

INJURY IS FATAL TO MERCER MAN

Automobile Driver Charged With Manslaughter Following Death Of Robert Sanders.

Funeral services for Robert Sanders, 28 years old, formerly of Mercer county, who died early Thursday morning at the Kentucky Baptist Hospital in Louisville of a skull fracture suffered July 19 when the wagon he was driving for the Kentucky Daniels, Louisville, was struck by an automobile, were held at 2 o'clock

Saturday afternoon at the residence in Louisville, followed by interment in Resthaven Cemetery there.

Sanders is survived by his wife, Mrs. Marcella Sanders; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Sanders, of Mercer county; three sisters, Miss Elva Sanders, Mrs. Alvin Robinson, and Mrs. Irvin Royalty, and four brothers, Owen Sanders, William Sanders, Dan Sanders and Ralph Sanders.

Charges of reckless driving and assault and battery against the driver of the automobile, Cecil Satterfield, 30, of DePauw, Ind., a traveling salesman, have been continued in the Louisville police court to September 12. The charge will be changed to involuntary manslaughter. Members of the Louisville police accident prevention squad reported that Satterfield apparently went to sleep and his car struck the rear of the wagon, throwing Sanders to the street. The horse ran away and was halted a block away after the wagon overturned.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT
SAYS "I HATE WAR"
Newspaper correspondents who have covered every speech President Roosevelt has made in recent years said that the paragraph in which he described war in his address at Chautauqua, N. Y., August 14, was the most forceful literary style and the most powerful description that the chief executive ever accomplished.

The paragraph:
"I have seen war. I have seen war on land and sea. I have seen blood running from the wounded. I have seen men coughing out their gassed lungs. I have seen the dead in the mud. I have seen cities destroyed. I have seen 200 limping, exhausted men come out of line—the survivors of a regiment of one thousand that went forward 48 hours before. I have seen children starving. I have seen the agony of mothers and wives. I hate war."

The Peacemakers

THE establishing of peace among the nations needs the efforts of individual thinkers, as well as the efforts of national governments and international councils. The statesmen who are striving for a solution of the problems of today are appealing more and more to the conscience of mankind. There is a pressing demand for peoples of all nations to consider world problems from the standpoint of right thinking, and to bring to them the healing influence of right thought. In order to do this one cannot ignore the seriousness of world problems, nor be ignorant of the spiritual remedy which alone can solve them.

Men everywhere need enlightenment in order that they may recognize spiritual values. There is great need of a keen, awakened thought on social justice, a justice which is concerned not alone with one's own country, but which also recognizes the rights of other countries and other peoples. The world is still going through a process of civilization, and that civilization alone will endure which is founded on true Christianity. This line of argument is strongly opposed by those who believe that war plays a necessary part in civilization, and who point to the conquest of ancient kingdoms by means of superior physical force. But enlightened public opinion is more and more regarding war as a relic of barbarism, a crude and uncivilized method of settling differences between peoples.

Today it is more widely recognized than ever before that war is not the true way to solve problems, and that this way adds more problems to the burdened shoulders of humanity. In disputes between nations, fear is the chief difficulty, and right thinkers in every country can help the situation by striving to eliminate fear from their own and others' thoughts.

An inheritance which is common to all humanity is the ability to "let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus" (Philippians 2:5). In this way of Christianly scientific thinking lies the solution of world problems, economic, social, and civil. On this basis, the right thinkers of every nation are united in purpose to serve humanity's highest interests. The substance of such a brotherhood is love, expressed in tolerance, forbearance, patience, and forgiveness. Above the tumult of the nations the spiritually enlightened hear the "still small voice" of Truth, which is ever speaking to the receptive heart.

In the book of Revelation we read (2:26), "And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations." As more and more Christianly scientific thinkers ally themselves with the forces of righteousness and stand for them in their own community, the more will such thinking be represented in national councils, and become formidable in meeting the claims of greed, selfish patriotism, and autocracy. In "The First Church of Christ, Scientist, and Miscellany" (p. 281) Mary Baker Eddy cites "as our present need, faith in God's disposal of events." And she adds: "Faith full-pledged, soaring to the Horeb height, brings blessings infinite, and the spirit of this orison is the fruit of rightness—on earth peace, good will toward men." On this basis the brotherhood of all peoples is established; namely, on God, one Mind, and "Love thy neighbor as thyself," the basis on which and by which the infinite God, good, the Father-Mother Love, is ours and we are His in divine Science."

The times demand a wider vision of the world's need, a more active participation in spiritual enlightenment, a broader outlook of common brotherhood. This wider vision can be found only in the Christianly scientific knowledge of God as Father-Mother. The prophet Micah proclaimed that "the mountain of the house of the Lord shall be established in the top of the mountains," and of the results of such establishment he prophesied that God "shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more" (Micah 4: 1, 3).

In the face of present-day problems, fulfillment of the above prophecy may perhaps seem unattainable or far-off, but spiritual thinkers in every land need all the more to have faith in the certainty of God's just and loving government, and gain more understanding of the facts of His omnipotence and ever-presence.

Indians Used Trephining

Trephining among the Indians was a practical surgical operation, designed to relieve pressure against the brain from a skull fracture, and to remove bone splinters. It also is believed possible that the holes were bored in skulls, at times, to let out evil spirits causing headaches.

CHILD DROWNS IN NEIGHBOR'S POND

Only Child of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Horn Is Victim Of Tragedy Near His Home, Danville Road.

General distress was expressed here over the tragic death of John C. Horn Jr., the bright ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Horn who was drowned Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock in a pond near his home in the city suburbs on the Danville highway. After playing in his yard with several neighbor children named Noel the group went to a pond on the adjacent farm of Elmore Mills, a pool constructed by damming a ravine. John C., who had on his bathing suit, waded into the water and stepped unexpectedly into depth too great for him, and according to the children, never came to the surface again.

The Noel girl ran for Mrs. Horn who sped to her son's rescue and searched for him in water up to her shoulders, but her efforts were futile. The children then summoned aid from the place of another neighbor, Nathie Ison, and Arthur Martin, an assistant, ran to the pond, and after leading Mrs. Horn from the water for fear she would collapse, he began a systematic search and finally found the little fellow at the bottom of the pond. Mrs. Ison had meanwhile summoned several physicians whose efforts to resuscitate the little boy were in vain. It was thought the child had been in the water about 25 minutes before he was lifted to the surface.

In hastening to the pond the shortest way Mrs. Horn badly lacerated one of her hands on a barbed wire fence, and was given anti-tetanus treatment by her physician. The injury is improving.

The boy, a general favorite with everyone, was a manly little fellow, an honor-roll pupil at the Harrodsburg graded school, and a regular and interested attendant at the Sunday school of the United Presbyterian church. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Horn, Sr., two grandparents, Mrs. Sarah Horn and Mr. Tom Phillips, and a number of other relatives.

The funeral, which was largely attended, was conducted at the residence Saturday afternoon by the Rev. T. Hassell Bowen, pastor of the Christian church, assisted by Rev. George B. Thompson, of Providence Presbyterian church at McAfee, and Rev. Horace Kingsbury, of the Christian church at Lancaster. Burial was in Spring Hill cemetery.

Active casketbearers were Andrew Williams, James Burton Ison, Elmore Mills, Jr., James Mills, Will Russell Horn and William Horn. Honorary bearers were members of his Sunday school class, those present being Emily Walter, Jane Threlkeld, Loraine Smith, Nancy Woods, Meredith Moore, Kenneth McDonley and Sloan Eastland, Jr., others who were invited to act being absent from town.
