"MELODY"

OFA-SA-3021

Melody is a medium sized bitch of about 21" and will weigh about 50 lbs when in good condition. She was bred a total of four times, twice to Chiefie and twice to Batu. A litter of five and then a litter of 6 from Chiefie and a total of 8 from Batu.

Being my favorite girl, she wsa then retired from the whelping box, to be a show girl. She has a group 3rd under Glen Fancy in 1976 and a S.C.A. Merit Award Then in 1979 she was awarded a group first under Mrs. Pinlott and also a second S.C.A. Merit Award that same year.

Her show career came to a halt when she lost so many of her lower front teeth that it was impossible to continue to show her. She was spayd in 1982 to be the favorite house pet.

The S.Q Fall 1982

finish her up, breed her one more time, then special her. This ought to really blow some judges mind's away; for, D.V. is a mere 19 3/4" high. Me Too and Foxy should get them accustomed to a bitch winning. Then we'll spring D.V. on the world of dogdom. The time is LONG overdue for the majority of our judges to realize that 23" IS NOT the correct size of a Samoyed bitch.

Speaking of Me Too - you already know how she got her name - she is the bitch who finished so fast no one knows her. We bred her last year to the Puppy Factory, and kept a male, Fat Cat. Mom will probably be specialed this year. She's knocked off a few BOB's, one BOB being the International in Chicago, add to that (so far) a Group III and a Group IV. But, she's got a long road ahead. Me Too is a rather large bitch with fluid movement. We're hopeful these qualities can put Sam bitches in BIS contention.

No, I didn't forget him - his "Ugliness"! He is a pain in my ankle. I really should not pick on the BIG FELLOW so much. He is a love. He dribbles on my clothes, he knocks me down, then kisses my face, and FOREVER insists on climbing into my lap, at a light 75 lbs, while stepping on my black and blue toes! Camshaft completed his Ch. this spring, some of his points having been won at the Garden. You know, the Garden is one of our favorite places. You can also tell we all here at Bubbling Oaks suffer from a severe case of modesty.

I should be on the beach at Fire Island now. I just want you all to know that Jack Price is a rat. He and the kid are out playing on the beach, and here I sit scribbling in the backyard. Oh well, such are men. He goes out driving his team all winter, and catches the rays all summer. Speaking of THE TEAM, you haven't lived until you have lived with a possessed dog-sled racer. If he had his choice, he'd chuck it all, and go race dogs in Alaska. The man is crazy. I freeze at 45°.

Seriously, we have 2 teams. One is Jack's, that's the one that hits snow fences, trees, and gets attacked by other dogs. Ean James and myself have a team. It is a quiet, scenic trot through the woods type. Sane, very sane. We get all the valuables, Woly Buly, Foxy, Me Too, Bubbles, and puppies. Our only regret is we did not start this earlier. Happiness is riding down a trail in the woods, driving your own dogs. It's what they WERE MEANT to do. AND, it's super fun.

Of course, we have no delusions. Our Sammies will never win races. When Jack first started this, three years ago, he got laughed off the trails. He had show dogs and championed show dogs, at that. Everyone knew a show dog was unsound and couldn't run. Well, they have eaten a lot of crow, folks, and next year they will eat more. Jack put the Shaft in a weight-pull contest, with no previous training. In his first event, the hosting club ran out of weight for the "Big Fellow" at 900 lbs. In his second weight-pull contest, he beat a 105 lb. dog, who had placed third in Saranac Lake two weeks prior. That's a useless Ch. show dog for you. Wait, I have a better story. We went to a two day race in upstate New York. Jack entered Ean in the two day Pee-Wee Class. The first day, Steve Hollizinger gave Ean his fastest Alaskan runner. The dog got frightened and the team came in dead last. Consequently, the next day, we switched dogs. The Shaft ran so fast the kid placed 4th in the totals and won a trophy. So much for useless Ch. show dogs.

