New Teachers Find Employment Good

94 Percent Of College Of Education Grads Find Jobs, According To Recent Survey.

Approximately 94 per cent of the graduates in the department of Elementary Education in the University of Kentucky College of Education at the June and August commencement exercises have positions, according to information given out by Mrs. May K. Duncan, head of the department of Elementary Education.

Of the 58 graduates of the department at the two commencements, all but three have jobs and from present indications two of these three will be placed in the near future, according to Mrs. Duncan's report.

Of all the teachers who have majored in elementary education in the University of Kentucky College of Education since the establishment of the elementary school six years ago, all but two have positions at the present time.

CORNER CUPBOARDS ARE DECORATIVE AND USEFUL

Many a dining room can be improved in looks and made more useful by building in corner cupboards. These may be real places to store china and glass, or they may be purely decorative and contain just a few choice bits for display. If the former, it would be better to have doors to shut out the view; if the latter, however, no doors should be used, and the shelves can be cut out in delicate patterns to add to the decorative effect.

THE HERALD

ODDLY-NAMED WILD POSIES HIDE IN FIELD AND WOOD

Wake robin, skunk cabbage, lady's slipper, fringed gentian, harebell, buttercup, bouncing bet, Dutchman's breeches, shepherd's purse, Queen Anne's lace—some of the names of our Middle Western wild flowers are known to almost everyone. There are many others, however, with equally intriguing designations, which only a comparatively few persons know either as names or living things of field and wood.

For instance, the sleepy catch fly, Adam and Eve, the flower of an hour and Indian's pipe, also called the ghost flower because all its parts are white, and there's the shooting star, butter and eggs, false mermaid, squirrel corn, lizard's tail, the green dragon, crane's bill, hound's tooth and toad flax; the hedge hyssop, virgin's bower, downy false foxglove and sundrop.

To the Fieldbook of Illinois Wild Flowers, published by the Illinois Natural History Survey, this report is credited.

HOUSEWIFERY

The button hole stitch is useful for sewing on snaps. It makes a firm and neat job.

Clean fur collars and cuffs by rubbing into the fur cornmeal which has been soaked in gasoline.

Starch rots cotton and linen goods. When storing them between seasons, leave them unstarched. Starch also draws the silvery pest and to omit it is an advantage on that account.

Use a brick or a piece of soapstone for an iron stand and the iron will retain its heat longer than if the ordinary iron stand is used.

A simple way to clean silver is to let it stand for an hour in sour milk and then wash it as usual.

To season your roast, add salt to the water with which you baste it, and the seasoning will penetrate the meat more completely.

THE OLDEST ROOSEVELT VOTER

President Roosevelt can claim the oldest active supporter in the national campaign this year in the person of Mrs. Samuel Brooks, 102 years old, who lives on Salt Creek in Bullitt County.

Mrs. Brooks, who is still active in her housework and small chores about the little farm on which she lives, told Miller that she had not cast a vote in all the years that women have held the right of suffrage, but that she was "mighty proud to cast my first one for President Roosevelt."

CHRISTENING DRESS SERVES MANY GENERATIONS

Family tradition was carried to the fifth generation when Susan Ann Sellers of Amarillo, Texas, was christened in a dress made by her great-great-grandmother and worn in turn by the baby's great-grandmother, grandmother and mother at their christenings.

FEEDING PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN

Children from one to six years, while still consuming quantities of milk, need a whole egg or some meat daily. Older children should have building foods, contain protein and are among the best sources of iron.

YAWN DISLOCATES JAW

Mary Margineau, 22, of Canton, O., was a bit bored with her "date." She yawned, dislocated her jaw. Her escort then took her to the city hospital.

SHELF SPACE

The wall space over the tank of the toilet is seldom used. This is an excellent place for shelves for linen or bottles or other accessories.

SCRATCHED!

"What would you give to have such pretty blonde locks as mine?" "Oh, I don't know. How much did you give?"

