CLASS PROPHECY

BY GEORGE H. CORDDRY, JR.

In Vienna, there are many Gypsies who have a camp outside of the city. In my wanderings while in that country, I roamed along the Romany trail and before I knew it I was near that camp. The scenery was most romantic, and what seemed to be in the center of all, was a beautiful pool of bubbling water.

I started to go over to this pool and sit on the stones bordering the spot, when I noticed clouds rising from it. Being curious, I inquired from an old Gypsy, the meaning of this peculiar sight. She answered, "That you see is the Mystical Pool, on the surface of which the forms of never-to-be-forgotten friends are seen."

She also told me what to say to clear away the clouds and reveal the faces. I repeated these words beside the pool, asking that I might see all the graduates of '28 of S. H. H. S.

As the clouds clear and the water becomes calm I can make out the face of one who was once my comrade. He is Louis Tuckerman, now a venerable judge of the Supreme Court, reaping the benefits of his training as President of the Student Council. In the courtroom I also observe Miss Hazel Holston, a very distinguished lawyer, presenting the case.

The scene shifts to the Metropolitan Opera House. On the bill are the famous musicians, Sally Hughes, and the company's leading prima donna, Margie Truitt.

On the screen of a large Movie House next door, I see Julia Evans' face flashed. Who is that flaming toe-dancer in the Vaudeville? Yes, that is Marian Humphreys, who was editor-in-chief of "The Representative," back in my high school days.

A few blocks away I see the sign "Hand-em-out" (Ralph) Harris and "Tony" Maroni will fight for the heavy-weight title in a ten-round battle tonight," while in a magnificent church across the way Margaret White is preaching on the evils of movies and prize-fighting.

In another large establishment James Sturgis practices pharmacy and William Sherkey receives his many patients. Their assistants are Blanche Barnes, Mary Cash, Nellie Cherrix, and Elma Bradford. Lulu Smullen is their secretary.

Franklin Powell is now seen as president of a large National Bank. Employed by him are Martha Bailey and Irma Hales.

As the scene changes, I see a young lady walking out of a splendid beauty parlor. She is Louise Duer who has been widely successful as Interior Decorator. The owner and manager of the beauty parlor is Miss Eva Truitt.

An aeroplane is flying among the clouds and when it lands, I recognize two young ladies, Ruth Riley and Virginia Dryden. They are expert aviatrices, having accomplished many daring feats.

Next I see a baseball game. One of the most spectacular players is Everett Townsend, who used to play on our old high school baseball team and is now captain of a big league team.

The waters next show me a study where Melvin Palmer, a celebrated writer, is pouring over his latest poem; now, two college professors: Pauline Jackson, teaching French, and Winnie Holston, teaching arithmetic.

Several of my former classmates have set sail on the sea of matrimony as the pool presently reveals to me. I see India Phillips ?, Ethel Webb ?, Ethel Conoway ?, and Elma Hancock ?. All of these keep their husbands contented with the food they learned how to prepare in the Home Economics Department.

I thanked the old Gypsy and returned to the United States Embassy, which is my home, much happier than I was before.

HISTORY OF CLASS

By M. VIRGINIA DRYDEN

As the September sun threw its bright rays upon the Primary School at the beginning of the school year of 1917, seven, sweet, bashful, little children accompanied by either mother or father came to school to begin their education. These tiny tots, who have been through school life together for the past eleven years, were no other than George H. Corddry, Jr., Louise W. Duer, M. Virginia Dryden, Julia E. Evans, India A. Phillips, William P. Sherkey and James T. Sturgis.

From under the direction of Miss Margaret Mitchell, our first grade teacher, we, the next September, with heads erect, started our second year's work with Miss Mable Dunlap (now Mrs. Charles Hudson) as our dear teacher. We always smiled upon the beginners while they waited for us, "their upper classmen," to march out at recess periods and at dismissal hour. How big we felt! They to us were mere "babies." This year no one joined our class.

We'll always remember the wonderful flowers Mrs. May Powell, our third teacher, brought to decorate the school room; with the flowers came a friend and classmate, Martha A. Bailey.

Eva M. Truitt and Margie E. Truitt joined our class in the fourth grade. These girls, as well as all the others, enjoyed furnishing and playing with the doll house. Our spelling matches and "cutting up and down" recitations linger in our memories. How glad we were to receive our first certificate, for we had now completed four years of work!

