The Ebell

The object of this Club is individual development, a united effort toward harmony, charity, and that broad culture, which comes through service to others.

Ebell and Its Work

The Ebell of Los Angeles was organized in 1894, being one of several Chapters on the Pacific Coast which bears the name of the founder of these societies. While traveling in America in 1876, Dr. Ebell formed the first Chapter in Oakland—the oldest club of the coast. After the model of this finely organized mother club, the Ebell of Los Angeles was formed, consisting of a central organization, with study sections that stand in relation to it of States to the Federal Government.

Primarily a study club, it has faithfully adhered to its founder's purpose, believing that the wisest action can only result from a broad culture and high standard of education. To this end study is encouraged in Science, Art, Music, Literature, Sociology, and Current History, "as an effort for the highest in society and the home."

The monthly literary and social programmes have been a source of instruction and pleasure. Scholars and musicians have given to us their best. It is this notable recognition of our work that incites us to greater action.

Not less worthy of mention have been the section programmes where our own club members have given to us papers of high literary merit. The thoughtful, earnest work of Mrs. Lou. V. Chapin, as presented in her Current History Lectures, has been an inspiration to the whole society.

The practical work of the club has been chiefly along educational lines.

Last year under the direction of Mrs. Sumner P. Hunt, ably assisted by the Board of Education and the Principal of the school, the society placed seventy pictures, several casts, hanging baskets, etc., in the Amelia Street School. A large picture was also given to the Pico Heights School and a "Madonna" to the Hayes Street Kindergarten. Some fine pictures, books and casts were added to the club's possessions.

Through the courtesy of the Woman's Parliament of Southern California the Ebell was enabled to place before this large organization the advantages of State Federation which later in the year came to such successful issue in the Ebell Club House, the Federation choosing for its first President Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, a former President of Ebell. The reception given to the club women of this state at the beautiful home of one of our Ebell women, Mrs. Clinton N. Sterry, was one of the brilliant events of the year. The club has been equally active in co-operating with the California Club of San Francisco, and other clubs of the state in an appeal for arbitration, industrial and international; for the appointment of women physicians in the state asylums; the preservation of the great trees of California, and other moral and practical measures. It is also a charter member of the Civic League of Los Angeles.

Two public receptions were given during the year, the honored guests being the Woman's Parliament and the National Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Harriet Taylor. The music section under the able direction of Mrs. Grace Henderson Mathewson, also gave a delightful evening of music in honor of Mrs. John Vance Cheney.

As will be seen in this brief review, the purpose of the club, in addition to its study, is practical work in conjunction with other forces. The Ebell would be a living factor in the advancement of Southern California. In civic work we urge co-operation with other educational organizations. If the single club is valuable to the individual, in still greater measure is Club Federation of value to the community. The Ebell motto is Service--a service which brings self-enrichment through giving; its highest pleasure, the knowledge of its worth.

The Ebell of Los Angeles has been unusually fortunate during the six happy years of its existence, in the selection of presidents whose successive administrations have given constant evidence of the unselfish devotion to the cause of woman's work.

Mrs. H. W. R. Strong, our first president, has been made a life honorary member in recognition of her wise organization and able leadership for three years.

Under Mrs. Clara B. Baker, now Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, our second president, we were established in our present artistic and comfortable quarters.

Mrs. Charles N. Flint, our retiring president, has most faithfully and unselfishly served us for two terms. Under her wise counsel the club has shown a vigorous activity and an eager pursuit of ever enlarging aims. New lines of work have been taken up and money donated to educational and philanthropic purposes.

The successful character of her regime is evidenced by the above report, its flourishing membership and its recognition as an educational factor in our city.

We may safely assume that such successes are prophetic of future triumphs and it is with pleasure we welcome our incoming president, Mrs. W. T. Lewis, who will animate for renewed effort.

Current History Lectures

By

MRS. LOU V. CHAPIN.

First and Third Mondays, 3 p. m.

See Calendar.

The aim of this department is to present for discussion the questions of the day, with a dispassionate summary of the opinions of the world's great thinkers. As politics in all countries rest upon social conditions, an effort will be made to give a clear knowledge of these, especially in reference to international relations. Particular attention will be devoted to civic improvement, educational reform, and all experiments and results in practical sociology and philanthropy.

Arrangements are now pending which will probably enable Mrs. Chapin to give several stereopticon lectures, if desired, illustrating manners, costumes and domestic life in the Orient and the West Indies.

Literature Section

First and Third Thursdays, 10 a. m.

MRS. WILLIAMSON DUNN . Curator.

MISS A. W. WISEWELL . . Secretary.

The work of the year will be the study of some of the English Prose Writers, beginning with Bacon, "the wisest, brightest, meanest of mankind," spending one morning fishing with Walton, meditating with Taylor and gossiping with Pepys; recalling another time the days of the Tattler and Spectator; of Swift, "the most unhappy man on earth"; of Addison, "the best company in the world"; of Steele, "the first of our writers who really seemed to admire and respect women."

Curiously listening to Boswell's stories of the great Johnson; learning to reason with heart from Lamb; and wandering with De Quincey through the mazes of an opium-eater's dream, will pleasantly and profitably occupy some hours.

Carlyle, "the censor of his age"; Macauley, the clearest writer of them all, and the nature-educated Hugh Miller will probably close the year's work.

It is not intended to adhere firmly to this outline, leaving some liberty for straying into pleasant by-ways, aiming only at a thorough knowledge of the subject in hand.

At each meeting a bibliography for the succeeding one will be given.

"The man that hath no music in himself nor is not moved with concord of sweet sounds, is fit for treason, stratagem and spoils. The motions of his spirit are dull as night, and his affections dark as Erebus. Let no such man be trusted.
Mark the music."

De Berny, if she but sign the invitation. She complies. The Countess appears with a receipt in full for Tristan's debt, and recognizes Helène's noble act, claiming her as a daughter, and accepting her as Tristan's
