elizabeth Richardson and Miss Hermione Riches have been absent a few days from school on account of illness.

Anne Purnell spent a few days of the holidays with her sister, Mrs. Thomas H. Dell in Annapolis.

On Christmas Eve the Glee Club assembled at the Court house, and went around the town singing Christmas carols.

Miss Grace Jones and Anna Jones spent a few days during the Christmas recess with their sister, Mrs. Charles Jones, in Salisbury.

When school started after the holidays, a number of last year's graduates came to visit us. We are glad they are still interested in dear old S. H. S.

Mr. Bromley, with a party of others, spent a week during Christmas gunning on Mills' Island.

Among the students who spent the holidays at their homes are the following: Marian Humphreys and Louis Tuckerman, of Western Maryland College; Louise Duer, Ruth Riley and Julia Evans, of Maryland State Normal School, Towson; Virginia Dryden, and Nellie Cherrix of Salisbury Normal School; William Sherkey of Temple University; Franklin Powell of Wesleyan Collegiate Institute; Everett Townsend and Ethel Webb, Beacom's Business College; Martha Bailey of Goldey Business College; Eva Truitt of Strayer, Bryon Stratton, Baltimore, Maryland.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Jones spent Christmas vacation at the home of Mr. Jones' parents in Delta, Pennsylvania and in Baltimore.

Hance Fooks was absent a few days from school on account of an attack of the "flu."

Viola Davis, '30, entertained a number of young people at a taffy pull at her home on January 1, 1929. Everybody had a good time pulling the taffy and eating it.

Louise Conner, a student in the Freshman Class, visited Mrs. Benuller of Westminster, Maryland, during the holidays.

Jesse Maddock, Willis Hancock, Virginia Johnson, Almeda Jones and Eveylin West have been on the sick list of the Freshman class during this month.

Mary Brown and Isabelle Johnson spent a week-end recently visiting Mrs. Z. H. Duffy in Salisbury.

On the Friday before the holidays, every Academic Senior received a present off the Christmas tree, delivered by Santa Claus, who was impersonated by "Jim" Moore. Carols were sung through the halls and the Christmas spirit shown very plainly in the Senior room, as well as the others. The Commercial Seniors also had a "tree" and received presents.

On Tuesday evening, January 1, 1929, Virginia Riley, '29 gave a theater party in honor of the Senior Home Room. Everyone assembled at her home promptly at 7:45. Then we went to the theater to see "Beau Broadway" Three rows were reserved, and everyone sat together. After enjoying the pictures, we went to Virginia's home to find Miss Riches, our teacher, who had just returned from Baltimore. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing, games and songs. The whole Senior room joins in thanking Virginia for the splendid party and entertainment she gave us.

Due to the "flu" epidemic all evening club meetings have been postponed until later dates.

John Scott, '29 has been absent from school during this month on account of illness.

Miss Freda Waddington, of Temple University, who was our last year's Commercial teacher, visited in Snow Hill during the holidays.

William Bradley, '29 spent some time with William Sherkey, during vacation.

Among those who have been ill in the Junior Room are: Joyce Strickland, Lois Mason, Ada Carter, Alma Martin, Ruby Keister and Page Martin.

EXCHANGES

The Soaring Eagle—Your editorial on the importance of obedience was very well written and it must have been helpful.

The Parrot—Your ideas on commenting upon exchanges in such a humorous way is very clever.

Belfry Bat—We like the appearance of your paper immensely.

The Vermilion Star—Although your exchange was one of last year's we feel that if it is as well organized this year, it will prove successful.

The Courant—You made a very interesting item by telling something of each of your Field Ball players.

The B. H. S. Broadcaster—As a beginner, your paper is a success. We sincerely hope that it will improve in each issue and that it may be looked upon as a pride to your school.

SIXTH GRADE HONOR ROLL

The honor roll students in the sixth grade for December were: Wallace Marshall, Avery Truitt, Willard Stevens, David Bradford, Edith Chandler, Graham Carmean, Jarrell Simmons, Esther Wilson, Jean Nock, Lillian Riley, Betty Ann Purnell and Miriam Parks.

TESTS GIVEN IN GRADES

On January 10 Miss Elizabeth Mundy, County Supervisor, gave the fifth and seventh grades a test in geography and history which was a preparation for the state-wide tests to be given at the end of the year and results of which will be used for comparison throughout the county to see which grade ranks the highest. It is also the final midyear examination in these subjects.

The highest possible score in both geography and history for all grades is 50. In the fifth grade geography Marvel Gordy and Louise Collins ranked highest with a score of 41. In history Albert Conoway stood highest with 45. The fifth grade median is 35.5 for geography and 35 for history.

The sixth grade high pupils was Willard Stevens, whose score of 37 was above the median of 24.5 for history and 28.5 for geography.

ORCHESTRA

Although we have had many hindrances in the Orchestra we are progressing very well.

We are looking forward with much interest to a joint recital which is to be given by the Orchestra and Glee Club and we hope the members will be more attentive as we wish to make our next appearance the best ever.
