SENIOR HOME ROOM RENDERS FINE PRO- GRAM IN ASSEMBLY

Shakespearean Dramatization A Big Feature

On Friday afternoon, February 19, the Senior Home Room staged one of the most highly appreciated entertainments of the year. This program, growing out of English classroom work, gave the audience a clearer view of Shakespeare's works as are studied by the American schools of to-day.

The Shakespearean dramatization of Scene II, Act III of the tragedy "Julius Caesar," the biggest and most noteworthy feature, was both interesting and instructive. The young actors, although amateurs in this line, presented it in a most commendable fashion.

The dramatis personae composed entirely of Senior boys was as follows:

Antony ---- Benjamin W. Woodward
Brutus ---- Arthur E. Landers, Jr.
Cassius ---- John R. Hancock
Citizens ---- Herman Adkins, William Timmons, Harry S. Clarke, John Warren, Marion Harris and Edwin Brown.

Some recitations, a double quartet, which sang a song composed by the poet himself, and often sung in his time, talks pertaining to Shakespeare's work, also a part of the program, were greatly enjoyed.

The program was as follows:
Bible Reading ---- Ruth Bradford
Prayer ---- School
Biographical sketch of William Shakespeare ---- John Warren
Recitation, "Cassius Against Caesar" Harry S. Clarke

Magazines Donated By Dramatics Club

Realizing the need of access to current magazines, and the scarcity of material in S. H. H. S. the members of the Dramatics Club pleasantly surprised the Faculty and student body with the appearance of a reading table in the Auditorium Monday, March 1.

It is hoped that the Dramatics Club will continue this throughout the coming year, donating subscriptions to the magazines instead of loaning the copies as they are doing now.

The Dramatics Club which has been recently organized, should be highly commended for this progressive move.

Surely the students will show

Tuesday is a musical day for Snow Hill High School, for it is on this day that rehearsals of the Band and Violin class are conducted.

The Band which was organized in December has practiced regularly on Tuesday evenings since that time and has made such rapid progress that a rumor is prevalent that it will first be introduced to the public at a concert in April.

MISS LOUISE S. TOWN- SEND WINNER OF OLD "HOME PRIZE"

Former Star In Declamation Contest Wins New Laurels

On Tuesday, February 9, the winner of the, "Old Home Prize" was announced to the Senior Class. This announcement had been looked forward to for quite a while by all the members of the class, and when Mr. Simmons came in the Senior English Class early on that memorable Tuesday afternoon with his characteristic smile always donned on occasions of this sort, everyone was filled with intense excitement. This excitement was greatly increased as the speaker persisted in keeping the class in almost unbearable suspense for more than half an hour before announcing the winner.

The "Old Home Prize" is awarded each consecutive year from a sum set aside by Mr. E. W. McMaster for the best and most nearly perfect all-around student in the Senior Class. To get this prize the winner also has to write an essay on some subject dealing with the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

As to the winner of this prize in the Class of '26 we may truthfully say that she fulfills every requirement. Never has she failed us during her past career in high school. Until Miss Townsend entered the Junior Class, the student body of Snow Hill High School knew little of her, but judging from the admirable reputation which she brought with her we are led to believe that her school life in Girdletree High was likewise as noteworthy and full of remarkable events.

Announcement was made recently to the High Schools of the county that the County Declamation Contest will be held April 9. The intentions of the authorities had been to hold the Contest in the new Stockton High School, but since the date of completion of the building is uncertain, a decision as to place has not been made.

Miss Riley, who as Instructor of English, is in charge of the S. H. H. S. Declamation Contest, has assigned selections to the students and they, with her assistance, are diligently working to master them.

About twenty students expect to participate in the first preliminary contest which will be held within two weeks in the auditorium. At this contest, six students will be chosen to take part in the contest, in the Opera House. The winner of this, will of course represent Snow Hill High School in the County Contest.

A final contest is held when the winner of the County Contest Participates in the Eastern Shore Declamation Contest at Washington College in May.

DRAMATICS CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF ADVISOR, MISS RILEY

The first evening meeting of The Dramatics Club of Snow Hill High School was held on February 26, at the home of Miss Riley, advisor to the Club.

A very interesting and educational program had been prepared by a program committee, appointed by the President of the Club. This committee consisted of Edgeworth Humphreys, Chairman; Mina Dymond and Jessie Donaldson.

