TWENTY - ONE YEARS AGO

June 25, 1915
Mrs. Susan Raney, 75 years old, was instantly killed Wednesday when she was struck by a train at Burgin, as she attempted to cross the track, evidently not seeing the approaching train.

H. V. McChesney, of Frankfort, a candidate for governor of Kentucky, spoke here Friday in the interest of his race.

The trustees of the high and graded schools announce they will establish a domestic science department at the school next fall.

Teachers elected for next term are J. G. Prather, superintendent; J. C. Johnson, principal; Misses Nellie Shearin, Cora Morris, Elsie Joplin, Carrie Whitnack, Nell Wortham, Rowena Johnson, Alma Morgan, and Elizabeth Green.

A big delegation of local business men attended the Central Kentucky Retail Merchants association in Nicholasville Wednesday. James L. Isenberg and N. L. Curry were on the program for talks.

Forty-six citizens have signed as backers for a Harrodsburg base ball team to play during the summer, and a number of others are expected to become backers.

A Midsummer Fete will be given in Graham Springs park July 2 for the benefit of the A. D. Price Memorial Hospital. There will be a number of attractions, such as dancing on the green by children, a pantomime "Pandora's Box," by an older group of girls, refreshment and other things.

Hectic Days Sleepless Nights

Miss Currier relieved of nervous days and sleepless nights.

Christene Lanier finds Nervine best nerve medicine she ever used.

Miss Redman takes Dr. Miles Nervine when ever she feels restless.

IF YOU are nervous today, you probably will not sleep well tonight. If you don't sleep well tonight, you will probably be nervous tomorrow.

Don't allow yourself to become nervous. Take Dr. Miles Nervine. It will relax your tense nerves and let you get a good night's sleep.

Irritability, Restlessness, Sleeplessness, often lead to Nervous Headache, Nervous Indigestion, Hysteria—sometimes to a nervous breakdown and organic trouble.

Some of the people, whose letters are printed below, were as nervous as you are—possibly more so—yet they have found relief.

Three years ago I was so nervous I could not bear to go out in company and could not sleep nights. A friend recommended Dr. Miles Nervine. I now enjoy myself thoroughly and sleep every night. Miss Juliette Currier, New Market, N. H.

I have used Dr. Miles Nervine in liquid form and find it the best medicine for the nerves I have ever used.

Christene Lanier, Middleton, Tennessee
Whenever I have over-indulged and feel restless I take one or two Nervine Tablets just before I retire. In the morning when I awake I feel like a new person and can go about my work as usual. Dr. Miles Nervine Tablets quiet your nerves, brace you up and are the simplest, most convenient tablets to take I have ever found.

Miss Grace Redman, St. James, Minn.
Before using your Nervine I was very nervous and irritable. Since I have started to take it I feel so much better that my family notice the difference. I still take it from time to time and the good result is wonderful.

BRUCE BARTON Says:

THE RACE GOES ON

You have read, of course, the story of the French Revolution. Riot and pillage swept through Europe's noblest city; proud necks were bowed upon the block; the gleaming knife descended; wise heads and beautiful heads rolled together into the basket.

Ask almost anybody the question: "How many met death by the guillotine?" and the answer probably will be: "Tens of thousands."

Recently I had occasion to look up the figures. It appears that in the fifteen months from March 1793 to June 1794, 1251 men and women were sent to the guillotine in Paris. The highest computation that we make of the increase in the death rate in the city in that period is that it rose from 27.8 per thousand to a round 30—nothing to be compared with what an influenza epidemic or a list of automobile casualties can do in this country today.

France was as near to chaos as any modern country has been at any time. Yet even through this chaos we must assume that bakers rose early and fired their ovens, the butcher slaughtered his animals, the grocer chaffered with the farmers, the mothers scrubbed the faces of their children and packed them off to school. The actors played in the theatres; the people walked the streets.

I was quoting these historical facts recently to a rich and appalled gentleman who had been arguing that the United States is about to come to an end. I said: "You confuse your personal fortunes with the fate of the nation. You are going to lose some money, perhaps, but the country is not going to die. People will keep on getting married, having babies, telling lies, engaging in silly quarrels and drinking too much coffee, just as they always have done. You and I, who have had things easy up to now, may not be quite so comfortable. But the race goes on."

Meet a "Most Abundant Life"

When the market crashed in the fall of 1929 I happened to be visiting a rich man who, though still fairly young, had about made up his mind to retire. In four days two-thirds of his fortune was swept away; he knew that his plans for his life would have to be radically revised. At breakfast on the fifth day he came up smiling. "I'll have to keep at work," he said. "I thought the thing through, and adjusted my mind to it." Then he added: "After all, retiring is just one form of suicide."

