Dedication

Mr. Delbert R. Cunningham

Mr. Cunningham's geniality, his unfailing sense of humor, and his sincere smile of encouragement have often enabled us to face what we considered insurmountable difficulties, and his faith and belief in us have empowered us to develop a greater faith and belief in ourselves. Although he has left Salvisa for another area of educational service, the worthy imprint he has made upon our lives means that for us he will always remain an integral part of Salvisa High School and an unfailing replica of what we consider life's finest and best.

CLASS POEM

We, the Seniors of fifty-three,
Will introduce ourselves with glee.
As toward graduation we anxiously glance,
Through poetry, we shall our names enhance.

First comes Lyda Robinson, quiet as can be,
Beats any girl we ever did see.
She isn't noisy like the rest of us;
You never hear her in a fuss.

Donnie Hockersmith is everyone's ideal.
Someday the girl of his dreams he'll reveal.
Then they'll move out to a home on the range,
And life out there will be quite a change.

Kenny Hazelwood is the clown of us all;
His entertainment keeps us on the ball.
When he had a lesson, we don't remember---
Probably not since last September.

Margaret Yocum is little but loud.
Of her, Jimmie Sexton is very proud.
On her finger you'll see a ring,
And we all delight to hear her sing.

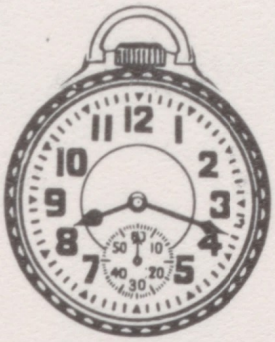
Jimmy Cinnamon, our human spice,
Is sometimes mean and sometimes nice.
His pride and joy is his little grey car;
And he doesn't care if it drives near or far.

Betty Springate, our brown-eyed blond,
Of her humor, we're very fond.
As an actress, she's at the top,
And when she giggles, she's hard to stop.

Wanda Riley and Connie Rogers go in a single rhyme
Because they are inseparable all the time.
He gazes at her with a long lingering look
As they write notes in the back of the book.

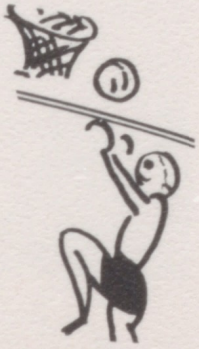
Rollin Cole, our patience has often tested.
With a great degree of mischief, he's surely vested.
But on the ball floor, he's cute as pie;
After him the girls do sigh.

Jo Ann Chrisman has so many beaus
They couldn't be counted on her toes.
Tom, Louis, Ralph, Walterio, Hahn, and Brock,
Have each tried her heart to unlock.



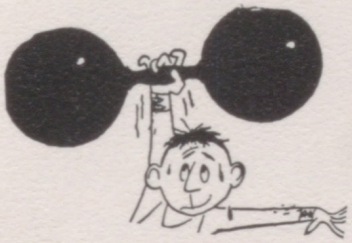
Bobby Tucker has a bright smile.
Knowing him is worth your while.
To school he is always late;
He never rises 'til the clock strikes eight.

Mary Alice Gash---better known as "Al"---
When things go wrong will surely howl.
A capable combination of efficiency and wit,
At U. K., she'll be a scholastic hit.



Willie Gash, our great athlete,
In his looks is hard to beat.
Rather tall and very kind,
A nicer boy is hard to find.

Carolyn Goodlett, with dancing eyes and a thrilling smile,
Has leadership that keeps things moving all the while.
She's a girl of persistence and strong will,
And someday, a high position is sure to fill.



Leon Goodlett is a spectacular sight.
He wins each argument--if wrong or right!
"Muscles" is his most appropriate name.
As a jockey he'll win great fame.

Mrs. Peavler, our Senior teacher,--
You can find no better creature.
Her favorite subjects are Andy and Lee,
And she is nice as she can be.

Sports News

Salvisa, Dec.8, 1952: The Dragon Dopester predicts that the following write-up will appear in next spring's sport news.

HAIL THE CHAMPIONS OF THE STATE TOURNAMENT!

Salvisa had a great basketball season in the 1952-'53 campaign. Against the toughest available competition, the A Team won 26 games and lost 0, and the B Team won 23 games and lost only 3.

During the regular campaign, Salvisa had defeated among others such powers as Elkhorn, Peaks Mill, Middleburg, Bridgeport, Western, Burgin, Willisburg, Mackville, McAfee, Paint Lick, Bald Knob, Good Shepherd, and Parksville.

One of the high lights of the basketball season came when the Dragons of Coach Charlie Reeves won in grand fashion the Championship of the District Tournament, one of the stiffest meets in the state. The Dragons accomplished this by defeating both the Rose Hill Rams and the Anderson Bearcats. On one memorable night, Salvisa downed the thundering herd of Anderson Bearcats by a 60-50 count. A night later, the team copped its greatest victory of the year by whipping its arch rival Rose Hill, in a 68-37 romp.

This led them into the Regional with a triumphant self-confidence that enabled them to defeat both the fighting Henry Clay Blue Devils and the boastful Lafayette Generals, giving them their fourth tourney crown. These now include the County, the Invitational, the District, and the Regional Tournaments.

Victoriously they entered the State Tournament to succeed Cuba as Kentucky's even more spectacular Cinderella team by the defeat of Manual and Clark County. The undefeated Salvisa Dragons now proudly reign over all Kentucky basketball teams. This is an accomplishment for which they have worked, and to which they have looked forward for several years, and one of which they are now most proud.

We, the Class of '53, wish to say that we would not and could not have attained our present height, had it not been for the wonderful parents, teachers, and principals along our way who have encouraged us and helped us with untiring strength. Our heartfelt thanks are extended to them.

We have tried to make The Spectator a reality--we hope you will enjoy it.
