

a very good account of the meeting and we are most appreciative of that sort of publicity, which you are so generously giving us from time to time.

Since I cannot throw bouquets without thorns in them, I must point out that it was not Chandler who gave the paper on Air Traffic Control, but a C. W. Carmody (of CAA), who took Chandler's place after the notices were printed. However, that is a small point and the bouquet is none the less sincerely offered.

SBAC Display

Sir:

Would like to offer my congratulations on the very complete and excellent article on the 1954 SBAC show. This is the only good article on the display that I have read this year.

I may say that Aircraft magazine is the best aircraft magazine, bar none, in my opinion. Please keep up the very complete and interesting articles, as I find it very pleasing to read a good magazine.

Air Defence Review

Sir:

I would like to thank you . . . for the . . . copy of the October issue of Aircraft . . .

It was extremely pleasant to read the technically accurate and well laid out article on our Navy and Naval Aviation — by far the best presentation I have seen in an aviation journal.

As you probably well know, Naval Aviation in Canada has had some severe growing pains, and we are not yet permanently established and accepted in the country as a vital part of Canada's defences.

However, sane and well-balanced publicity, of the type that you have been kind enough to give us, will help us immeasurably.

COMMANDER H. J. HUNTER,

Deputy Director of Naval Aviation, RCN

Sir:

I read and enjoyed your fourth annual review of Canada's Air Defences and wish to offer my personal congratulations for a splendid presentation.

Your editorial, in which you outlined the progress made by the RCAF in the past three years was indeed an illuminating insight into the entire expansion program of the RCAF.

I feel you are doing a real service to Canada by presenting articles of this nature and wish you every success in your future endeavours.

AIR COMMODORE H. M. CARSCALLEN,

AOC, Air Transport Command.

Lachine, P.Q.

Sir:

Just a note to say I think you have done an excellent job with your Air Defence Issue. This is the second time in the last little while I have had occasion to comment on your publication and what I said before goes double now: the book has made tremendous strides in the last eighteen months, keep up the good work.

A. R. WILLIAMS,

Assistant to the President,

A. V. Roe Canada Limited

Malton, Ontario.

Sir:

In reply to your letter . . . enclosing a copy of the October issue of Aircraft, may I again compliment you on this annual production, which I am sure is one of the best media from which the Canadian public obtains a factual picture of the RCAF.

AIR VICE MARSHAL J. G. KERR,

AOC, Training Command.

Trenton, Ontario.
