

The Bomarc was one of four projects in the guided missile program for 1950. The surface-to-air missile, manufactured by Boeing, was scheduled for flight tests in 1953. This Bomarc is on its launching stand, ca. 1952-1953.

