

THE REPRESENTATIVE

GRADUATION NUMBER

1929

We, the staff of The Representative, in behalf of the faculty and student body of Snow Hill High School, lovingly dedicate this graduation number to the memory of two Senior boys, William Bradley and Marshall Johnson, who met a tragic death on May 21.

CLASS HISTORY

The history of our Senior Class of 1929 took its beginning in 1918. On the sunshiny morning of September 3, ten frolicking little kids (Louise Haddock, Mildred West, Nellie Hearthway, Hance Fooks, James Moore, Wilma Jones, Paul Hales, Leonard Timmons, Ralph Watson and Mary Harris) were escorted to school by their respective parents. They were entered in the first grade, which was taught by Miss Bessie Riley. In the middle of our first year we lost, as a teacher, Miss Riley, who was replaced by Miss Margaret Truitt. In the second grade Alberta Littleton joined our little class which was then instructed by Miss Mabel Dunlap. No one entered our class in the third grade; here we had little excitement, although Miss Nan Brimer, our teacher, had a hard job trying to keep us quiet and was often forced to talk with her hand. Only one more grade kept us from departing from the school—That was the Fourth. We were now met by Miss Lillie Heward who had charge of the fourth grade. Only a short time elapsed before a little girl was brought in by her father. It was none other than Esther Tatman, one of the most popular girls of our class. Fighting and shooting spitballs was a great hobby among the boys until one of the boys struck the teacher. After that all were glad to cut out such boyish pranks. Next year the greatest accomplishment of all our life occurred. We passed from the little school to the elementary grades where Miss Elizabeth Richardson was waiting for us. We were told that by this time our childish acts should cease and that we were supposed to be young ladies and young gentlemen. Virginia Riley, the "Old Home Prize" winner and one of our most brilliant students, entered our class at this time.

It seemed only a short while before we had passed through the fifth grade and also through the sixth grade enlarging our number with Carson Chandler, Catherine Pusey, Lester Taylor, Lacey Taylor and James Grey, to eighteen. While in the seventh grade under Miss Ethel Jones, the Newark bus came to Snow Hill bringing with it William Bradley, Iva Tull, Carrie Marshall, Grace Bradford and Marshall Johnson. These new members have been of the greatest worth to our class and we have enjoyed their association to the utmost. One morning as we were sitting quietly at our desks, a thump was heard at the door and thus our acquaintance with George Brown began. George was a very shy boy at first but it was not long before he with his winning ways became a great asset to the class.

On the memorable night of May 29, 1925, we were handed our diplomas which designated that we had successfully passed seven grades and were now ready to enter high school!

When school began again we were Freshmen. Wilson Hudson, John Gordy, Bessie Nock, Lola Godfrey, Raymond Smack, Grace Shockley, Sue Jones, Eleanor Johnson and Catherine Dickerson increased our number to thirty-four. We now had a large class and one that the school was proud of. It went through with flying colors. We became Sophomores with Ruth Beauchamp who joined us at the first of the year.

Very little happened that year and we were Jolly Juniors before we realized it. Lillian Pusey and Eunice Helm, our class President, met us here. Without these two smiling girls our class would hardly seem complete. In the latter part of the year Raymond Smack better known as "Sam" was chosen by the school to pilot the Student Council during the next year. On May 17, our class gave the best Junior-Senior banquet which had been witnessed up to that time and thus the Seniors, our closest companions in school, left. This year we became Seniors. It is certain that our Senior year has been a great success. We have worked hard and the result has been acknowledged. We have edited the best "Representative" yet. The Student Council has rapidly progressed and a better feeling has never existed than that between the Seniors and the Faculty this year; but our high school days are at an end, the time has come when we shall part forever.

May our aims be high and as we take up our life work let us remember that what we put in anything that also shall we get out.

Whoopee! the year 1939, the golden age of television! Just think of the change in ten years. I wonder what my old classmates are doing now. Are they day-dreaming as I am?

passed a Packard Taxi Aeroplane on the wrong side; the traffic cop is blowing his whistle! Oh, what a life!

Home at last, but as blue as ever; I shall try my Radio. Maybe some comfort will come from it.

