HISTORY

When we returned from our summer vacation in the fall of '46 we found Mr. Delbert Cunningham as principal, Miss Vivian Isham, Miss Frances Cox and Mrs. Mildred Byars were here to guide us through our first year of high school. There were 18 members of our class that year, but Roy Perkins left to become a seaman and Bobby Hahn moved to Lexington.

Entering our Sophomore year we found Mildred Payton had left and Kathalene Stratton declined to continue her education with us. Later that year Betty Sizemore moved to North Carolina and Thomas Roney and T. Watts decided to make farming their career. To make up for this decrease, Ralph Rigsby from Crab Orchard and Nannie Perkins from Rose Hill came to be with us. Miss Mildred Stratton came to fill the vacancy left by Miss Vivian Isham.

During the summer between our Sophomore and Junior years Imogene Cole left to become Mrs. Alvin Drury and Miss Frances Cox became Mrs. Carl McGaughey.

We started our Junior year with 13 members and Miss Marjorie Moss replacing Mrs. Mildred Byars. Billy Peavler from Rose Hill also came to join us. This year was climaxed by the production of "Arron Slick" by our class.

Entering into our Senior year we found Betty Cunningham and Donald Barker had left to enter Lewrenceburg and Harrodsburg respectively. Mrs. James Towler came to fill the vacancy of Miss Marjorie Moss. And this 12 ambitious seniors, W. H. Cunningham, Delbert Harlow, Billy Hockersmith, Bennett Morris, Arlene Parker, Billy Peavler, Nannie Mae Perkins, W. R. Riley, Ralph Rigsby, Geraldine Springate, J. B. Stratton and Gladys Mae Tinsdall are looking into a new and more difficult period known as future.

CLASS POEM

Goldilocks could be her name,
Singing songs has won her fame
Arlene Parker is a sweet little girl but
Davis Hahn thinks she's a great big pearl

Ralph Rigsby, tall and athletic
Enjoys life and is energetic
His personality is very pleasing
Since he is always joking and teasing.

W. R. Riley with no delay
Will glide through life in a Chevrolet.
The second mile he'll surely go
An someone nice, he's grand to know.

This little girl, we all agree
Is quite a whiz at history,
Geraldine Springate, our school reporter
Has a personality made to order.

Billy Peavler, allergic to books,
It's plain to see we like his looks.
As one of our class we think he's on top
With winning ways that will never stop.

Gladys Tindall known as Stupid,
Is very fond of the work of Cupid.
She yells until her throat is sore
Every time Bobby Freeman makes a score,

W. H. Cunningham is a mathematical whiz;
He keeps the teachers in a fiz.
He'll always tease you, if he can;
Maybe someday he'll be a great man.

Bennett Morris, the captain of the team,
To get that rebound, he's on the beam.
Studious and peaceful and quite concerned
For that diploma he's a long time yearned.

Nannie Perkins is a busy little gal,
But she takes time to be your pal;
She gets her lessons and never cheats,
The rest of the class she usually beats.

Billy Hockersmith is a question box,
He wears size twelves in a pair of sox.
A cute little grin he always wears,
Jokes of the class he often bears.

Delbert Harlow is a very quiet boy,
He keeps every one filled with joy.
He has blond hair and pretty blue eyes;
Lawrenceburg girls look, then sigh.

J. B. Stratton is Stringtown bound;
There the girl of his dreams he's found.
Arguing in class is his delight;
He'll always bark, but seldom bites.

PROPHECY

"I dreamed a dream dear, You dreamed one too."

Dreams. What a lot of information can be gained from dreams.

Mrs. Hertaline Hockersmith, whom we feel has done so much in forwarding our education, dreamed the following dream about the class of '50. This is her interpretation of the dream:

I saw this class in the year of '65. Some were famous, in fact many were,, but beneath all the polished diginity I saw the boys and girls I loved so well."

First is a farmer, straw hat and all. Happily married too. Five children. You'll have to raise lots of beans and taters boy. Just look at that smile. Anyone would know BILLY HOCKERSMITH.

Here is a teacher, at least I think he is. He has a big long switch in one hand and a piece of chalk in the other. What does he have around his neck? Oh I see, it's a refree's basketball whistle. He must still be continuing with his favorite sport. Who is this master? BENNETT MORRIS.

Goodness, who is that dignified lady? My, she sure looks fine. Is that a monacle in her hand? What on earth does she mean by making that noise? She must be in terrible pain. No, I see she is doing scales, it sounds like a dog howling, but she must be a famous vocalist. I read we were due to have one make us a visit. Now I see who it is, and I bet she still chews bubble gum even if she is famous. There comes a bubble. I told you so. I don't have to tell you this. It's GERALDINE SPRINGATE.

