

Research Set In County On Bicentennial

6/12/75

A "Horizons" intern will be working in Worcester County during the next several weeks obtaining information for a brochure and map of historic homes and sites in the county for the American Bicentennial.

Robert H. Robertson, chairman of the Worcester County Committee, announced this at the meeting of the county committee last week. Mr. Robertson said that he hopes that the intern, William Chamberlain, will be in the county this week.

Also discussed was the establishment of an information center on U.S. 13 at the Virginia line and possibly one in the northern part of the county. It was decided that help would be solicited from the county and state governments.

It was decided to purchase 100 bicentennial calendars which will be sold within the county. Also discussed were patches, pins and pens for the bicentennial but no decision was made on them until further investigation was made.
