

HAPPY 102nd!

Mayor Mike opens the day with a greeting to all, followed by Elizabeth Brown-Worthington singing the National Anthem.

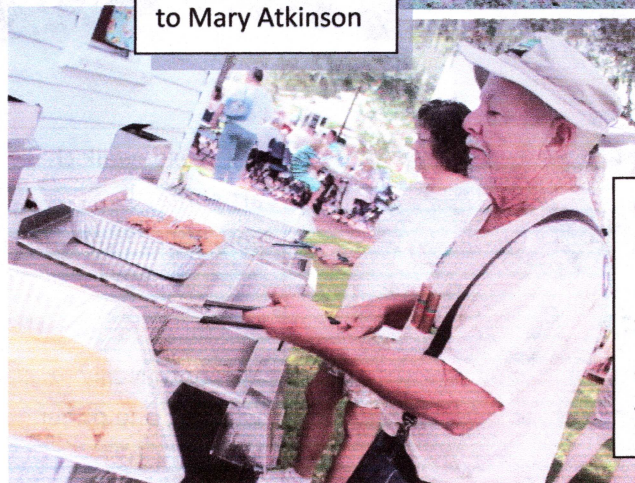

BIRTHDAY BASH 2012

Lynne Brown with Plaque dedicated to Mary Atkinson

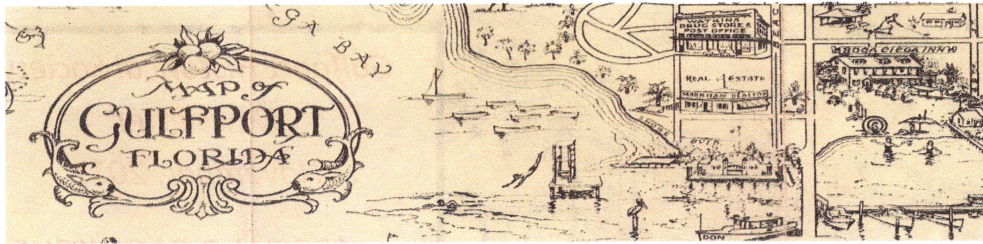

Vice Mayor Sam Henderson flinging a mighty mullet

Christine Brown and Louie Worthington dishing up fish

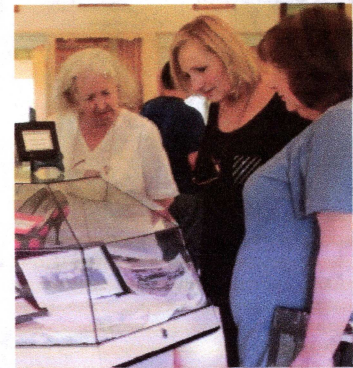

Left: Gene and Marie Gsell and Don Vaughan selling items to benefit the Museum. Right: Vendors of crafts and collectibles lining the sidewalks.

Gulfport Historical Society
Newsletter
November, 2012
SPECIAL 3-PAGE ISSUE

More Birthday Bash Pix . . .

Members of the Mann-Wilson family study the Museum's new display of their family's history in Gulfport. From left, Barbara Hill Wilson; Peggy Mann Weyl (both now and then!); Cindy Wilson Shallow and Nancy Jo McGettrick with Lynne Brown

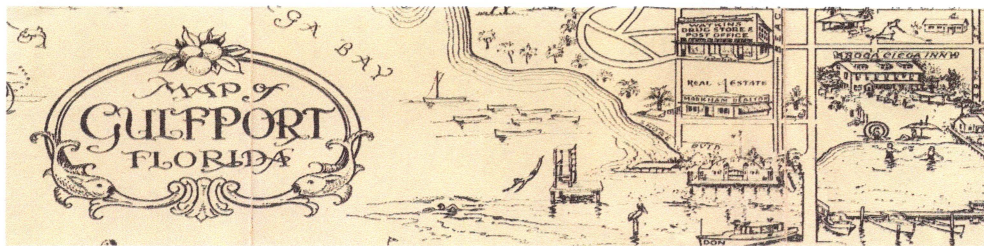

←The sidewalk chalk art contest was colorful as ever.

Elizabeth Neilly → wearing one of her beautiful 16th century costumes

ALL PHOTOS
COURTESY OF
CHERLENE WILLIS
AT PATCH.COM

To all those who came and joined us in the fun, thanks, and on to 103!

*Gulfport Historical Society
Newsletter
November, 2012
SPECIAL 3-PAGE ISSUE*

AND IN OTHER NEWS –

Look for us at Antiques in the Park on Saturday, November 3, an event the Historical Society is co-sponsoring this year. We've saved back a few wonderful things for sale that day: a beautiful old sewing machine with its lovely carved oak table, "ice cream parlor" chairs, military items, very old wooden tools, more cameras of course, and many other amazing bits and pieces of our long history.

HERE'S a great picture from Election Day exactly 60 years ago, a crowd gathered outside Scout Hall, waiting for the polls to open.

Dwight Eisenhower would be elected president.

A WORD FROM OUR PRESIDENT

The Historical Society is co-sponsoring Antiques in the Park this year on Saturday, November 3. We will have a space there - cool weather will make it enjoyable. Hope to see you all there.

Miki

This month's header is from a very special map of Gulfport, drawn in 1938 by Frank Mills

