

Q.-k State, Miss Matthews, who has charge of the correspondence respecting the accounts to your Company?

A.-k I do.

Q.-l State whether or not you had any correspondence with Mr. Taylor over the matter of this account?

A.-l I did, a limited amount of correspondence passed between us.

Q.-m What did this correspondence cover?

A.-m It covered his contentions that the $19.50 had never been allowed him with my reply endeavoring to explain where the same had been credited to him.

Q.-n State whether or not you had any correspondence with Mr. Taylor after the visit made him by your Mr. Riddle?

A.-n None whatever.

Q.-o Has your Company ever been able to get Mr. Taylor to pay this $19.50 or to explain his reasons for not doing so?

A.-o No. After his promise to our Mr. Riddle to pay this amount which was reported to me <sup>upon</sup> ~~for~~ Mr. Riddle's return we thought he would be man enough to make good his word and haven't the slightest idea why he has gone back on his agreement or why he fails to meet a just obligation.