As February claims so many of our leading writers and poets, they having been born in that month, the program rendered, consisted mainly of talks on the lives of some of these great literary men. Among those discussed were: James Russell Lowell, Henry W. Longworth, Charles Dickens and Victor Hugo.

Jessie Donaldson recited Lowell's "The First Snowfall" in a very pleasing way, and Mina Dymond, representing a little child, gave "A Trip With Dickens."

A piano solo by Beulah Pratt who played "Minuet in E Flat" by Mozart, and a vocal solo by Edgeworth Humphreys who sang "Flag Day" were enjoyed equally as much by the audience.

The Club had as its guests for the evening, Arthur E. Landers, Jr., B. Herman Adkins, Edwin Brown and Harry Clarke.

We, who are students of S. H. H. S. should strive in every way possible to display the quality of sportsmanship.

When we hear the word sportsman ship or sportsman we usually think of athletics, but this is not the entire significance of the word. Sportsmanship may be practiced wherever rivalry exists; let it be a game of baseball, a declamation contest, a debate, or what you will.

According to the way a student conducts himself when participating in a contest, so is he judged and also the school which he represents. Therefore, it is not only a student's duty to his school, but his duty as well as advantage, to himself to always uphold the high ideals of a true sportsman.

The Sportsmanship Brotherhood has recently described this quality, and we are glad to print the heart of the definition here: "The Sportsman keeps the rules, keeps faith with his comrades and plays the game for his side; keeps himself fit, keeps his temper, keeps from hitting a man when he is down; keeps his pride under in a victory and keeps t stout heart in defeat."

LET'S HAVE FIRE DRILLS!

In the center of a small, New England town, a school house rears its wooden structure of two stories. It is quite old, as can be observed by the fact that numerous repairs have been made. There are no fire escapes. This, and its age makes it a veritable fire-trap.

Here the sons and daughters of the people of the community are being educated; are becoming men and women of the future, and citizens of the United States.

There is no thought of danger as they study and discuss their lessons. They are happy with the thought that vacation time is near; happy because happiness belongs to healthy, robust youth.

Suddenly, and without the slightest warning, the shrill cry, "Fire!" resounds through the rooms.

The happy, contented and care-free children are changed as though by magic to fear-stricken demons, vehemently rushing pell-mell towards the door.

Gone are all thoughts of chivalry, of order, and regards for others. Only the thought that 'I must escape.' It is immaterial how, nor how many remain inside. Some of the older and stronger boys try to curb the onrush and keep the girls and weaker boys from being trampled, but to no avail.

Like stampeding cattle they run furiously through the halls, the shrieks of pain and terror, as some go down in the rush, adding to the horrors of the scene.

The teachers stand in a little group, unable to help, frantic with fear for the children.

However, in this boisterous, disorderly manner everyone succeeds in getting safely out of the burning building.

Now, the practice of fire drills only once a month would have taught this group of children to vacate that building in very short order and in a systematic orderly way. In school where fire drills are practiced, no one is ever hurt, no one every panicky when the fire alarm sounds as no one ever really knows whether there is a real fire until the building is empty.

Brush aside the thin floor of imagination for the present. Let that above mentioned school be S. H. H. S. and those boys and girls be the three hundred nine of OUR school! Shall we wait until a great catastrophe overtakes us before we take action? "An ounce of prevention is worth iar more than a TON of cure."

Let us make "Be Prepared" our motto! Let's have fire-drills!

LEARN TO SPELL!

Do you know your spelling? The very walls of S. H. H. S. seem to echo and re-echo these words. Sometimes the answer is in the affirmative, yet many times it is in the negative.

A campaign for better spelling has been started in our school. The English Department, realizing an urgent need for some remedial measures along this line, is now preparing for three "old-fashioned spelling bees" which will take place in the near future.

The Freshman class has challenged the Sophomores, and the Juniors will compete with the Seniors. The winners in the Freshmen and Junior Classes will then challenge the winners of the Sophomore and Senior classes for a final contest.

Every English student in high school has in his or her possession a small note book and before he or she participates in a spelling match, a lengthy list of words commonly misspelled will have been carefully studied.

Here is your chance, boys and girls, to improve your spelling. Make use of it, for there is not a single student in high school who can not derive considerable benefit from this effort towards improving the S.H.H.S. student's spelling.

