My very Dear Child,

It affords me great consolation that I have a child who reasons so correctly on the events with which life is chequered, as you do. — I have had too many evidences of the tender attachment of my Catherine to me, to apprehend any future source of pain from her, as far as shall depend on herself, and I trust she will inspire her husband with the sentiments she entertains, In this belief I shall be kind to & cherish both. That I may not experience the pain which my own reflections would create, from a contrary conduct towards them —

It will be necessary for me to proceed to Albany, without stopping with you, but I shall not have been there any considerable time before I do myself the pleasure of paying you a visit.

I shall leave this on Thursday or Friday next — Altho no positive results can be appreciated as to peace or war between Britain and France, yet those who have the best means to direct Administration, believe that Hostilities will soon commence, if not already commenced. —

Embrace my daughter and your children most tenderly for me, Your Sisters all unite in love, with me to you and them, -

May Indulgent Heaven bestow those blessings on You & Yours which are ardently solicited by my Dear Dear Child Yours

Affectionate Parents
