

when the AVRO Jetliner flies over your home

Sometime soon when you listen quietly in the still of the night you may just catch a faint and distant hum that drifts down from the outer rim of the atmosphere. In a few seconds it will be gone as, high and fast, the Jetliner sifts effortlessly on its way across the sky.

When your opportunity comes to ride in the AVRO Jetliner's pressurized and air-conditioned cabin you will scarcely hear the powerful, thrusting jet engines. Relaxed and restful, feeling no vibration, you will journey in serenity. For Jetflight is safe, and quiet, and comfortable. And test flights for the Jetliner are just around the turn of the year.

Jetflight for air travellers will be available only after exacting tests and refinements have been carefully approved in the Jetliner. When that time comes, and it is approaching swiftly, a pleasant experience awaits you on your first flight in the Jetliner.