From Miss Lillie Heward, our fourth grade teacher, we marched joyously one behind the other from the Primary School to the longed-for High School Building. Miss Elizabeth Richardson greeted us at the front door, and took us to the fifth grade room. Frequently during that term she reminded us that we were older now and should act as boys and girls.

On our sixth return to school, we were introduced to Irma F. Hales, Elma S. Hancock, Marian E. Humphreys and Louis E. Tuckerman, who in a short time seemed like old acquaintances. Miss Willie Shockley (now Mrs. Alfred Jones) for one hour each morning would read to us, "Huckleberry Finn," "Billy Whiskers" and "Bobsie Twin" books. These stories remain with us yet, for every one gave her his undivided attention.

When September 1923 arrived, Miss Ethel Jones (now Mrs. Randolph Mount) came in for us to go with her across the hall into the seventh grade. Here several of our boys and girls began sending notes to each other. These folded slips of paper went from "Tin Can Alley" to "Chewing Gum Street; then to "Gossip Ave.," and across to "Dixon's Alley" (these being the names we gave to the different aisles in the room). Maybe the reason for so much class mail was due to the fact that this year we added to our group five of Newark's future citizens; namely, Elma L. Bradford, Melvin L. Palmer, Franklin B. Powell, Ethel Webb and Ruth M. Riley. After Easter we studied very hard to pass the next fall into High School. On May 30 we were the happy performers of an operetta, "Crowning the May Queen," and then we all smiled politely, when Mr. A. C. Humphreys, awarded us our seventh grade certificates.

With dignified countenances we followed Mr. Simmons up the steps to make our first stride in our four years' journey. But, who were these "bashful" girls in Miss Julia Bratten's room gazing upon us as we filed in? We soon found them, not "bashful" but "bold" for they were Nellie V. Cherrix, Ethel M. Conoway, Pauline E. Jackson, Hazel T. Holston, Winnie N. Holston, and Lulu M. Smullen. Imagine Winnie bashful! This year marked the beginning of a Student Council in our school, with Miss Emily K. Dryden (now Mrs. A. B. Boulden) as sponsor and organizer. We were the first Freshman Class to have the honor of sitting in the Student Council of Snow Hill High School.

Out of the eighth into the ninth we went. Our class roll was increased from twenty-five to twenty-eight, the new members being Mary E. Cash, Margaret S. White and Everette C. Townsend. Our home room teacher was Miss Leah G. Collins (now Mrs. B. T. Truitt, Jr.) This year the Dramatic Club was organized and before the end of this school term, this club had accepted five members of our class into its midst.

We plunged onward, and with great success in 1926 we became "Jolly" Juniors with Mr. Harold Scarborough as Academic Home Room teacher and Miss Freda Waddington, Commercial Home Room Teacher. Ralph Harris was the only one to enter our class this year. With much tact we assumed greater responsibilities. The Junior-Senior Banquet will live in our memories forever.

Ever "jolly" we became "dignified" Seniors in September 1927. Miss M. Lillian Riley, our home room teacher

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

During our four years of high school, it seems we have always had something to look forward to socially. In the Freshman and Sophomore years there were the usual Halloween, St. Valentine, and St. Patrick parties, but there was within every one of us that everlasting dream and desire for the time to come when we would be Juniors. And why? Because that year we would be allowed to entertain the Seniors at a Junior-Senior banquet. Finally the time came. After call meetings and regular meetings of the class, it was decided that May 6 was to be the biggest and most eventful day in the Junior school calendar.

The class colors of the Seniors of '27 were crimson and gold, and to the best of our ability and under the leadership of Mrs. Gordon S. Patton, better known to us as "Miss Whaley," we decorated the Assembly Hall with those colors. To add to the attractiveness of the room, three May poles were erected in the center of the room.

The invited guests included the seniors, the faculty and the Board of Education. Miss Evelyn Shockley, Mr. O. W. Wilson, and Mr. John Lynch, of Ocean City, furnished us excellent dance music, which was enjoyed by all.

About eleven o'clock the guests were invited to Miss Riley's room where an attractive supper was served on card tables. The mascot of the class was the "owl," and every table was beautifully decorated with an artistic owl used as a center piece. Favors in the form of red roses, their class flower, served also as place cards. The menu consisted of: chicken salad, bread and butter sandwiches made to represent diplomas, tied with crimson and gold ribbon, pickles, coffee, and mints.

GEORGE WASHINGTON TEA

In our senior year we looked forward to the month of February, when the seniors gave a George Washington Tea to the faculty, Superintendent, Trustees, and Board of Education.

