

leford's shop and I saw a little crowd in front of Tom Turner's house. I went across and Tom was standing on the porch with his pistol in his hand, and I asked him what the trouble was. Tom spoke up and said he had killed Butch McCoun. I asked him what he killed him for. He said something about Butch being there that afternoon, and he told him to go away, something of that kind. He said he come back again. He says- my door bell rung and I got up and opened the door and Butch says "I have got you now", and when he said that I throwed my pistol down and shot him."
