

PREPARING for wind tunnel test on jet engine nacelle at Orenda Engines Ltd.'s new Sopwith laboratory.

Research for Mach 2

CREEP testing machine is used by lab for measuring the amount of "creep" when metal is under stress at high temperature:

MACHINE SHOP in instrument lab is equipped to perform ultra-fine work associated with engine test instruments.

READING being taken from mercury columns in the service section of the instrument laboratory. With the completion of the Sopwith Laboratory Orenda Engines Ltd. will have a completely integrated facility for research and development.