"This is station P. I. P., New York City." I am settling down for a good hour or so of enjoyment.

The broadcaster's picture has come at last. How funny he seems! He has reddish hair and is dressed in a green tweed suit, the latest hit of the season.

My, but somehow he seems familiar. Heavens above! It is really Ben Johnson and he is the man who has written my favorite book, "How to Speak English Correctly."

"The world's famous movie producer will now demonstrate to his chorus girls the latest hit from Broadway. Even though he tips the scales at 450, he seems to have the step more correctly than do the chorus girls," the broadcaster is saying.

I can hardly refrain from laughing at the big fellow. Indeed it is all quite comical. Is it possible? Yes—yes, it is actually Sam Smack and his leading girl is Tootsie Jones. The same old Toots, now the star toe dancer of New York.

"Everyone is now interested in the new department of the Presidential Cabinet. Many are even more interested to know that this position, the Secretary of Dairy Produce has been filled by a woman, Catherine Dickerson—" I did not catch the last name. I am wondering how she has risen to this high position, yet I must remember that since a young girl in high school she was interested in such.

"The newly elected President of Mexico and his wife have just arrived in New York accompanied by their body guard."

Well, I thought I had seen wonders in the last ten years, but this picture beats all! Lacey Taylor is President of Mexico and his wife is none other than Ruth Beauchamp. When asked to talk she states that her motto is "Laugh and grow fat." Their body guard is "Poke" Timmons. His wife, Grace Shockley, is also present.

The greatest artist and artist's model of the day are now being introduced. They prove to be Alberta Littleton the model, and Jim Moore the painter.

The song bird of station P. I. P. is now singing a solo; this stylish young lady proves to be Iva Tull.

The next number is a talk by three of the greatest Mathematicians of the day, Esther Tatman, William Bradley and John Gordy.

New York's tax collector is now talking on taxes, who should pay them, etc. This gentleman, who has lately had a permanent wave in both his hair and his moustache, is George Brown. Well, "Brownie" was a good Athletic Collector in High School; that accounts for his present position. It is often said that you learn a trade better when you begin early.

Sue Jones, who is now an Evangelist and who has just returned from the African Jungles, is giving a talk on "What should be done for the African." She believes Agricultural Schools should be set in the heart of the Jungles; also, that all Africans should be taught a certain amount of Mathematics and should study the Bible every day.

Ralph Watson and Lester Taylor, now Zoologists, are telling why animals are so helpful. Even the idea of rumble seats for roadsters, they state, was taken from the Kangaroo.

Eleanor Johnson, now a famous speaker, is giving a political talk. She is a Democrat and has been one since Al Smith was a candidate for President in 1928. With her she has her secretary, Carrie Marshall.

"The famous New York City Murder Case," announced the broadcaster, "has just been solved by America's outstanding detective, Mr. Carson Chandler." I always knew Carson would make use of his companionship with S. S. Van Dyne!

"The rest of the evening will be given over to a Musical Comedy," announces the broadcaster. It's just too bad I haven't heard from all my old school mates yet.

There's the door bell; the "New York Times" has arrived. I am turning to the sport page as that is the first one I read. Can it be possible Lola Godfrey has broken the World's record for women on the fifty yard dash? Her time was six seconds. Good girl! A product of S.H.H.S.—no wonder she can run.

I am reading how a young woman has obtained one of the highest degrees possible. Yes, and it is Virginia Riley, receiving her P. U. M. K. Degree. Congratulations, Ginny!

Later on I see that James Gray, who is one of the best stage hits of the day, received a broken collar bone while acting before a large audience. Poor Jim—left his rabbit's foot home!

I read that Mary Harris, known as one of the greatest Violinists of the day, will give a dance in honor of Miss Lillian Pusey, who has just returned from Paris.

Catherine Pusey who has had up and "Downs" in New York is now returning to her country home near Newark City, Maryland.

Among the winners of the national typewriting contest, I find Grace Bradford. What has happened to Nellie Hearthway, I wonder! Picking up a "Democratic Messenger" I find she is working for Collins and Son. Of course, no one will confuse this with T. H. Collins & Son.

