

SENSATION IN STRONGSVILLE.

Murderous Attack Upon a Farmer's Family—Gottlieb Nuller Killed, His Wife Fatally and His Little Son Dangerously Wounded.

Strongsville and Berea are greatly excited over what may prove to be a triple murder. One victim is already dead and two others are likely to die. We have learned of the horrible affair too late to obtain full details but give herewith such facts as we have been able to ascertain.

George Nuller was a middle-aged farmer living in Strongsville township not far from Berea village. His wife and a young son lived at home with him and another son is employed in a foundry in Cleveland. At a very early hour this morning the neighborhood of Nuller's farm was alarmed by the boy, dangerously shot in the breast, calling for assistance. Those who answered to the boy's calls found also, on going to the house, that George Nuller was already dead, having been murdered, and his wife had been shot in the breast and in the back, the latter wound being considered fatal.

We are unable to give the name of the murderer or the cause of the atrocious butchery, our informant being unable to ascertain it amid the general excitement. The gentleman who brought the news to us saw the Constable of Strongsville on a hurried hunt for the murderer but the Constable was in too great haste to stop and tell any particulars. It was learned, however, that the murder was committed about midnight.