LUM and ABNER, I always enjoyed listening to them, bless their little hearts, bl-e-s-s his little heart. They must be worn to a frazzle—worn to a fr-a-zz-le with reading all those books. Lum is studying the stars, trying to decide whether it is time to get married. What's that Abner? Your mother's a fish. What fun they are. Who are they? W. R. RILEY and J. B. STRATTON.

What a prissy little secretary. What's she carrying? A bunch of keys, a bottle of milk, a bottle of vitamins, overshoes and an umbrella. Take good care of that boss. He's very necessary to your job. Guess who? GLADYS TINDALL.

Something smells good. Oh boy, I'm hungry, aren't you? They have a new cook over at the Inn. They say he's wonderful. His cooking I mean, to say nothing of his curly hair. BILLY PEAVLER.

Oh. . . .

What's that noise? Is someone ill? Oh!oh! There it goes again. Someone must be very sick. Yes, here comes the doctor. He's in a terrible hurry. Watch out Doc., you'll break the thermometer. I wonder if someone has eaten Billy's cooking, but Doc. will fix them up. He gives such nice medicine, always pink and strawberry flavoring. Who's the doctor? RALPH RIGSBY. M. D.

PROPHECY

Hello! Hello! Operator! Operator! Give me. . . You can't hear me? Give me. . . Deposit a nickel, I'll do no such thing. You give me. . . Operator, will you stop talking to someone named Myrtie. Who's Myrtie anyway? You don't give out that information. Who cares. Give me 2371, operator. I want the school. What school? Salvisa High School of course, what other school is there. You don't give out that information. Who asked you for that information anyway? Goodbye. That operator ARLENE PARKER.

What's that noise. This is the noisest dream. More like a nightmare. There's that noise. It sounds like a fog horn. They haven't moved the Great Lakes have they? Oh, now I understand, it's the sound effects man practicing for a program on the local radio station. There he is now. B_____ O_____ DELBERT HARLOW.

Who is that teaching Sunday School? What a lesson. The children of Israel got drowned in Salt River. Can I believe my ears. Pharoah's daughter done 'dopted George Washington, and that's why he discovered America. Now, I see, it's April First and she's up to her old tricks. NANNIE PERKINS.

Blow that whistle and get on the track. I mean get off the track, for here comes old 37. Watch her go. And who does that steady hand and brave eyes belong to. The grandson of Salvisa's one engineer, W. H. CUNNINGHAM.

That train woke me up but I don't care, I'd much rather live in 1950 with that wonderful class."

—Hertaline Hockersmith

CLASS WILL

The Senior Class of 1950 do hereby leave their last will and testament to the Junior Class of 1950, hoping they will use this inheritance to carry on the work of our dear school.

J. B. Stratton leaves his ability to go to Stringtown and Lawrenceburg, to Sonny Poulter.

Bennett Morris leaves his position as center on the basketball squad to Jimmy Goodlett. You'll have to eat lots of spuds Jimmy.

Ralph Rigsby leaves his ability to fight on the bus to Zelma Perkins.

Billy Hockersmith leaves his funny giggle to Cora Durr. Beware of Miss Stratton, Cora.

To George Chrisman, Delbert Harlow leaves his war whoops.

Nannie Perkins leaves to Lena Belle Click and Betty Preston, her surplus energy, since she has enough for two.

Billy Peavler leaves his ability to be late for school to Myrtle Spaulding. Much cheaper this way Myrtle, you don't have to buy an alarm clock.

W. R. Riley leaves his driver's license to Ada Bruce Gash.

To Charles Gorham, Arlene Parker leaves her singing career.

W. H. Cunningham leaves his mathematical brain to Bobby Freeman.

Gladys Tindall leaves her cheerfulness to Patsy Grimes and Kathryn Robinson.

To Marvin Perkins, Geraldine Springate leaves her desk by the radiator. Don't put too much paper behind the radiator Perk.

BASKETBALL

The beginning of the season found the Salvisa squad with the same boys of the last year's team. With the advantage of another year of experience the team was off to a flying start on October 14, by winning from Buckeye with a score of 59 to 32. We went on to win from McAfee and Mackville with the scores of 40 to 25 and 41 to 35 respectively. We were defeated in the next two games by Anderson and Willisburg. With these two defeats the Dragons got underway and won the next four games.

Then on December 21 we traveled to Waynesburg where we were defeated by the score of 26 to 35. The rest of the season was finished with seven wins and three defeats.

Besides the regular season Salvisa participated in the County and District Tournaments. Salvisa went to the County Tournament heavily favored to win and did just that by defeating Rose Hill in the semi finals and McAfee in the finals.

In the District, Salvisa drew a first round bye placing us opposite Midway in the quarter finals. We were defeated in a hard fought game with the score of 68 to 40. Although we played only one game in the District Tournament, Bennett Morris, our senior center, was selected on the All-District Team and he received a gold basketball.