Wilson Hudson has just returned from Egypt where she has been looking for a stone engraving made by Watson thousands of years ago. She is known as a great historian and has proved worthy of such a name by tracing this noted family back to Egyptian days.

Paul Hales now a noted scientist is the first person ever to converse with a person from Mars. His famous speech given before many other noted scientists was taken down by his secretary, Iva Pusey.

I had wondered what had happened to DeWitt Hance Fooks, yet when I see the advertisement—"Fooks and Goodman Co.," I understand his whereabouts.

Louise Haddock has long ago joined Gorman & Co. (I wonder why?)

Well, this completes the list of all my old classmates with the exception of two: Bessie Nock and Eunice Helm. I wonder where they are keeping themselves. Glancing again thru the "Messenger" I see the following:

"The Ladies' Social Club at Snow Hill had a brand new idea in parties last week. They gave a charity affair, and each of the ladies was asked to bring something she had little use for, but which was too good to be thrown away entirely.

"The idea was all right, but the party was a sad failure from the standpoint of charity. Eunice Helm and Bessie Nock brought their husbands. That was just too bad."

DRAMATIC CLUB

Through another year the Dramatic Club has been piloted by a most capable sponsor and dependable officers.

At the first meeting we chose as our president, George Brown; vice-president, Esther Tatman; secretary, Hance Fooks; corresponding secretary, James Gray; and treasurer, Esther Robins.

The Dramatic Club has supplied the school throughout the year with a reading table which contains a supply of books offering good literature to the student body. To this supply

The Staff of the class of '29 comes before the readers of the Representative for the last time. A few short months ago we started out with hopes and aspirations high, resolving to do our very best to keep our beloved school paper to the high standard our predecessors had made. The task has been a pleasant one and we are proud of the fact that we have had a part in the history of the Representative.

As we look back over the year, we see where, perhaps, we might have done better. It seems much easier to see our mistakes after we have made them than before, but we have made an honest effort to accomplish that which we started out to do.

We leave the Representative in the hands of our worthy successors and wish them a pleasant year.

And now comes the time to express in words, if possible, our last farewell. We have always looked forward to vacation time with joy not marred by sadness. It has been easy to say, "Good bye, teachers and classmates, until September." How quickly the vacation months passed, soon bringing us back to our books, looking forward to our next vacation. But when it comes to the final "good-bye," how differently we feel! We have tried, in our minds, to anticipate the sadness of this occasion, but the realization brings us greater sadness than we ever imagined. In a short time we shall no longer be connected with Snow Hill High School as pupils. Our places will be filled by others, as we pass on to deeper channels of life.

We wish we might have had the pleasure of enjoying the much talked of and much needed new school building, but we shall cherish in our memories the old school house with all its imperfections, even down to its old worn and rickety stairs; thankful that so far it hasn't fallen through with any of us and broken any of our bones.

To our class we bid a loving farewell. While circumstances may not force us very far apart, yet we shall never gather around the study table again. We used to think, as we puzzled over an unusually hard and difficult lesson, that we would be so glad when our school days were over. But now we forget we ever had such thoughts and remember only the pleasant associations we had together.

To our fellow students who will take our places, we would like to say, "We shall be interested in whatever success you may have in keeping up the school standard."

To our teachers we shall say, "We shall always cherish the tenderest recollections of every one of you. If we have misjudged or misunderstood you, we are sorry. We can see now that whatever you have done has been for our greatest good. Next to our parents you have played a most important part in the preparation we have made to take up the duties of life. We trust that we shall give you every reason to be proud of us in the coming years."

We shall all try to keep in mind our class motto, "Life is a combat, but we will strive to conquer."

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council of Snow Hill High School has accomplished several things this year that may be of interest to the readers of "The Representative."

1. It has granted permission for several parties to be held. This alone takes a responsibility from the teachers.

2. Several people have been tried for disobedience to the teachers and the Hall Police.

3. It has allowed the members of the Commercial Course and of the second year Latin class to organize a Commercial Course Club and Latin Club, respectively, under certain conditions.

