

Died, at Chicago, Ill., at the residence of John B. Turner, Esq., on the 12th inst., of an affection of the heart, EDWARD EPPS POWERS, Esq., of Columbus, Ga., aged 58 years. The deceased was a native of Bernardston, Mass., but for many years a resident of the South, where he acquired a large fortune, and the respect and esteem of an extended acquaintance. His sudden death was not unexpected to himself, and his last hours were a Christian's—calm and peaceful. Arriving a stranger in our city, he found himself among friends, who extended to him every attention and hospitality. His kindred will be gratified to know, that though far from them, everything was done to alleviate his illness and soothe his closing hours, that friendship and the kindest interest could suggest.

His remains will be taken East, for interment in the Bernardston Cemetery, where a Monument is to be erected to his memory.

Chicago, June, 1855.

1855 06 25 Edward Epps Powers obit

Clipped By:
boblesk
Jan 20, 2025