The Wayne and Bill Smith Story

Wayne Smith was born on October 28, 1934 in Birch Harbor, the son of Dwinell and Lillian Norton Smith (both natives of Steuben).

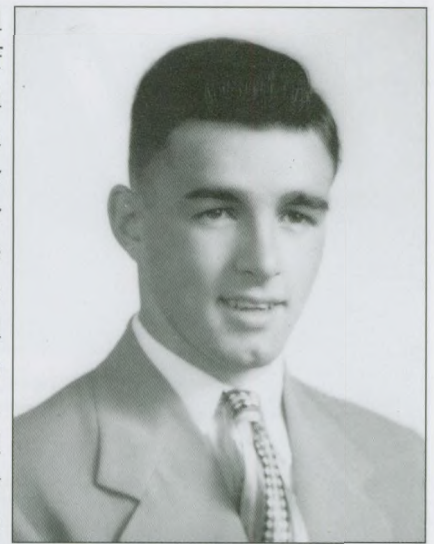

Wayne attended Birch Harbor and Winter Harbor grammar schools and then Winter Harbor High School for two years before transferring to Sullivan High School. He then spent his senior year at Sumner High School, graduating in 1953. A talent on both the diamond and hardwood, Wayne transferred to Sullivan after his sophomore year due to rumors that Winter Harbor was considering discontinuing their baseball program. While at Sullivan, Wayne played under legendary Coach Del Merrill and was part of the Sullivan squad to compete on the 'new' Bangor Auditorium floor in 1952 in a game versus the Beals Island Braves and one of their top players, Stan Beal. Wayne completed his secondary education at the just-opened Sumner High School, graduating in 1953. His high school activities included four years of basketball (guard), baseball (pitcher/3B) and band. Wayne served his fellow classmates as an officer during his freshman, sophomore and senior years and was vice-president of the student council for the Tigers.

From 1953 until 1956, Wayne served his country in the U.S. Marine Corps, discharged with the rank of SGT.

Wayne married Patty Parkin of Gouldsboro on August 7, 1955. They became the parents of three children: 'Billy' of Lamoine, Terri Ann Gray of Boynton Beach, FL and Daniel (deceased).

From 1956 until 1959, Wayne was employed as a mechanic for Bean & Conquest of Bangor.

From 1959 until 1981, Wayne held a number of positions with the State of Maine, Department of Marine Resources, Bureau of Marine Patrol. During his first sixteen years, he was a Marine Patrol Officer, making his residence in Milbridge (1966-75). Before they departed Milbridge, the Smith family purchased a parcel of land on the Back Bay Road.

In 1975, Wayne was promoted to investigator, moved to Warren, and worked an assignment that included the region from Camden to Kittery. After another promotion to Lieutenant, in 1976, Wayne reported directly to the Captain of the Bureau. In 1979, Wayne was promoted to Captain, a rank that held the title of Deputy Chief of the Marine Patrol. From 1980 to 1981, after a promotion to Major, Wayne became Chief of the Marine Patrol, reporting directly to the Commissioner of the Department of Marine Resources. His duties included directing some 44 uniformed officers and an office staff of four in completing their assignments.

One of Wayne Smith's more memorable cases involved an incident at Wells Beach in the mid-1960s. Out on night patrol, Wayne noticed lights that appeared in and then out of the water. Upon further investigation, he apprehended suspects who were making a name for themselves by becoming involved in the unlawful taking of lobster by scuba diving.

Anticipating retirement, Wayne and Patty built a home in Milbridge in 1980. He retired in 1981 and relocated to Milbridge to take a position as Assistant to the President of Jasper Wyman & Son, a food processing company.

In 1985, Wayne accepted an offer from the Town of Milbridge to serve as a police officer. A year later, he was hired by the Union Trust Company, working from 1986 until 1995 in their collections department.

In his early days, he was an avid runner, completing his first marathon in Kennebunk at the age of 49. At age 50, Wayne journeyed to Washington, D.C. where he completed the Marine Corps Marathon. He has since completed several half-marathons, the last one being when he was 69. Wayne remains very active for age 80, walking and golfing. He estimates that during the course of the winter there are approximately 150 basketball games that he attends as a spectator (high school, grammar school and pee-wee games). He has also been a 50 plus year spectator at the Class B, C and D Eastern Maine Tournament games in Bangor.

When not 'on the move,' Wayne enjoys following the Red Sox, college and professional women's basketball and watching competitive golf programs. He continues to have a passion for golf, having been a member at the Bar Harbor Golf Course and White Birches. He currently plays out of Barren View Golf Course in Jonesboro, being a member there since their opening year of 2003.

Patty likes to join Wayne on many of his walks and watch golf, quilt, knit and read. They are proud of their four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Barren View Golf Course in Jonesboro is a frequent stop for Wayne and Billy Smith. They are featured with Laura Bagley and Jim Golike.

Dwinell William 'Billy' Smith is a 1975 graduate of Narraguagus High School. After attending Maine Maritime Academy and then Eastern Maine Vocational Technical Institute, Bill worked at the Maine State Prison from 1977 until 1979. He then passed the qualification exam with hopes of being hired as a Marine Patrol Warden. In April of 1979, Bill's career with the Marine Patrol Service commenced with a stint at Brunswick and Bailey's Island. Six months later, Bill was transferred to Southwest Harbor/M.D.I. where in 1995, he was made a Specialist, becoming Captain of the Guardian, a 44 foot boat. Bill retired from the Marine Patrol Service in 2001.

He was employed in the construction field from 2004 until he retired 'for good' in 2009. Bill is the father of Andrea and Tyler and enjoys woodworking, landscaping, golf, canoe and kayak racing and some travel.

Married to Tammy Kelley of Belfast since 1991, the couple makes their home in Lamoine.
