

DURABLE PRINTING INK.

For marking Wearing Apparel, without a previous or subsequent preparation.

Directions for using it.—Let the part of the garment, where you intend printing the name, be free from starch when you make the impression. The same Ink is also calculated for printing on paper, or any other soft and elastic substance: hence the superlative excellence of Stamps with permanent ink will appear so obvious to every person, that the proprietor deems it superfluous to expatiate upon their intrinsic value. Let it suffice, that ladies and gentlemen, to whom they have been exhibited, have generally given them a decided preference over any other mode of marking wardrobes, bedding linen, &c.

The stamp is accompanied with a sufficient quantity of ink to mark one thousand pieces.

FOR MAKING THIS INK.

To 2 ounces of Printers' Ink—add 1 drachm of Lunar Caustic, and 1-8 of a drachm of Corrosive Sublimate.

First dissolve the Caustic and Sublimate in Alcohol; then compound the ingredients together on a Paint Stone.

After marking, let the impression dry for a day in the sun, and give it at least three dry days before washing.