4. The Council has attempted to keep the school-grounds cleaner and to improve the appearance of the class-rooms.

5. The Council has also attempted to secure a flag-pole for the school and though it has not been accomplished at the time of writing, we hope to accomplish it before the end of the school year.

6. The Council has had an attendance campaign to arouse interest in attendance.

7. It has bought some stationery for the use of the Council.

8. Since the elementary grades were behind in athletic dues the Council put on a contest in the grades. Altogether, we feel that we have accomplished a few things that may aid in the improvement of the school.

On May 1, the Seniors and Juniors, with the judges and teachers, gathered in the assembly room to select from among six candidates a person to represent Snow Hill High School in the county-wide Declamation Contest to be held in Pocomoke City, May 8.

The candidates and their selections were as follows:

Harriet Gray—"Kentucky Belle"
 Mildred West—"The Polish Boy"

DRAMATIC CLUB

of books we have added the Baltimore Sun.

The club has made three amendments to its constitution, one of which concerns members who fail twice to serve on committees without a good excuse. Those who fail to serve are forced to resign. Another deals with the absence of officers from the club without a reason. That officer who is absent once under such circumstances is also forced to resign. To raise the standard of the club another amendment has been made. No student participating in the Declamation Contest shall be allowed to enter the Dramatic Club unless he is chosen as one of the best six.

At another meeting the club decided that its number was being enlarged too rapidly; therefore, to prevent this, the standard was raised, in that the student who tries to enter the club should be carefully discussed from the standpoint of his selection and his ability to make a good member.

As yet the Dramatic Club has received but one resignation. On that occasion our secretary, due to unfortunate circumstances, was forced to resign. Mary Brown was elected to succeed our former secretary.

To conclude the year of educational and recreational meetings, the Dramatic Club gave a party on the night of Field Day. Each member was privileged to invite one person outside of the club. Every member left, feeling that he had had a most educational and pleasant year in the Dramatic Club.

FRENCH CLUB

At the first meeting of the French Club, held September 19 with only seven members, it was decided to make an effort to make this a very successful year, and it has been a successful one. An election of officers took place at the first meeting. The result was: President, Eunice Helm; vice president, Carson Chandler; secretary, Eleanor Johnson; treasurer, Wilson Hudson. Eleanor Johnson was elected to represent the club in the Student Council. Also at this meeting a plan was made to admit members of the fourth year French Class. The time for the meetings was decided on—the second Friday night and the fourth Thursday during class period. Rules for the admission of new members were made.

At the next meeting seven members of the fourth year French Class came before the club and gave a very fine program. These were: Mildred West, Esther Tatman, Hance Fooks, Raymond Smack, Grace Shockley, Alberta Littleton, Louise Haddock and James Moore. All these were admitted, increasing the number as well as advancing the club.

MEMORIES OF THE CLASS OF '29

When our class came into High School in 1925, we all went into Miss Julia's room, where we were told to go, took our seats as we chose, and waited for the teachers to look us over. We were all hoping that we could hold those seats all during our Freshman year—but no! Miss Julia and Miss Whaley soon had us divided into "A" and "B" sections. Those who took Latin were in "B" section and were seated in the Assembly Hall—Miss Whaley had charge of that room; and those who took History were in "A" section in Miss Julia's room. We were all sorry to be separated into sections because we had always been together as a whole class before, but we had to get used to it, and we've never been seated in one room since that day we were separated.

To show that there was a friendly spirit between the two sections, we started giving parties. We got our president of "B" section, Mary Harris, to ask the Student Council for a Valentine party in honor of the History Section. They consented. Every "Freshie" was excited over his first high school party. We decorated everything red, and it all looked very nice. That night everyone enjoyed himself.

We all felt very proud the next year to be called "Sophomores." The biggest event our class looked forward to in the line of social activities was a party given in honor of the Field Ball and Soccer teams. All the desks were taken out of the Assembly Hall, and great preparations were made. Everyone always looked forward to "Field Ball and Soccer" parties.

The Sophomore class usually gives a dinner to some of the faculty. Our class gave a St. Patrick's dinner to Mr. Simmons and Miss Waddington. It was given over at the White House, which was very attractively decorated.