You will get out of it exactly what you put in it. Do you appreciate your opportunity?

Anna Brittingham, a former student in Berlin High School, entered the Freshmen class of S. H. H. S. at the beginning of this semester. Everyone in school, and particularly the Freshmen class, greatly welcomes Anna to our school.

Miss Collins spent the week-end of February 20 with Dr. and Mrs. Alpheus Mason at Princeton, New Jersey.

On Thursday evening, February 11, the Parent-Teacher Association held its regular monthly meeting in the Assembly Hall. The main features of the program were: a health program given by fourth grade pupils under the direction of Miss Lillie Heward, principal of the Primary School and teacher of the fourth grade; an exercise by seventh grade girls called "Colonial Dames." This was given in commemoration of Washington's birthday.

The Club known as the S. S. K., a social club whose membership consists of six girls in the Sophomore class, was privileged to conduct a candy sale in the Assembly Hall on Tuesday morning, February 9. The girls attracted much attention in their red and white caps. The proceeds will be spent in purchasing a camping outfit.

Louise Townsend, '26 has been out of school for several days because of illness. We sincerely hope by the time this publication reaches our subscribers she will be back with us again.

The Treble Clef Club held its monthly meeting at the home of Miss Lucille Collins on February 12. After the usual business of this meeting was over, a very interesting Valentine program was rendered by the members of the Club.

This program pertaining entirely to St. Valentine's Day, was put on extremely well and was enjoyed very

Miss Riley: "Do you respect Rowena, George?"

George C. (Hesitatingly): No, ma'am I don't think I do. She wouldn't allow De Bracy to kiss her.

The laziest person we can imagine is one who sits up all night to keep from washing his face in the mornin'.

—Yellow Jacket.

Miss Dryden (In physics): "Give me an example of like attracting like."

Merrill T. "Pop drank some wood alcohol and it went to his head."

Dear Editor:

I am in love with a homely girl but she doesn't seem to care for me, while a pretty girl with lots of money wants to marry me. What shall I do?

"Marry the one you love, and send me the name and address of the other one."

A woman teacher, in trying to explain the meaning of the word "slowly," illustrated it by walking across the floor.

When she asked the class to tell her how she walked, she nearly fainted when one small boy said, "Bow-legged, Ma'am."

A clergyman was telling his congregation of the effects of intemperance, and said: "I hope the time will soon come when all liquor will be poured into the river. Now let's sing hymn No. 95."

Some members of the congregation smiled when they opened the hymn books and read the title, "Shall We Gather at the River."

—Eastern Breezes

Al (to Bill): "Why don't you go to see Mina at her house?"

Bill T. "The reason is a--parent."

Our ideal of an absent-minded professor is the one who walked into the room, put his cane in bed and went and stood in the corner, tied his spaghetti and ate his shoestrings; washed his hands, threw the water in bed and jumped out of the window.

—Texas Ranger

The new teacher looked over her class on the first day of school and decided to find out how much or how little they knew. Turning to one little urchin, she asked—, "Do you know your A-B-C's?"

"Gosh! no, Ma'am," was the answer; I only been here five minutes, wat you t'ink I am?"

So Many of Them Do

A foreign pianist was engaged to act as accompanist for an aspiring amateur singer. The amateur had bounding ambitions, but her technique was faulty. This defect became manifest at the first rehearsal.

After the poor woman had flatted and flatted until she had flatted practically all of her notes, the accompanist waved her to silence

"Madam," he said mournfully, "it is no use. I gif up der chob. I play der black keys;—I play der white keys—and always you sing in der cracks!"

The following extract was found in a first year English student's test paper:

"After Poe was kicked out of several schools, John Allen made him leave and he had to scratch for himself."

Mr. Simmons: (To a tardy pupil) What's the cause of your tardiness?"

Leonard T.: "I was going fishing, but my brother wouldn't let me."

Mr. Simmons: "Well, that's the kind of a brother to have, and he's a Senior too."

Leonard T.: "Yes, the reason why he wouldn't let me go was that he said he didnt have bait enough for two!"

Told In The Hotel

Three lads were discussing the merits of their respective fathers.

"My dad," said the boy whose father was a successful author, "jest writes a few pages of stuff on a typewriter and gets paid a hundred dollars for it."

"That's nothin'," said the lawyer's son. "My pop gets paid a lot o' money just for sittin' in his office an' telling people what to do."