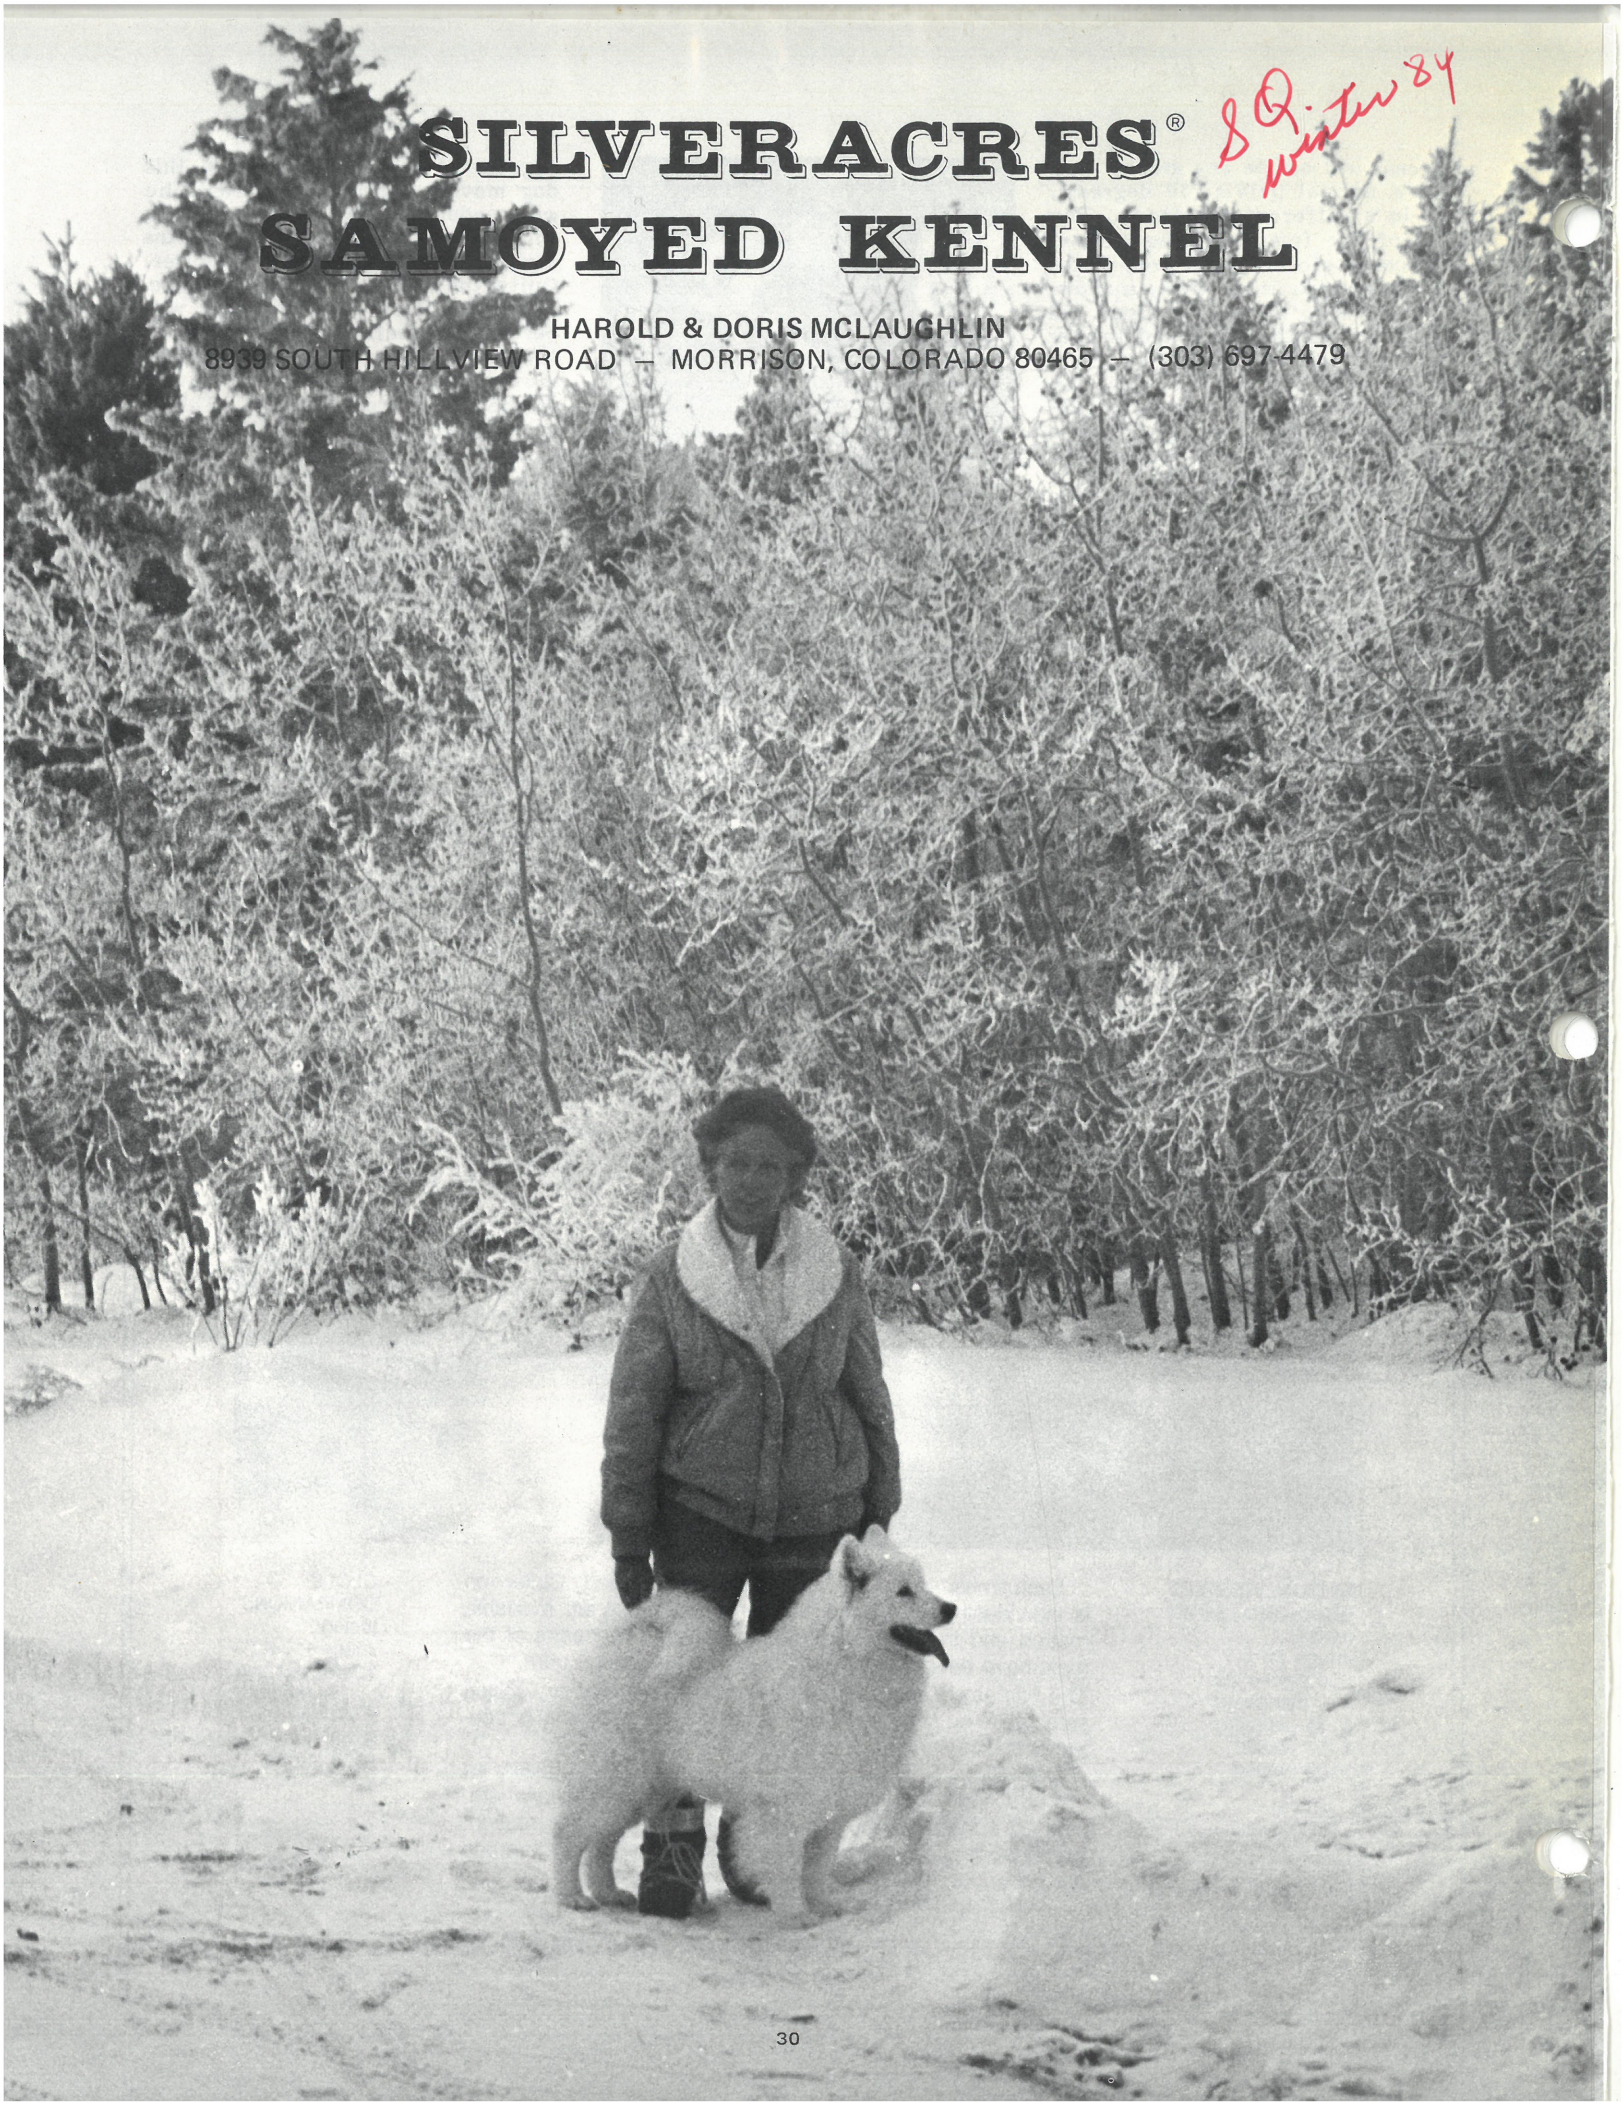

Ch. Woly Buly of Oakwood - 8 years

ON to the HAIRY STUFF! Or, here is where I make lots more enemies. If the shoe fits, wear it, folks. I cite as our number one major problem - short backs and too much leg. The combination is intolerable! It will DESTROY our breed. If I see another "flying trot," better known to any knowledgeable breeder, as an OVERSTRIDE, I will vomit. The most alarming part of this disaster is the owners do not realize they are advertising a FAULT in a national magazine. These misguided kennel-blind folks have NO idea of structure, let alone a short back, which in many cases is the root of their dog's problem. These breeders are sacrificing ease of gait for compact, cobby animals. What they fail to realize is that if you shorten the back, then the front and rear 90° angulation must be decreased porportionately, in order to prevent an overstride. We see "mucho" examples of dogs with DECREASED ANGULATION, who appear to the unknowing breeder to have a correct gait, when actually the animals are compensating movers. By that, I mean the angles are decreased equally all over the dog; thus, he does not overstride. He is a balanced animal, but he IS NOT CORRECT according to the Samoyed Standard. Samoyeds are supposed to be well-angulated. Therefore, if you have a properly angulated dog, with a short back, unless you shorten leg drastically, you must have interference between the front and rear stride. This, is exemplified, in crabbing, those flying trots, and the dogs who look like they were kicked in the rear. Samoyeds must have moderate length of back, good angulation and good leg to have the powerful smooth movement called for in the Standard. It is not our dogs' fault that they have been termed one of the "junk breeds." It's the people, who through laziness, stupidity, vainness, and downright ignorance, fail to study the correct structure and movement of the dog. God knows there are enough lecture courses and good books to educate them.

Now, that I am the most hated female in the country, let me remind you that nine years ago, a dog had a tail and a head; and I still don't know
