

FEATURED TEACHERS

by Kathryn Kelly

KIRKLAND

Another new face lurking the halls of LHS this year is Mrs. Kirkland. A graduate of Louisville High School, she now teaches DH work-study. For the past four years, Mrs. Kirkland has been an LD tutor here, but this year she feels she's been given a new challenge.

After high school at Louisville, Mrs. Kirkland attended Bowling Green State University where she earned a Bachelor of Science degree in education.

When asked about the students at LHS now, Mrs. Kirkland replies, "The students haven't changed very much in the time since I graduated."

CHAMBERS

Mrs. Chambers is yet another new teacher to grace our presence this year. A graduate of Perry High School, Mrs. Chambers is a native of Canton. She attended Heidelberg College and has a Bachelor of Arts in education. She is teaching geometry and algebra II.

Mrs. Chambers enjoys teaching here although she states it's been a transitional time for her going from R.G.Drage math teacher to LHS math teacher. She says, "Thanks to the help of staff and students alike, it's been a memorable first year." She relates well with the students here as she feels they have positive attitudes towards their studies.

WARNER

Karen Warner, teaching one class of French I this year, is another new face at LHS. She is from Canton and teaches mainly at the junior high. At the junior high she teaches French I and II and 8th grade math.

Miss Warner graduated from Oakwood High School and attended Malone College where she achieved a Bachelor of Arts in math and French. Since she Teaching industrial arts, metals, graphics, and drafting this year is Mr. Cogswell. Presently living in Massillon, Mr. Cogswell graduated from Medina High School and entered Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. He graduated from Miami with a Bachelor of Science degree in education and entered Kent State University where he earned his Masters degree in education.

COGSWELL

Speaking of Louisville's students, Mr. Cogswell says, "The students at Louisville High School are a very nice group of young people." He also comments that he enjoys teaching at LHS.

DIESE

Mrs. Diese is still another new teacher at Louisville High this year. Originally from Stow, Ohio, Mrs. Diese teaches math and biology here at LHS.

Miss Diese graduated from St. Vincent/St. Mary High School in 1980. From there, she entered the University of Akron. She graduated in 1985 with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in education.

When asked about teaching at Louisville and how she enjoys it she states that she likes LHS just fine. She also says that Louisville's students are good.

teaches only one class here, Mrs. Warner says she doesn't actually feel a part of the staff.

Speaking honestly concerning her view of the students here at Louisville, Mrs. Warner states, "LHS has a small percentage of students who are academically outstanding, a large percentage who are not working up to potential, and another small percentage that aren't interested very much at all in learning."

KAZANICKY

Teaching DH Special Education this year at Louisville Senior High is Miss Kazinicky. Originally from Pennsylvania, she graduated from John F. Kennedy High School. Following high school graduation, Miss Kazinicky went to Kent State University and Walsh College respectively.

From Kent she received a Bachelor of Science degree, and from Walsh she received her Masters degree.

Miss Kazinicky states that she likes teaching at Louisville and that she believes the students here take an interest in both school and community activities.

WILLET

From the junior high this year came Mrs. Willet. She is teaching the LD unit consisting of math, world history, American literature, and American history. Mrs. Willet likes very much teaching here, and she thinks the students are very well-behaved.

A graduate of Timkin High School, Mrs. Willet attended Malone College and gained a Bachelor of Science Degree. Presently, she has her BS plus thirty-two hours. She has also attended Kent and received certification in DH and LD.

McDOUGAL

by John Ofer

Let's welcome Louisville's new German teacher, Miss McDougal. She is a former student of Louisville and attended Heidelberg College receiving her degree in English and German. Continuing her education, she went on to Middleburg College and Kent State earning her Master's in German. While in college, Miss McDougal spent two years studying in Germany and traveling.

She comes from a family of teachers and enjoys coming back to be on the staff with some of her former teachers at the high school. Miss McDougal hopes to meet many of the high school students through her German class.

HIPP

With the new school year came many new faces, and among these is Miss Hipp. While being new here at the high school, Miss Hipp is not new at teaching. For the past four years, Miss Hipp has been spreading her knowledge on the children of Louisville Junior High.

Born in Toledo and raised in Norwalk, Miss Hipp graduated from high school in 1976. She then attended Walsh College and graduated in 1980. Immediately following her graduation from Walsh, she began teaching English at the junior high.

This year Miss Hipp is located in room 233 and teaches vocational senior English and college prep junior English. Miss Hipp states three things she likes about teaching. First is being done at 3:05 in the afternoon. Next is having the summer off. Last is the grammar.

Speaking of the differences between the junior high and the high school, Miss Hipp says, "they have seventh, eighth, and ninth there, and up here there are tenth, eleventh, and twelfth. Also, the ceilings are lower here."

In her spare time, Miss Hipp enjoys reading and snow skiing. She is currently going to Akron University working on her Master's Degree.