Everyone looks forward to the Junior year. And why? Because that year we are allowed to entertain the Seniors at the Junior-Senior Banquet. It was held in Price's Hall, and the hall was attractively decorated in blue and silver crepe paper, the colors of the Senior class, and the walls were banked with pine and flowers and the white rose, their flower. Their motto—"Tonight we launch. Where shall we anchor?"—was carried out in the decorations.

In our Senior year many social events took place.

One day before school closed for Christmas vacation Virginia Riley had an important announcement to make to the Senior class. Everybody was delighted to hear the "announcement" because Virginia had invited us to a theatre party on January 1. After the "movies" we all went to Virginia's house for a little party.

On February 22 came the annual George Washington Tea. The Seniors always give the tea in honor of the Faculty and the School Board. This year it was given over at the White House. Pot flowers were scattered around, pillows were in the deep window seat and the table with the spic and span white cloth and silver made things look very "homelike." Music was given by a few Seniors. Mrs. Simmons "poured". We think all the guests thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

Later on one day James Moore invited the class down to his home at Public Landing on a Weenie Roast. After we got there and had played a few games, we spied a blazing fire. Then the fun of roasting "hot dogs" began. We all had a grand time down at Jim's and wished him many more happy birthdays—as we found out later it was his birthday.

After Field Day was over the Dramatic Club decided something ought to be done for those who worked so hard to make Field Day a success. So the Dramatic Club gave a party to the participants in the Assembly Hall on April 28.

Everyone looked forward to Friday night, May 3. It's the biggest event in the Senior year, the Junior-Senior Banquet. This year it was held in the Odd Fellow's Hall. The Juniors made very good hosts and hostesses and a longer article about it appears elsewhere in the "Rep."

On May 10 Iva Tull and Grace Bradford delightfully entertained the Senior Class at a party in the Bowen M. E. Church at Newark. The Senior Class appreciate all the parties and entertainments they have been given this year.

This article has been a summary of most of the social events of our high school life, and we hope all other classes will have just as nice a time.

FACULTY '29

The present Senior Class feels that it owes much of its success to the splendid cooperation of the faculty. We wish to extend our greatest appreciation to them for all they have done for us. It has been through them that our last four years of school have been most happy ones.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club, organized in March, 1928, is one of the most popular clubs in school. Although last year there were twenty-six members and this year twenty-four, we feel that much progress has been made. The officers for this year are:

Chief Chemist.....Mary Harris
 Assistant Chemist...Carson Chandler
 ScribeVirginia Riley
 TreasurerWilliam Bradley
 Out of the seven Juniors admitted to the club the next year's officers were elected at follows: William Townsend, President; Viola Davis, Vice-President; John Collins, Secretary; Ruby Kesiter, Treasurer and Naomi Sturgis, Assistant Treasurer.

To be admitted to the club one must be a Senior.

The club colors are black and gold and the club flower, the black-eyed susan. The insignia was chosen last year.

Evening meetings of the Science Club were held the first Fridays in the month. Among the subjects discussed were: "Hydrogen," "Cocoa," "Nitrates," "Phosphates," and "Conservation of Forests and Wild Flowers." All these programs were both interesting and instructive.

The chief feature of the year's work was a contest. Two prizes were offered by the Worcester Fertilizer Co. for the best subjects; "Keeping Fit Physically," "Communication," and "Fertilizers."

Our aim is to make the club better every year, and to those who will take our places we say, "We throw the torch; be yours to hold it high."

COMMERCIAL

The Commercial Course Club was organized in November, 1928.

It is composed of Commercial students who have an average of B in Commercial subjects. During the year the club has had five night meetings at which they had programs which were interesting and instructive and along Commercial lines. Although this is the first year of the Club we feel that we have gained a great deal of benefit from it.

This club is composed of eight members, seven of whom will graduate this year.

Some of the main features of the programs for this year are as follows:

A one-act play, in which Lena Genter applies for the position of stenographer in a children's restaurant. Because of her inability to fill the position her application was rejected.