I thought of that extraordinary comment the other day when I met a man who has been retired always. He is now in his early fifties; he is married, but has no children; his health is good, and his income, probably between $12,000 and $15,000 a year, is derived from government bonds which he bought with money left him by his father.

After graduating from college he "worked" for a short time in the family business, but with no enthusiasm, and when his father passed away he promptly took his share of the estate and has done nothing ever since. In the summer he drives to New England where he has a little farm. He has no interest in any of the arts, pays no attention to the advancement of science, does hardly any reading, and takes no part in politics.

His income being tax-exempt he makes no contributions to the expenses of government, and having carefully guarded against the incidence of off-spring, he has no care for the future of the race. In fact the only spark of interest he showed during our conversation was when he told me that he had at last found why the grass would not grow around the borders of the pond on his farm.

Here is a chap who has what one might call the "most abundant life." But why was he born at all? What's it all about? He is the dullest man I have ever met.

DO'S AND DON'TS OF POISON IVY

Each summer brings its round of aggravations. An attack of ivy poisoning may be one of yours. You picnic, clad in light airy, and very wholesome garments; you sit on, or handle the venomous plant; you are in for it if you are all susceptible.

Some writers claim that you cannot be affected unless you bruise the leaves of the ivy on some part of the person. I believe this is an error. Rarely does a picnicer or fisherman bruise these leaves on his face and the face is the surface most frequently affected.

Other writers say that people who are very sensitive to this plant may become poisoned by simply walking through a forest where the "poison-vine" is in bloom. I am satisfied that I have treated such cases.

A new suggestion is that we carry a small bar of good soap with us on our woodland excursion; on being "stung" by a bruised leaf, soap and wash the point of contact thoroughly and no poisoning will result, they say. It's worth trying.

The chemical poison from ivy is toxicodendric acid. It is said to be volatile—that is, may evaporate in air. Being an acid, alkalis are useful in treatment. My favorite prescription for quick results is alcohol and lime-water, equal parts. Apply on soft cloths, wet with the solution, which should be kept out of the eyes. The solutions of lead salts are useful, but I have always feared lead absorption. Lead should never come in contact with the eyes, except by advice of the oculist. It may do great harm. The poison-ivy patient should keep the hands free from salve laxatives and keep away from strong light or extreme surface heat. Recovery should follow in two to four days.

125 TONS OF PAPER USED TO PRINT BONUS BONDS

Preparations to pay 3,500,000 World War Veterans' bonus bonds totaling $1,824,000,000 presented the Federal Bureau of Engraving and Printing with a stupendous job. One hundred and twenty-five tons of paper were required for printing. The same process used in printing of currency was employed.

The bonds are printed in black on white paper with a greenish tint and were featured by an engraving of Andrew Jackson.

Printing was the greatest rush job the Federal Bureau of Engraving has had in its history.

The first bond was printed on Feb. 26, 1935, by Robert V. Montgomery, a veteran, employed at the bureau.

A total of 25 presses, working at full speed, beginning February 25, were needed to have the bonds ready for delivery.

VERSAILLES' BIRTHDAY WAS TUESDAY, JUNE 23

Versailles had a birthday anniversary Tuesday, June 23. The city was 144 years old. It was founded in June, 1792.

Among the first lot owners were Deputy Sheriff Lewis Craig, Cave Johnson, first county clerk; John Jackson, who became a leading merchant here; John H. Craig, William Whittington, John January, William O'Bannon.

Lewis Craig bought lot No. 1, which extended on Washington street (now Main) from the present Amsten Bank corner to Morgan street. He paid in "pounds sterling" the equivalent of $32.50 for his lot. It is time some notice of Versailles' birthdays was being taken by our citizens.

Why not a real party next year—on the 145th birthday?—Woodford Sun.

RALPH GILBERT DECLINES TO BE CANDIDATE

In a formal announcement issued Wednesday, State Senator Ralph Gilbert stated he will not make the race for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the Fourth Kentucky District.

He stated that while he had been urged by many friends to campaign for the post, he recently had accepted the executorship of a large estate to which he must devote more time. Also he cited the fact that Governor A. B. Chandler had made a personal request he remain in the State Senate to assist the Administration and that he desired, too, to remain in Shelby county to cooperate in securing contemplated road projects at that place.

PRINTING OF REGISTRATION BOOKS WILL COST $38,350

The state board of registration has awarded to the Standard Printing Company of Louisville a contract to furnish registration books and blanks for Kentucky's first state-wide registration under an act of the 1936 general assembly. The contract price was $38,350.

The contract calls for delivery, in time for the state-wide registration on August 1, of approximately 3,700 precinct books and 900 master books, in addition to blanks for registration.
