My dear beloved child

At four this afternoon my servant delivered me your favor of yesterday

I am distressed to learn that altho my daughter is better, she still indisposed, may Indulgent providence interfere and restore her to complete health is my ardent prayer, and that you & she and my brand children may long enjoy that blessing.

I wrote you by mail on Sunday last advising you that the Award was completed the day before, and I think I mentioned that a copy was made and would be sent to General H. M. M. This has been done and committed to the care of Col. Touch who left this on Monday, with an express on my part to Genl Hamilton to send you every necessary document for your future direction in the affairs

Mr J. A. Thompson has the original award. It was necessary that he should have it as certain surveys thereon specified were to be made before the first day of May next.
If you can possibly go to Claverack, I wish you to make the journey at an early day.
Your uncle James has been extremely ill, and is not yet out of danger, by my advice he has made will, and provision is thereon contained respecting himself on his estates to do whatever he might do if in life. The executors are the Doctor, Genl. Hamilton and Abner Vreckner and yourself.

How do the candidates for the chair of government stand in your country? But I wish apparently more to the north & west of this. I believe the merchants harbor will not be abolished —

My love to Sally & the Children.
I am my beloved Child most affectionately yours