"Huh" snorted the third. "My father gets up in the pulpit and preaches for half an hour and when he gets through it takes eight men to carry the money into the vestry."

WINNER OF "OLD HOME PRIZE"

Besides being the school's pianist, president of the newly organized Dramatics Club and an active member of the Student Council, "The Representative" owes the greater part of its fame and success during the past year to the devoted and untiring efforts of this invaluable member of its staff, the Editor-in-Chief.

Readers of "The Representative" will very readily remember that during the last three years Miss Townsend has been one of the main participants in the County Declamation contest. But not being satisfied with having won first place in two county contests, she has won second place twice in the Eastern Shore Declamation Contest at Washington College, Chestertown.

Last, but by no means least, we must comment on her charming personality and unselfish consideration for her classmates. Because of her wonderful disposition and other noble attributes, she has been known during the past semester as, "Sunny."

With this the Class of '26 most heartily extends its sincere congratulations and wishes undying success to this most accomplished young lady in the future game of life.

On Friday afternoon, February 5 the A section of the Freshmen Class rendered a short program in the Auditorium. The program was enjoyed by, both faculty and students.

The H. C. S. was entertained Wednesday evening, February 10 at the home of Edgeworth Humphreys, '26, and February 24, at the home of Ruth Bradford, '26.

The students of the Commercial Department rendered a very entertaining musical program in the Assembly on Friday, February 26. Among the numbers was a musical recitation by Miss Henman, teacher of Commercial subjects, which was greatly enjoyed by all.

Just as our material goes to press, we are sorry to report that four of our teachers are absent from school because of illness. The absent ones are: Miss Dryden, Miss Brittingham, Miss Dale and Mr. Kelley.

On Saturday, February 20, the Zonta 4H Club held its first meeting in the Deposit and Savings Bank of Snow Hill, a new place of meeting. A committee from the Club interviewed Mr. O. M. Purnell, President of this Bank, to ask for the privilege of using the Bank as a place in which to meet. The Club is deeply appreciative to Mr. Purnell and the Bank officials for granting this request.

Try-outs were recently held by Miss Dryden in the Auditorium to fill a vacancy in the Glee Club and to add members to the Chorus. Eva Truitt was chosen to fill the vacancy in the Glee Club which was made when Anna Pusey moved to Boothwyn, Pa. The following students were selected to complete the chorus: Ruth Bradford, '26, Madeline Bowen '26, Jessie Donaldson, '27, Margie Truitt, '28, Mildred Killmon, '28, John Scott, '28, Clarence Richardson, '29, William Yeager, '29, William Bradley, '29, and Charles Boothe, '29.

CLASS OF '29 ENTERTAINS AT A VALENTINE PARTY

On Friday evening, February 12, the B section of the Freshman class of S. H. H. S. enjoyed immensely a Valentine Party in the Assembly Hall.

Extensive preparations had been made as to decorations, games and refreshments. The decorations were carried out in colors red and white appropriate to Valentine. A large heart was suspended in the middle of the room. All games participated in were likewise appropriate to St. Valentine. The refreshments were small heart-shaped cookies and red fruit punch.

Miss Whaley, who has charge of the Freshman B class home room, sponsored the evening of fun.

The class was glad to have Miss Collins and Miss Henman present, but was very disappointed that other members of the Faculty could not be present.

Besides the instruments provided by the school, several students have purchased instruments so that they might become members of the Band.

The complete list of players with their respective instruments follows: Carson Chandler, Cornet; Paul Hales, Cornet; Covey Chilcutt, Cornet; Lester Hearthway, Cornet; Hance Fooks, Cornet; Merrill Trader, Cornet; Kendall Powell, Baritone; John Burbage, Slide Trombone; Vaughn Hales, Slide Trombone; Blanchard Hancock, Alto; John Hancock, Bass Horn; Louise Haddock, Snare Drum; Mabel Gordy, Cymbals; Gordon Bowen, Bass Drum; Edwin Brown, Saxophone; Montgomery Stagg, Clarinet; Wilson Hudson, Clarinet; Alberta Littleton, Clarinet.

Miss Henman—"What is depreciation?"

COMMERCIAL NOTES

THE IMPORTANCE OF BUSINESS TRAINING

Just what do you think a good stenographer should know? You probably will answer, "why shorthand and typewriting, of course!"

