

rendezvous with jetflight

A new experience in flight awaits the air traveller of tomorrow. The designers, engineers and technicians at AVRO Canada are making sure that your rendezvous with jetflight will measure up fully to your expectations. Only when it has exceeded airline requirements will the Jetliner be made available to interested operators.

The quiet, vibrationless flight of the AVRO Jetliner is cherished with pride by those few whose duties take them aloft on its long and meticulous test program. Carefully the observations of each flight are recorded and checked with the performance standards established by the designers years before.

Its launching but a few months old, nevertheless the Jetliner has already been invited to begin demonstration flights on airlines eager for its speed, safety, quietness and simplified maintenance. AVRO Canada however, continues methodically with the absorbing task of carrying out its arduous test program, confident that the day is fast approaching when the AVRO Jetliner will inaugurate jetflight on this and other continents.
