MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT
OPENED WITH OYSTER STEW

Local Legionnaires To Stress Peace,
Add To Membership In Mapping Year's Activities.

Mercer County World War veterans and members of Douglas Laws Post of the American Legion met Tuesday night in the new Legion quarters on Main street and heard District Commander Stanley Trent, Lawrenceburg and John R. Settles, secretary and publicity director of the state department, in a meeting that was held for the purpose of acquainting members with the new hall. Members and guests were first treated to a real oyster stew dinner, prepared by "K. P." members and enjoyed Lawrence Buzzard's string band.

County Judge Charles T. Corn was the first introduced by Commander Bryan Board and in fitting words and his usual oratorical brilliance, expressed gratification that the Post had acquired their new quarters and said he would be a "frequent visitor at meetings."

Former State Commander Bacon Moore, D. M. Hutton and George Biggerstaff, of Harrodsburg and Louisville, were other speakers on the program.

District Commander Trent urged that every veteran in Mercer become affiliated with the Legion Post. He described the work of the Anderson Post, which in the past three years has had great success in conducting the Lawrenceburg fair, and promised to return often with Anderson county legionnaires to meetings here.

Mr. Settles outlined in rapid fire manner several points in the Legion platform for the coming year, stressing points in the Legion peace platform recently adopted at the Cleveland convention. At the conclusion of the meeting, he signed several new members and aided local Legion officials in taking dues and signing members up for the coming year. Work the Legion is doing in behalf of widows and orphans of war veterans which Mr. Settles pointed out was never publicized, was also described.

Efforts will again be made to make the Harrodsburg Legion post an honor post in membership increase this year in the State Department, it was said at the meeting. The Legion roster at present contains approximately 100 names, while there are over four hundred veterans in Mercer county, Commander Board explained.

A feature of the program was the rendition of several violin solo numbers by William Mathews, "Bill," as he is better known to all, also led in group singing of America and his numbers on the violin drew long rounds of applause.

$30,000 SUIT FILED AGAINST SOUTHERN R. R.

Damages To That Amount In Death
Of Charles Baker From Injuries
In Collision.

4 MEN IN CAR THAT
STRUCK MOVING TRAIN

One Man Killed Instantly, Two Others
Who Were Injured In Same Wreck Recovered.

Suit for $30,000 damages against the Southern Railway has just been filed at the office of Circuit Clerk P. B. Smalley by T. O. Baker, administrator of Charles Baker, who died as the result of injuries suffered when a car in which he was riding collided with a freight train about 2:10 in the morning of Sunday, April 19. The suit will come up at the October term of the Mercer circuit court which opens Monday.

The suit sets out that Baker, 25, was a guest in the car owned by Fred Harlow, 37, and driven by Homer Yates, 21, and that the car was struck by a freight train "being operated in a careless and reckless manner," and Baker was dragged along the track and suffered injuries which caused his death, and that being a young man able and willing to work and an experienced farmer, his estate through his death sustained a loss to the amount sued for.

Baker, Harlow, Homer and Claude Yates, the latter 16, were leaving the city in the early morning hour of April 19, and their car ran head-on into a moving freight train at the corner of College and Factory streets, and was dragged by the moving train two squares to North Main. Harlow was killed instantly, Baker died a few hours later at the A. D. Price Memorial Hospital. Homer Yates, who suffered a broken leg, bruises and lacerations, and Claude Yates injured eye and cuts, both recovered.

Con. Ralph Gilbert, Shelbyville, and Charles Matherly, this city, are attorneys for Baker. The Southern Railway has not yet filed its demurrer to the suit.

HIGH-COURT HAS MOOT QUESTION

Appeals Body Asked To Rule On Case At McAfee Whether Child
May Visit Her Mother.

The court of appeals was asked Tuesday to determine if a child may visit her mother without the intervention of her other children, and if so do courts have the right to intervene to enforce such a right.

The question arose in a case from McAfee, Mercer county. Mrs. Mattie Reed Carter obtained an order from Mercer circuit court permitting her to visit her mother, Mrs. Mattie Reed, of McAfee, without interference from two other children of Mrs. Reed, the Hon. Thomas P. Reed and Miss Nell Reed.

Attorneys for T. P. Reed and Miss Reed appealed the case to the court of appeals on the grounds that an agreement to allow one to visit the mother was not within the province of the courts to enforce.

Attorneys for Mrs. Carter cited an agreement between their client and her brother and sister to permit Mrs. Carter to visit her mother if she did not disturb or molest the brother and sister.
