THE HERALD

DUGANSVILLE

(Mrs. Claude Davenport, Cor.)
(Delayed)

While Mr. A. L. Stratton was gone to church Sunday morning his children gathered at his home near Dugansville to celebrate his seventy-fifth birthday. When he and Mrs. Stratton returned from church he was surprised to meet his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren singing "Happy birthday to you." Entering the dining room he saw the tables well laden with many good things to eat including besides meats and vegetables, 20 dishes of salad. The birthday cake, with 75 candles baked by Mrs. Fred Stratton, graced the center of the table, surrounded by 10 others. All of the children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren were present except Mr. and Mrs. Abe Stratton and daughter, of Lexington, and Mr. Maurice Stratton, of Chaplin. Those present were: Mable Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Edwards, Mr. C. E. Pinkston, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stratton and son, Harry, of Chaplin; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Stratton and children, Evelyn, Junior, and N. B. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Foster and children, Owen, Rosamond, Marvin and Emma, Mr. and Mrs. Overton Newby, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Robinson and children, Doris, Beatrice, Hilda and Frances June, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stratton and daughters, Anna Jean and Esther Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Vernice Pinkston and daughters, Joyce and Sarah Frances, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stratton and children, Charles and Barbara Jean, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Drury and children, Roy E., Bobby and Betty Sue, Mrs. N. B. Stratton and Miss Joe Stratton, Mr. Onis Robinson, Mr. Nick Keeling and Mr. Horace Adkinson. The total present being fifty.

In the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. James Gray were callers. We feel like God has blessed this large family by allowing the parents to live to a ripe old age. In May Mr. and Mrs. Stratton celebrated their 50th anniversary. To this union came 11 children to bless; two are dead, one daughter, Nellie, died in infancy, the other, Mrs. C. E. Pinkston died 27 years ago at the age of 20. They have 9 children, 20 grandchildren and 7 great-grandchildren living.

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Grider on Sunday, Sept. 13, with well-filled baskets to celebrate his 29th birthday. A most enjoyable day was spent. Those present were: Rev. John Moore, Salvisa; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Grider and children, J. B. Norman and Elvanda, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Grider and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Grider, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wood, of Anderson county; Mr. and Mrs. John Grider, Mr. and Mrs. Lois Grider and family, Mrs. George Cornish, Miss Madie Cornish and Mr. Worley Cornish, of this place; Mr. Erastus Cornish, Miss Ethelyn Riley, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Satterley and Mrs. Roberta Griffey and baby.

Louis XIV's Bathub

Louis XIV's bathtub, exhibited at Versailles, measures 10 feet 6 inches across, weighs ten tons and is a charming shade of bouddoir pink. For the last 200 years the tub had been passed from owner to owner, most of the period in France. At one time it belonged to Mme. de Pompadour who used it for the central attraction in a rock garden. It was found at le Vesinet and returned by the Ministry of Beaux-Arts to the Palace of Versailles. The great weight of the bathtub is caused by its architectural ornamentations, which are an integral part of the tub itself.

Home of Seabirds

Venice has been called the "Queen of the Adriatic" and the "Serene Seaport," but its oldest name was the "Sea-Birds' Home." Long before the Huns swept down on Italy there was a small population, the aboriginal Venetians, occupying the estuary, of whom Cassiodorus, secretary of Theodoric the Great, has left us a picture. The Huns drove refugees from Padua, Aquileia and other mainland cities to the lagoons to found a republic among the sea birds.

Old Adriatic City

Murano has been the center of the Venetian glass industry for 700 years. Here was the art school that gave us Bellini, Tintoretto, Giorgione and Titian, but there is little to see now besides the glass collection at the Palazzo Comunale and the decaying cathedral.

Vast Pacific Lands

The various sectors of the Asiatic side of the Pacific basin contain an area of 7,500,000 square miles; those of the American side nearly 3,000,000 square miles—altogether 10,000,000 square miles of ocean, over one-fifth of the land surface of the entire earth.
