

Indignant at what appeared to him a shameful retreat Washington rode up to see who was at the head of the first Column and spoke to him with warmth and ~~in reproachful address~~ in reproachful terms. He replied with equal warmth, and since that campaign passed between them. Washington continued on toward the rear of the retreating troops; then which <sup>was</sup> ~~he found~~ clearly proved by the smoke. ~~Passing the~~ ~~great advantages for passing the~~ ~~finding the ground advantageous~~
~~he halted them on an eminence~~ ~~with a word on the rear and~~
~~a word on front, and defended~~
~~by two pieces of cannon~~

Anderson found a ravine for he brought the retreating troops to a halt, and stated that <sup>two Calabazas</sup> under closely covered and Ramsey ~~was~~ ~~was~~ a cover of ~~the~~ wood on the left to protect them from the enemy's cannon. By this time he had then turning to his aide had followed him to demand will you command on this ground or not of you will I will return to the main body and have them joined upon the next height. "It is equal to me where I command," replied Lee.

I expect replied to you will take proper measures for checking the enemy. "Can order," replied Lee shall be done and I will not be the first to leave the field."

A warm cannonade soon followed between their troops and the enemy.

 The British were held in check,
~~during which time~~
~~and Washington had time to~~ during which time Washington ordered Cates main body and joined them on an eminence defended by cannon, having a wood a little in the rear and a morass in front.

They best was in charge of Lord Sterling; when the batteries played on the enemy with great effect, ~~was~~ ~~valuable parties of attacking were~~ ~~detached to oppose them, while~~ ~~General Greene with the right~~ ~~using mortar, oblique and~~ ~~artillery in a command.~~
 They attempted to turn the left flank of the Americans, but were bravely repulsed and driven back by detached parties of infantry.

 They then made a ~~warrent~~ <sup>with the right wing</sup> ~~warrent~~ right but were ~~driven~~ <sup>suddenly made</sup> her appearance with artillery on a commanding height and ~~delivered~~ delivered a most effective fire.
 At the same time ~~the advance of~~ General Wayne with an advanced party kept up a severe and well directed fire which compelled the enemy to ~~retire~~ <sup>be driven</sup> ~~back~~ back ~~to~~ beyond the ravine to the ground which they occupied on the arrival of Gen. Washington.

In this situation both the ~~French~~ <sup>French</sup> were ~~driven~~ <sup>driven</sup> ~~back~~ <sup>back</sup> ~~and~~ <sup>and</sup> ~~driven~~ <sup>driven</sup> and their point could only be
