

Home of the Arrow  II
the only piloted replica Avro Arrow

Avro Museum's Research Hub

Employee Search Tips

The Avro Museum's Research HUB is available online via <https://hub.catalogit.app/avro-museum>.

Researchers looking for information may want to try searching for different terms to find all information related to a specific topic including:

Topic	Other terms
For employee's	While we have a "people section", you may find more entries by ensuring you are on the "all records" section first. Try using just last name as the person may be recorded with different initials, first name or alias For married women who may have started at Avro or Orenda prior to being married, also search using their maiden name For Diefenbaker, try Dief as this was often used in stories. As Avro Aircraft Limited & Orenda Engines Limited were both part of A.V. Roe Canada Limited, some records for Orenda employee's may be associated to Avro – this holds true for voting records as well as many people kept their employer listed as A.V. Roe / Avro. We have taken significant efforts to merge known peoples records but you may find a person listed with both their full given names plus an entry with just the initials – as we are able to confirm both entries are for the same person we will try and merge the records. As photos and additional details become available we will try and post these with the biographical entry.

At this time the search options are limited and do not allow you to restrict or filter what you are looking for. Searching for common items such as Avro, Arrow, Jetliner, Canuck, CF-100, CF-105 or key people will result in large results being displayed. Hopefully additional features will be offered down the road.

Individuals using the Research HUB should note that the museum's focus is on A.V. Roe Canada Limited and thus descriptions have focused on the people and projects directly related to Avro & Orenda. Other keywords that are searched for, such as Black Friday, may not be specifically listed and other terms such as layoff or cancellation should be tried. We are not in a position to add all possible cross references but should you have a specific topic that you are unable to find any results, please reach out to us at info@avromuseum.com.

Please note that we are currently validating all data and some records may not yet be posted to the Research HUB. It is believed that between 1945 and 1962 there were likely ~15,000-20,000 employees with Avro Canada and Orenda Engines, currently we have collected about half of these leveraging the work of a number of volunteers and other websites such as AvroLand.ca and always looking for more, if you have details of a former employee please email us at info@avromuseum.com

Where possible we have made the scanned documents searchable using optical character recognition (OCR) tools but due to the poor quality of some of the documents the results may not be perfect.

Terms of Use

Materials on this site were compiled and/or created by the A.V. Roe Canada Aviation Museum Association (Avro Museum) for the purpose of providing the public with information about the people and projects of Avro Canada and Orenda Engines Limited to further out goal to educate the public about the achievements of A.V. Roe Canada Ltd. The term “materials” includes all or any artwork, trademark, information, audio, video and image file.

Copyright remains with the Avro Museum and other copyright owners and protected by the Canadian Copyright Act, and by similar laws in other countries. If you have any objection to “materials” posted because it has not been properly credited or posted without permission and you are the copyright owner, please contact us via info@avromuseum.com with your contact information and link to relevant material.

All researchers and users of the Research Hub and other Avro Museum web sites should be aware that content is posted as originally created as far back as the 1940's and some content may offensive and not be considered appropriate but is provided as a snapshot in history. Content may not reflect the standards of the Avro Museum. Information on this web site may contain technical inaccuracies or typographical errors. Information may be changed or updated without notice.

The Avro Museum makes no representations of any kind regarding the web sites, the “materials” or any portion thereof. The Websites and Content are provided on an “AS IS” and “AS AVAILABLE” basis without warranty of any kind, either express or implied, including but not limited to the implied warranties of merchantability, fitness for a particular use, copyright ownership and/or non-infringement or other third-party proprietary rights. The Avro Museum shall not be responsible or liable for any damages or losses that may occur to you or any third party based on your use of the Websites and/or the “materials”. The Avro Museum may update or take down any Website or any “materials” on a web site at any time.

Users accessing “Materials” for the purposes of review or news reporting are required to acknowledge the source of the material and author's name if known. The source citations should include the URL avromuseum.com.

Indemnity

You agree to release, indemnify, and hold the Avro Museum harmless from all claims, causes of action, allegations, costs, expenses, fees, judgments, liabilities, losses, and damages arising from or relating to your use of the Websites and/or any “materials”.