

ARCHIE SMITH, a port-sider with a trick or two up his sleeve, stopped Huntington Central in Friday's second semi-final, fanning nine and scattering five singles. Doug Greenlee's Pony Express grabbed an unearned 1-0 lead in the second on Shelby Conley's walk, Bob Thomas' single and a wild throw past second by Smith, but in return, presented the free-swinging Charles Town club with two runs in the bottom of the inning on two errors and Bill Longerbean's blow to left.

Charley Owens stands up there like the McCoy and powders that ball hard. He wears glasses which could chase the scouts away from the chunky outfielder. He has hit several balls right on the snout.

Archie Smith proved to be a good fielder as well as a good looking pitcher last evening . . . Some are wondering whether Williamson's Lefty Joe Chapman wouldn't be a good hurling choice against Charles Town with all those left-hand hitters.