The question is, however, is that all she should know? Should she know only the fundamentals upon which all work is based—shorthand and typewriting? 'Tis true such knowledge is absolutely essential to every good stenographer, but a knowledge of business forms and customs is also equally as necessary. Without this requirement to round-out her training, she will be of little value in an office.

What she learns and knows about business training can be used everywhere alike, so by increasing her knowledge of business practice, she can add to her experience and at the same time acquire a real business asset. The stenographer learns in business training that "system" is positively necessary in her work. She must be able to supervise her own work; no one else should have to do it for her because of her inability to do so.

She learns also that she must be exact and do her work correctly. She should have as her aim a perfect copy at her first attempt. Copying and re-copying not only is a complete waste of time, but of service and stationery as well.

Lastly, business training teaches the stenographer to feel "at home" in her first position. She forms a habit of being business-like, therefore expects to be and is no other when she finds herself in a business man's office.

No doubt, it is for these reasons that business training has been introduced in the course of study for the Commercial Department.

Mr. Smith—"Where were you with the car last night?"

Le Roy—"Oh, just riding around with some of the boys."

Mr. Smith—"Well you had better return this vanity case one of the boys left in the car."

Walter, who loved to think of himself as a go-getter and a self-made man was preaching to an office boy, just engaged.

"Young man," he said. "This is an age of specialization. A jack-of-all trades gets no where today. Think, my boy, is there anything you can do better than anyone else?"

"Yes, sir," said the youngster—"read my own writing."

Miss Riley had written on the back of Elizabeth's paper: "Please write more legibly."

The next day Elizabeth went to the desk and asked: Miss Riley, what is that you wrote on the back of my theme?"

Miss Julia—"Who signed the Magna Carta?"

Tommy—"Please, ma'am, 'twasn't me. Miss Julia—(disgustedly)—Oh, take your seat."

Skeptical member of the Class—Here, call that boy back. I don't like his looks. I believe he did do it.

Business Man (to Mary)—I am inclined to give you the position if you understand double-entry book keeping.

Mary—I do that! Why, at my last place I had to do a triple-double-entry—a set for the active partner showing, the real profit, a set for the sleeping partner showing, small profits, and a set for the income tax officials, showing no profits.

TWENTY-ONE HONOR STUDENTS IN S. H. H. S. DURING FIRST SEMESTER

Immediately after the mid-year Exams were over, Mr. Simmons compiled a list of names of students showing the grade of work done by them throughout the first semester. He divided this list into three classes: first, pupils who made an average of A in every subject for the semester; second, pupils who did not receive a mark lower than B in all subjects; third, pupils who made an average of B and better in all subjects.

In the first class, there were only two students in the entire high school, and both of these are found in the Sophomore class. They are Emilie Jones and Louis Tuckerman.

In the second group are found THREE SENIORS: Louise Townsend, Marie Hales and Benjamin Woodward; ONE JUNIOR: Dorothy Shockley; NO SOPHOMORES; TWO FRESHMEN: Virginia Riley and Eleanor Johnson.

There are thirteen who are privileged to be recorded in the third class. They are: SENIORS: Mary Bounds, Bessie Holston, Mary Adkins, Ruth Bradford and Ella Hayman; JUNIORS: Nellie Pruitt; SOPHOMORES: Maybelle Woodward, George Cordrey and Virginia Dryden; FRESHMEN: Hance Fooks, Carson Chandler, Lois Mason and Mary Harris.

Each one of these divisions CAN be greatly increased in number. There are only three months more of school. Let's everybody get in line and exhibit the best there is in us.

MISS PARTRICK SUCCEEDS MISS WILSON AS PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE

The faculty and students are glad to welcome Miss Mary L. Partrick who came to Snow Hill a few weeks ago to succeed Miss Wilson as Public Health Nurse.

Miss Partrick whose home is in Oceana, Virginia, is a graduate of The Memorial Hospital, Newark, New Jersey. She was graduated from this Hospital in 1908 and afterwards took a four months' Post Graduate course at the Providence City Hospital.

She is registered in both New Jersey and Virginia, and is also a Red Cross Nurse. She has been doing Public Health work in Virginia, for the past four years. Miss Partrick comes to this county highly recommended by the Health Department in that State.

The faculty and students join in wishing her Health, Happiness and Success in her new field.