Amid appropriate red, white and blue decorations and the soft strains of patriotic airs the guests assembled at 4 o'clock. It was a pleasure indeed for us to entertain these people with whom we have been associated, some directly and others indirectly for eleven years.

Washington Excursion

April 21 and the Senior excursion to Washington! It was Saturday night at 10:45 and twenty Seniors met at the station. "No sleep to-night!" yelled Bunny Tuckerman, and he had his way.

We arrived in Washington at 6:30 Sunday morning and were met by a representative of the Gray Motor Bus Co. who escorted us to a handsome gray chair bus. From the station we went to the Plaza hotel and refreshed ourselves and breakfasted.

Then we began our sight-seeing trip through the residential section of the city, as well as through the zoological gardens at Rock Creek, Georgetown, Fort Meyer, and on to Arlington, returning to the city by an entirely different route. In the afternoon we visited Lincoln Memorial, Washington Monument, Smithsonian Institute, New Museum, and the Library of Congress. We weren't so sorry to see Union Station after this eventful day, for by this time we were feeling like "broken down sports." Soon we were rested; everyone in our party brightened up and our return trip was just as enjoyable as anything we had done.

M. E. Church Party

On Tuesday evening, May 15, the Sunday School Board of Whatcoat M. E. Church entertained in honor of the members of our class who are affiliated with this church, inviting as their guests the entire class, faculty, and the Lo-Se-Sa Club. Beautiful cut flowers furnished the decorations, and a most attractive musical program was presented, followed by enjoyable stunts and games.

Refreshments were served about eleven o'clock and after several familiar songs were sung, the evening's entertainment closed by every one singing "America the Beautiful."

It was an evening very pleasantly spent and the class wishes to express its appreciation to the church for extending the kind invitation.

JUNIOR - SENIOR
BANQUET OF 1928

Friday evening, May 18, will long be remembered by the class of '28. The Juniors entertained the Seniors at the annual Junior-Senior banquet, it this year being held at Price's Hall.

The hall was attractively decorated in blue and silver crepe paper, the Senior class colors, the white rose, with pine and flowers banked against the wall. The motto of the Seniors is "Tonight We Launch; Where Shall We Anchor," and this idea was carried out in the decorations. A large ship formed the centerpiece of the long banquet table and the individual favors were in the form of ships. The Alas! the eleventh hour, the time to say "Good-bye! Our heart strings tremble with the utterance of that word. Good-bye? Yes, but not forever. We'll come back to see the old school house standing all alone on the corner. We'll come back to join the laughter in the halls. We'll come back to yell our beloved "Maroon and Black" once again.

Goodbye old gang of ours. You're forever first in our hearts. Though the miles may be far between, a strong hand of friendship reaches out to govern and guide us.

"Goodbye Forever Sweethearts and Pals"—No! How foolish! It's not forever! During the Thanksgiving holidays many Seniors of '28 will return with thankful hearts to see the smiling faces in S. H. H. S.

The last year has flown; never has a year seemed more precious. What have we left undone? Why haven't we made better use of our time? Let us be your example, fellow-students. Although we've lived up to the school's standards, cheered through hard struggles, fought to win and worked to save an overwhelming desire to live over the year, to do still better is born in us. Make the best use of your time. Yes, we had that told us, too. If only we had understood, who knows what we might have done?

"No more pencils, no more books
 No more sassy teacher's looks!
 No more English, no more French
 No more sitting on a hard wood-bench
 Rattle on the tin pan, shimmy up a tree

Ole school teacher, Tee! Hee! Hee!"

Thus we have been singing for the past few years as we left the school on the last day. Now as our eyes fill with tears, the tune turns into long-ing strains of:

"No more pencils, no more books
 No more dear old teachers' looks!
 No more English, no more French
 No more sitting on the familiar bench!

Rattle on the tin pan, shimmy up a tree
 Dear old school days come back to me!"

In a few short weeks Commencement time will come—commencement just commenced."

Let this be advice to the fellows who'll take our place. Never give up the banner! Never disgrace the Maroon and Black! Work with thoughts of S. H. H. S. uppermost in your minds. Boost our school.

A thrill runs and ripples through our veins warming our bodies as we hear, loud and long, echoed in our souls:

Maroon and Black! Maroon and Black!
 These are the colors we will back
 Siss! Boom! Bah! Siss! Boom! Bah!
 Snow Hill High School
 Rah! Rah! Rah!

