

Dear Sir,

Anton. April 13 1838.

Captain Leach has arrived in town today, without bringing me any of your favours - he however says you were grumbling at some neglect of mine, without being able to inform me of what particular grievance you have to complain as originating with me, and I am sure I am not Yankee enough to guess. I should have thought you might have given me a hint, as to the news for Christmas - as I have lost no chance, even when most hurried, of writing to you - An Portuguese has gone to Macao, and I am too much engaged at present to say more than that we have had no arrivals of late, either from America or England - vessels have been leaving constantly for both these directions - I have been as far as for as Linton in the Cabot, and engaged the sail much - we ascended the Peak that is Delano & myself - Went to the rear of the Island to shoot Monkseep - and after a days stay returned in a fast Boat But you see how it is - I am not in the right humor for letter writing - you will have received a long story for allay - Fraser - to which I must refer you - and with much regard

Remain, Yours Sincerely