A letter which was dictated correctly and transcribed incorrectly. The transcription was funny because

BASEBALL '29

BASEBALL

The baseball team of Snow Hill has been very successful so far this season.

The old proverb "A bad beginning is the sign of a good ending" applies to this team. Snow Hill started by losing the first two games and winning the next four.

FIELD DAY

On April 29, the fourteenth annual field meet of Worcester County was held at Berlin. The day was pretty and there was a large crowd there. The field was very muddy, causing some of the tournament to be postponed until the afternoon. Berlin won the meet, Pocomoke came second, while Snow Hill fell in third place.

Those who won first places for Snow Hill are William Townsend who led in the 220 yard dash and Walter Onley who captured the 80 yard dash. We had others who placed in their events. They can't all win and if they do their best it is greatly appreciated.

SOCCER MEMORIES

The soccer team of '28 will be remembered through many years of athletics. We had five teams in our soccer tournament, one new one this year, being Ocean City, a team showing much talent for beginners. The boys on the soccer team of '28 were all ambitious and willing to work with their coaches, and although we did not win the first place in the county we learned much as to good sportsmanship on and off the athletic field. We also learned much towards discipline and following directions, which will be of use to us in later life.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

On Wednesday, May 1 every Senior received a formal invitation to the annual Junior-Senior Banquet to be held on Friday, May 3 in the Odd Fellow's Hall.

Every year the Juniors give the Seniors a banquet, which is a very much looked forward to event.

The Juniors were very busy getting the decorations ready weeks before time, and the Seniors were excited over their new "frocks."

This year the Juniors gave the banquet under the leadership of two capable people, Miss Hancock and Mr. Jones.

The hall was decorated with the colors of the Senior Class—orchid and silver. There were wisteria trees placed around the room with lights in them. On the tables were huge baskets made of orchid and silver crepe paper and filled with flowers whose sweet odor filled the room. The place cards were tied with orchid ribbon on packages of life-savers wrapped in tinsel to represent diplomas. There were smaller orchid and silver baskets at each person's place.

Members of the faculty were present and quite a few invited guests.

The toast-master, William Townsend, called on several people for speeches. Among them were: Mary Harris, Editor-in-chief of the Representative; Eunice Helm, president of Senior Class; Raymond Smack, president of Student Council; Mr. Simmons; Dr. Riley; and Mr. C. V. White.

We Seniors cordially thank the Juniors for the splendid banquet which they gave.

Perhaps one of the most interesting meetings of the year was that of February 8, 1929, when the life works of Alexander Dumas, pere, were studied. At this meeting Joyce Strickland and Lois Mason were initiated. These two girls were admitted into the club for receiving an average of "A" on French III for the first semester.

At the meeting of March 28, five members of the third year French Class, not receiving below an average of B for the first term came before the club with another good program. Stella Adkins, Estelle Dickerson, Mary Evans, Harold Parks and Alma Martin were extended the Club's right hand of fellowship.

To the Juniors as the leaders of the Club of 1929-30 we wish all the possible success and may they conduct "Les Hiboux Francais" even better than have the present Seniors.

it made very little sense. Many of the sentences had the opposite meaning from what was desired. This is the type of letters some stenographers write.

An essay on "How to Keep Books Successfully" written by a teacher of bookkeeping of a well known Business College. He advised us not to talk to more than twenty-five persons while making an entry, not to enter our gum into our books when we had finished chewing, not to let old hens get at our books, to be careful about the company they kept and not to let them run around at night.

An essay on "The Commercial Department in S. H. H. S." written by one of the students in order that she might be admitted to the club. This essay showed the advantages of the Commercial Course in high school.

The club extends its best wishes for success to these graduates who will so soon go out into the Commercial world.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club, which was organized early this year, considers that it has been a very successful year.

Officers were elected as follows:

President, Wilson Hudson; Vice-President, Virginia Riley; Secretary, Caarson Chandler; Student Council Representative, Doris Mount; Reporter, Mildred West.

At present the club is preparing a program to be given Commencement night. This will be the last program but the members all know that it shall not be the least!

The Club wishes to thank Miss Shockley for the time she has given to us and wish the best of luck to the Club of '30.