STUDENT COUNCIL

At the beginning of this school year, when the members of the Student Council were elected and assembled, every one remembered the high standards that had been set by councils of former years. Since the first council was organized in 1924, the work each successive year has grown more effective, and more far reaching influences have been felt.

Therefore, when the various representatives took their places and started this year's work they realized fully the extent and importance of the tasks they must accomplish to equal, to say nothing of surpassing the former records.

The Student Council of 1927-1928 seems to have really fulfilled all hopes and expectations; it has come up to all standards expected of them; it has completed all projects undertaken in a quick and satisfactory way; in fact, it has made an enviable record and a lasting impression.

The largest and most important project of the year was the Athletic Dues contest, presented for one month by the council. No work, project or event of the school year has equalled this one in showing just how much the school really appreciates the work of the council. Many other projects have been undertaken which we will not mention, but it may be said with considerable certainty that this one will be remembered as that which brought the school and council together in enjoyable harmony.

Of course it was absolutely necessary to bring in a few pupils to inquire why they had done wrong in some matter. A great majority realized their mistakes and took their punishment so willingly that they became even more endeared in the hearts of those sitting in council.

The Student Council takes this splendid opportunity, in remembrance of the good spirit and cooperation which the school has manifested throughout its term, to thank each and everyone of dear old S. H. H. S. for his loyal support and hearty cooperation.

DRAMATIC CLUB

The Dramatic Club of Snow Hill High School started the year of 1927-

28 resolved to make it the most successful year the Club has ever known.

We chose as our officers William Sherkey, president; Louise Duer, vice-president; Margaret White, secretary; and Lois Mason, treasurer.

After getting fairly well started on the year's work, the first thing of importance that was brought before the club was a play to be given just previous to the Christmas holidays. After Miss Riley had coached us quite a bit, the play which was entitled "Christmas in Finnegans' Flats" was successfully staged.

Due to certain physical conditions in our school, we had to move the typewriters in the Commercial Department everytime we wished to practice. In so doing, an unfortunate accident occurred when one of the typewriters was broken.

Not having enough money in the treasury to make necessary repairs the Dramatic Club put on a "bake". We made more from this bake than we had expected, more than enough to pay for the broken typewriter.

At a later meeting it was suggested that the Dramatic Club give a party to the honorary members who would be home during the Easter holidays. The plans were readily begun and Marian Humphreys was put in charge of the whole affair. The party proved very delightful to everyone.

The Club sponsored the sale of tickets for both the Snow Hill Declamation contest and for the Worcester County Contest.

Besides the above-mentioned activities, we have held some very interesting evening meetings at which time an educational program was the main feature. In this way we have learned many interesting and important things about English and American authors.

We have admitted many new members to the Club this year and under the guidance of Miss Riley, our sponsor, we feel that we have made it a most successful, if not the most successful year for the Dramatic Club of Snow Hill High School.

THE FRENCH CLUB

One of the many interesting extra-curricular activities of our school is the French Club. This club was organized by Miss Hayman, our French instructor, and it has proved very successful.

During the year students have rendered interesting selections to gain admittance to the club. The membership has increased from 12 to 18 active members. This shows the progress of the club, and the interest of the students.

An amendment has been made to the constitution making eligible for membership all students of the third year French Class with an average of "A".

The French Club selected for their second semester project the exchange of letters with pupils in France.

The evening meetings have been interesting as well as instructive. The members have received several new ideas concerning the French people and their customs.

On Wednesday evening, May 30, the club entertained at a "farewell party" all other clubs of the school. A most enjoyable evening was spent.

The officers of the club for 1927-28 are: president, George H. Corddry, Jr.; vice president, Julia Evans; secretary, Pauline E. Jackson; treasurer, Sally V. Hughes.

Although the French Club will lose several of its members by graduation, we hope to see it continued throughout the coming years.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club of Snow Hill High School is practically a new organization. Our Science teacher, Mr. Wilbur A. Jones, is its adviser. The club was organized the first of the year of 1928. The membership has increased from sixteen to twenty-six. The club has shown evidence of having created among the students widespread interest and enthusiasm in science.

Some Juniors having an average of B in General Science, Biology and Physics, seeking admittance to membership in the club, have written or read some very interesting papers, while others have made inspiring talks on scientific topics of the day.

At our last meeting Mrs. T. M. Dell, Jr., of Annapolis, gave us an educational lecture entitled "The Characteristics of China."

