My dear William

I have just returned from a long walk with a very bad headache to prepare to go to the theatre this evening. I shall have but little time to say what I wish, but I cannot think of letting a ship sail without a line from me if it is ever so bad. Sarah Paris has come to New York for a visit she is going with us. The whole family are to spend this winter with us. I am delighted to think we shall have Aunt and Sarah here again.

Miss Fanny Hemble is engaged to be married to a gentleman of Philadelphia, I believe one of the most respectable families, he is very rich, report says that to night is her last appearance in New York. She is as fascinating as ever. The gentleman's name is Mr Pierce Butler. Sarah Paris says I must tell you she wishes you were here to go with us notwithstanding you used to say last winter you would not take the trouble to walk to the Park. She says she thinks you would be very happy to find yourself seated in the theatre. But perhaps you have plenty of Fanny Hemble's in China. I called to see Sarah Brewster this morning they have just come in town, she was not at home. he called also to see Mr Storow.

Ann Louisa is engaged to be married to a Mr Rogers a man of about forty five years of age who is quite grey. The Blackwells are now in town. I believe Mr Livingston is to be engaged in the iron works at Monroe. They are furnishing up the house and I expect Justina and he intend living there.

Mary has come out and had one large party.

I have not time to write any more. I wish I had for I have a great deal to tell you. Mammy says I must give her love to you. I hope you will answer my letters. Good bye

Your affectionate sister
Catharine
