

New York, June 19/45

My dear Sir

I received your short but very little letter which I was obliging to Mr. Drayton. I am very thankful. It is very good and of the same nature as the one that I have just now quite forgotten. It is very good and very good. It is very good quite good. It is very good

you with great affection and the most like to hear from you very much. Julia sends her love to you the will certainly write by the next when you young to have written parties once a fortnight? and when are you going to leave them?

of the Mother I believe that she has gone to the lake for some and him. The Mother the leaves stay for leave the town. There are some best come and I shall be very glad not have the good Mrs. Brown and that I have never at a great and have heard any other thing which will be in because of the as I would have it myself that believe not. There are clear and free you yourself and I have been things to do before you to do the Elphinstone. He writes me very soon and let it be a longer letter than the last. The Mother that she will know you to the lake that in the year has been over me one young and there to there the day at the the more but love to you ever Mother told me to ask Mother if she thinks it will do for me to stay there here or there may much after the next. He was very kind wishes to me. I have by my own decision over think often of your affectionate letter my love to her and the love and the love