The officers of the club of 1927-28 are chief chemist, James Sturgis; assistant chemist, Louise Duer; scribe, Franklin Powell; treasurer, Ruth Riley.

The organization regrettably loses sixteen members by the June graduation. The Club extends to those members a very cordial invitation to all future club meetings.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club was reorganized this year under the leadership of Miss Bessie Hayman. Because of the fact that we had no music teacher in '26, we necessarily had no Glee Club.

At the beginning of this year, we had twenty-six in our Glee Club. Marian Humphreys was chosen president, and Julia Evans, vice-president. Esther Tatman was unanimously selected pianist. At present, our number has increased to thirty.

On December 22 when the Dramatic Club staged a one-act Christmas play, the club appeared several times, adding to the already attractive program, many beautiful Christmas carols. Also the club sang the same carols Christmas Eve on the streets of Snow Hill. Like the orchestra, the Glee Club furnished selections for both the preliminary and county dec-lamation contests, as well as for commencement.

The school appreciates the efforts of the club and its director as it has been a real help to the entire school.

ORCHESTRA

Shortly before Christmas the Violin Class and a few members of the Band joined to form an orchestra which was to be directed by Mr. Otho W. Wilson. It progressed rapidly and on December 22 it made its first formal appearance when it rendered a few simple selections before an audience of a hundred or more. Twice since, it has creditably rendered many selections before large audiences, and will furnish the greater part of the music for Class Night and Commencement.

Upon behalf of the school, The Representative takes great pleasure in offering sincere congratulations to the members of this organization and its leader, Mr. Wilson, for the very effective work it has accomplished.

CLASS HISTORY

and English instructor introduced Blanche M. Barnes and Sally V. Hughes to the class, thus our class roll now numbered thirty-one. In our Senior year, we, the class of 1928, were the charter members of a French Club, "Les Hiboux Francais" and a Science Club, under the supervision of Miss Bessie Stagg Hayman, and Mr. Wilbur A. Jones, respectively. On Wednesday evening a delightful comedy "The Charm School," our class play, and amid American Beauty roses and silver and blue, on June 1, we will come to the realization of our dreams when we will be awarded our diplomas. From year to year we have stood together, but on this night we launch, where shall we anchor?

FIELD BALL

The Field Ball season of '27 was very successful in spite of the fact we lost the county championship to Berlin. The team played hard and "fought to win" in every encounter, yet on two occasions at the end of the game we found ourselves losers. Had this not occurred but once, we would have tied with Berlin, but having been defeated twice we had to surrender the championship.

Ruth Riley and Nellie Cherrix, who did exceptionally fine in our goal defense, Marian Humphreys, our fleet left inside forward, besides our captain Judy Evans, who played center forward will not be found in the line-up next September, because of graduation.

Of the six games played, our team won four, losing twice to Berlin.

Although Harriet Grey and Virginia Prettyman each played only one quarter of one game, we feel very grateful to them as worthy "subs" as well as to the following who went out to the athletic field each day to give the team practice; Mildred West, Anna Larson, Vera Jones, Sally Hughes, Lillian Pusey, Nellie Hearth-way, Wilson Hudson and Elizabeth Warner.

MEMORIES OF SOCCER

The excitement and interest displayed lately toward baseball bring back pleasant memories of the soccer season. To the Senior stars especially are the memories pleasant, for this was their last season to play.

At the time of the year when Soccer practice began, school had hardly started and we needed something to inspire us with school spirit and good fellowship. Consequently, as soccer gradually became a part of our regular schedule, all the students of S. H. H. S. were delighted that something had occurred which would give them an opportunity to express their love and appreciation to their school.

Those fortunate enough to be able to give the spectators the pleasure of watching some close and interesting games were: Captain Clarence Barnes, Everett Townsend, Louis Tuckerman, Hance Fooks, George Brown, Vaughn Hales, James Gray, Lester Hearthway, Charles Boothe, William Bradley, William Sherkey and Carson Chandler. These valuable players formed a strong and almost impenetrable line-up.

Out of the six games played we won one, tied two, and lost three. Yet all in all it was a very successful season.

FIELD DAY

The thirteenth annual Field and Track Meet of the public schools of Worcester County was held at Pocomoke City, Friday, April 20th. The weather conditions were extremely unfavorable for an out-door athletic event of this character, as a cold wind was sweeping across the field and rain began to fall before the conclusion of the field and track events in the afternoon.

