STRANGE and INTERESTING FACTS

Fashions in behavior have changed as much as styles in clothes since the 18th century. The proper attitude for the gentlewoman of that period was that of ethereal languor, the inclination to swoon at the slightest provocation, a perpetual state of delicate or it might be termed precarious health, the cultivation of a deathlike pallor.

So universally accepted was this state of being that even the medicos of the time on their frequent ministrations lent serious as well as sympathetic ears to the imaginary symptoms of their ailing feminine patients.

Humor finally came to rescue and saved the day for American women, as attested by present day robust fashions in health, equal suffrage, and activities on a par with men in business, professions, sports and many other forms of endeavor. Even man's exclusive pastime of war has been invaded by women. In several foreign countries regiments of women have been enlisted and trained in the art of modern warfare.

HEN GROWS 1-POUND LIVER

Mrs. C. E. Jett thought she was "seeing things" last week when she began dressing a hen for Sunday dinner.

Instead of the usual small liver to be found in almost any normal hen, weighing about an ounce, Mrs. Jett found a liver that would have done justice to a half-grown calf! Removed and weighed, it tipped the scales at more than a pound.

Now placed in alcohol to be preserved as a local oddity, it occupies most of the space in a quart fruit jar. It is on display at the filling station of Ed F. Hinton—Flemingsburg Times-Democrat.

DANVILLE WATER PLANT IS NEARLY COMPLETED

Completion of work on Danville's new $110,000 intake well, pump house, and pipe line should be made in from three to four weeks after special sluice gate valves are received and installed, according to R. C. Terrell, city engineer.

STATE VETERINARIAN TO TEST MERCER COWS

Under the supervision and direction of the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Department of Agriculture, Dr. L. L. Breeck, Deputy State Veterinarian, of Frankfort, will be in Mercer county for approximately two weeks to make tuberculin tests on cows. Dr. Breeck hopes to test some 800 cows during this time and has asked that all persons desirous of having their animals tested to please leave their names and addresses with County Agent C. F. Park. There is no cost attached to this worthwhile test.

GEM ADDS DANVILLE STORE

The Danville Gem Store has been purchased by R. A. Mullen, of Bellevue, present owner of a chain of Gem Drug stores located in Harrodsburg, Eminence, Lexington, Richmond and Winchester. The present management will continue in force. Mr. Mullen said in announcing the purchase.