Engagement Of Interest

The engagement of Miss Anne Dedman to Mr. Ralph Cherry was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Curry Dedman at a beautifully appointed luncheon Saturday at Beaumont Inn at which a limited number of close friends were guests. The table was artistically decorated with white candles in silver candlesticks tied with tulle bows and a center piece of deep pink giant dahlias. At each plate a large white mint with a tiny bride and groom concealed a white card on which was written, "Anne and Ralph, November 14, 1936," the date of the approaching wedding which will be at the bride's home, Beaumont Inn.

The announcement is of much social interest as both young people are popular in Harrodsburg and other central Kentucky cities. The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Curry Dedman and after receiving her diploma from the Harrodsburg high school, was graduated from the University of Kentucky and later traveled abroad for some time.

Mr. Cherry is the son of Mr. H. G. Cherry, Harriman, Tenn., and for six years has been a member of the faculty and athletic director at the Harrodsburg high school. He resigned the assistant principalship to which he had been elected, to go to Lexington this fall as instructor in mathematics at Morton Junior high school.

At the announcement luncheon covers were laid for Miss Dedman, her mother, Mrs. T. Curry Dedman, her grandmother, Mrs. Glave Goddard; Miss Elizabeth Caldwell, Miss Frances Smith, Miss Martha Belle Jackson, Danville; Miss Roberta Baughman, Stanford; Miss Mary Chick, Miss Nell Duerson, Lexington; Miss Mary Handy Ensminger, Miss Jane Bird Hutton, and Miss Elizabeth VanArsdall, Harrodsburg.

William Mattingly Marriage

The marriage of Miss Margaret Wilham, Burgin, and Mr. John Mattingly, Harrodsburg, was solemnized in Lexington at the Baptist Church parsonage by Rev. C. L. Hargrove on September 30th. Only friends of the young couple, Mrs. Charlie Taylor and Mrs. Leonard Wilson, were present.

The bride has been a resident of Burgin during her lifetime, being the daughter of the late Amanda and John Wilham of that section. She was a member of the 1930 graduating class of Burgin High School.

Mr. Mattingly, known to his many friends as "Jocko," has been a resident of Harrodsburg during his lifetime.

Mr. and Mrs. Mattingly will make their home here and have taken an apartment on Chiles street. They are receiving congratulations from their many friends, who wish them a lifetime of happiness.

Delightful Birthday Surprise

When Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hendren, of near Perryville, returned home from church Sunday they were surprised to find their dining room table beautifully set with a large birthday cake decorating the center. It being Mrs. Hendren's forty-ninth birthday anniversary her children surprised her with a delicious dinner, which they brought with them. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Noel and son, Danny, of Burgin, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Styers and two daughters, Patty Lee and Ruth Allen, of Perryville, Mr. and Mrs. Onis Holliday and son, John Allen, of Nevada, and Mrs. Hendren's father, Mr. Bob Robinson, of Harrodsburg. Mrs. Hendren received several nice gifts.

SUMMER CORN

I love to see corn tassels in the wind, See them on high hills etched against the sky;

I love to see the yellow cornsilks thinned

And touch their silk threads when I'm passing by.

They are the golden hair of lady-corn

Flung to the wind that is a breath of God;

They are so sweet to smell on autumn morn,

Silks yellow, golden, flaxen, red-as-blood.

I love to sweat between the tall corn-rows

And feel the heavy spur roots with bare feet;

I love to breathe corn-scented wind that blows

From growing summer corn so clean and sweet.

Corn is the greatest God-sent flower that grows—

Erect as soldiers in the long straight rows.

—Jesse Stuart in The Progressive Farmer.

Your CHILDREN WILL DO BETTER SCHOOL WORK

IF YOU'LL SEE THAT THEY HAVE PROPER LIGHT FOR THEIR HOME WORK

DEAR MR. and MRS. HOMEFOLKS: Teachers and doctors find that many highly intelligent children do not get along well in school because they suffer eye-strain in doing their homework. Eye-strain tires them unduly, gives them headaches, makes them nervous and irritable.

Help your children in their studies by using Better Sight Lamps (scientifically designed by the Illuminating Engineering Society) in your home. These lamps give excellent light for study, reading, sewing and other close work. And they create a cheery, restful, inviting atmosphere that helps make a happy household.

We're offering many attractive styles in both floor and table models, at moderate prices with easy terms. Select yours now for the long evenings ahead.