The morning program was devoted to the girls' events, and team game tournaments. In these events Snow Hill won first place in the Hit Ball Tournament, and the Touchdown Pass Ball Tournament; and second place in the Volley Ball Tournament.

At the conclusion of the morning events Snow Hill was only a few points behind the leaders, but when the afternoon ushered in the Field and Track events, Berlin and Pocomoke took the lead with great ease, increasing it constantly as the successive events took place, and maintaining it until the end, the final scoring giving Berlin the lead with 160 points, while Pocomoke had 156 points. Snow Hill received 128 points last year and dropped this year to 93 points, a loss of 35 points.

The events which Snow Hill boys took first place in are the 70 yard dash, the running broad jump, the target pitch, and the baseball throw for distance. A few scattering second, third and fourth place points completed Snow Hill's sum total for the day.

BASEBALL

Although baseball has not been so successful as to the number of games won by Snow Hill, the season has brought forth some splendid individual work on the part of some players, and all members of the team showed very good sportsmanship in getting out, and doing their best.

Special mention should be made of our pitcher, "Dick" Barnes, who struck out 85 men during the season. "Doc" Harris led the team in batting with an average of .466. "Bill" Bradley, our receiver, gave very good support, as well as being one of the leading batters.

Because my calf became his cow;
I left my dad—'twas wrong of course,
Because my colt became his horse.
I left my dad to sow and reap
Because my lamb became his sheep;
I dropped my hoe and stuck my fork
Because my pig became his pork
The garden truck I made to grow
Was his to sell and mine to hoe.

Why Another One Didn't

With dad and me it's half and half—
The cow I own was once his calf;
No town for mine, I will not bolt,
Because my horse was once his colt;
I'm going to stick right where I am
Because my sheep was once his lamb;
I'll stay with dad—he gets my vote,
Because my hog was once his shote;
It's "fifty-fifty" with dad and me—
A profit-sharing company.

After dinner speeches were made by these people: Wilson Hudson, President of Junior Class, who served as toastmistress; Julia Evans, President of the Senior Class; Louis Tuckerman, President of Student Council; Marian Humphreys, President of Glee Club; William Sherkey, President of Dramatic Club; George Corddry, President of French Club; James Sturgis, President of Science Club; Elma Hancock, Captain of Touchdown Pass; Ruth Riley, Captain of Volley Ball; Marian Humphreys, Captain of Run and Catch Relay; Everette Townsend, Captain of Baseball; Nellie Hearshaw, Captain of Obstacle Relay; Mr. Simmons; Miss Riley; Mr. Jones; Mr. Humphreys; and Mr. Upshur.

Appropriate songs were sung by the Juniors to the Seniors.

An impromptu program followed, featuring individual stunts by Seniors and Juniors, after which dancing and games were enjoyed.

Everyone left the hall with a unanimous feeling that this banquet was the "best ever."

I never had such a tough time in my life. First I got angina pectoris, followed by arteriosclerosis.

Just as I was recovering from these I got tuberculosis, double pneumonia and phthisis. Then they gave me hypodermics.

Appendicitis was followed by a tonsilotomy. I don't know how I pulled through it. It was the hardest spelling test I've ever seen.

Back that afternoon came the answer. "Dere Teacher: If Bobby is playing truant he didn't lern it at home. We are church peepul and hain't got a card in our home."

LINGER-A-WHILE

How Some Get to Heaven

"Mamma," said little Elsie, "do men ever go to heaven?"

"Why, of course, dearie; what makes you ask that?"

"Cause, mamma, I never see any pictures of angels with whiskers."

"Well," answered her mother thoughtfully, "some men go to heaven, but they get there by a close shave, dear."

"Why are you scratching yourself, Doris?"

"Cos I'm the only one that knows where I itch."

—The Humorist (London).

Hands Up

"The time will come," shouted the speaker, "when women will get men's wages."

"Yes," said a little man in the corner. "Next Saturday night."

—Good Hardware

Eva: 'Esther, did you sweep under the rug?

Esther: "You bet! I swept everything under the rug."

"Isn't it strange, Launcelot, that this beautiful garden should smell of ham?"

"You must remember, Guinevere, that we are in the Sandwich Islands."

Real Thrift

An old Irish woman sent a parcel to her son, in which she enclosed the following note:

"Pat, I am sending your waistcoat;
to save weight I have cut off all the buttons. Your loving mother.

P. S.—"You will find them in the top pocket."
