Dear Sir

New York Oct. 28, 1794

Your much esteemed favor by W. Alexander, I received a few days ago, therein contained the Sum of Twenty pounds New York Currency which I placed to the Credit of your account. Agreeable to your request I now send you the Articles you wrote to me for, by Capt. Bogert who sails this day for Albany, under the Care of your friend W. Simon Mabee, who engages to me to Advise you thereof. a bill of those Articles you have Above All Charge'd at Cash price, I flatter myself the Quantity will please you as well as Price, be not alarmed at the Price of the Sugar & Rice, these articles are high & scarce Among us, Sugar in particular, I should have sent you the kind of Sugar you wrote for, but it was not to be had in the City. I am sorry my friend your Order had not been larger at this time as I should have been happy to have executed it for you. if you should want any thing else my friend But in my line you may freely command me ~ Good Wheat now Sells current for 12/4 to 12/6, but whether this price will continue is uncertain, it will much depend on the Continuation of the War in Europe, there is no great probability of a peace taking place next Spring from the latest Accounts ~ Pot Ash current. 50/. Pearl 49/. S. fine flour 64/. Common 60/. cleared no fixed price yet. you may venture 6/. Shall advise you thro' the course of the Winter about the State of our Market, When you want any thing Send your Order shall be readily executed by your friend & very hum. Serv.

John Remsen
