Boston Friday evening

My Dear Father

I received your letter of the 27th from Albany this afternoon and was happy to hear that you were all well. I wrote to Mamma last Sunday and directed it to Syracuse which I presume must have arrived before you if it went direct. — I gave Gorkham the directions you sent him and he says they have all been attended to the corn is up, the scare crows are made, the rails have been sent to Sing Sing and the other things have all been attended to. — You wished me to write in particular how we all were, well in the first place we are all very well, David & Piers have had vacation this week

Mr Lewis not being in very good order for School keeping, Cortlandt has been to try to to stay I asked him if he heard any News, he said nothing except that the Taylor had forgotten a Note and ran away, Aunt Gardiner are very well and also Eliza and myself Mary Sprague is here with us, but we have scarcely been out of the house since she has been here as we have had a cold North East storm of three days, I do not think of any thing more to inform you of & I will bid you good night, with love to yourself and Mamma in which all join me

Your affectionate Daughter Joanna
