My dear Fannie

You don't know how much good your kind note has done me. it has taken a weight off my heart greater than you can imagine.
I am really glad to find that there is one of my wife's commissions. ^{which} you look kindly upon me. I know my heart's desires it for I have none other than the kindest feelings towards them, even to those who may have wronged me. Will you not go with ~~me~~ to my home with me this afternoon say 1/2 past 3. or at 4 o'clock. I will come down again with you. You can call for me at my office when you are ready to go. I shall wait for you, he will take a walk after we get up there. I know quite a pretty one which Sarah & myself look forward to. David waits and I am in much haste. you must go with me your very affectionate mother
