

Dear Sir,

Canton June 16th 1838

Gains of the 10th 20th & 21st ult. are all at hand, and command my thanks - a more adequate return I shall have the leisure and opportunity to make before many days - at present it is not in my power.

I have at last the pleasure to enclose your account current balanced by $112.77. which shall be paid over to Russell Sturges & Co and by this ship they will request the ~~London~~ House to pass the same to your credit.

Attached to the 4th Current is a statement of interest - on one or two items you will observe nothing is allowed and that after the first of May it ceased altogether. in explanation I must state, that since that time I have been expecting your draft for $1200, as you had advised me it was your intention to draw for this sum, having some speculation in mind, and for the same reason the amount due Litching was not to be paid for immediately - under these circumstances, not feeling safe to place the money beyond my immediate control, it has been lying idle.

Mr Hunter has not yet paid me the $40. through no doubt will do it when he returns from Macao.

Not having been able to sell the press I take it to my own account & 10¢ which is as much as I shall get for it.

The Chinese Boxes of Teas, with your permission
I will send to your friends in New York

I am drafted for six hundred dollars paid at sight,
though I had not received your letter of advice.

I remain, very sincerely,

Your friend

A. A. Long

Handwritten text in Chinese characters, likely a ledger or account book, organized in vertical columns. The text is written in a cursive style on aged, yellowed paper. The document is divided into sections by horizontal and vertical lines, suggesting a structured layout for recording transactions or data. The characters are densely packed in some areas, particularly in the upper and lower sections, while other areas are more sparse. The overall appearance is that of an old, well-used manuscript.
