Dear Teachers and fellow students, I am in the third form at Queen's College in Nassau, Bahamas.
My English Language class was deeply moved by the death of your teacher and friend, Christa McAuliffe.

You should be proud that she was your teacher. Mrs. McAuliffe died because she was doing something worthwhile for her country, the United States of America. Even though we were not close to her, we share your admiration for the courage she had for going out and exploring new regions of our galaxy. Please accept our extended sympathy.

It will take a long time to get over this tragedy but just remember the good and joyous times each one of you shared with her when she was alive.

May God bless each and every one of you.

Sincerely Yours,

Camille Lynes
