

Rome Nov 10th 1843.

Dear Father.

We received a few days since a letter from Mother Van Wyck, written by her Secretary Pierre - I have but little to add in addition to my communication to Sister Joanna, respecting our affairs, but am now on a money expedition - In going to housekeeping, just so many articles are needed and nothing less, and then you can add from ^{time} to time, as you have a mind and need. While in the City last, I provided pretty abundantly and paid nearly as I went, so that we now find ourselves most comfortably provided for, but I could praise but little more than $4.50 - and leave a small dec. of about $2.50. I want you Dr Sir, to help me at this time to $100, charging the same to my account, this will relieve me of all immediate demands, upon my purse. & my salary & income will be sufficient for the rest as it comes due, and I do not to ask for any more.
