LOCAL MAN JOINS UNIVERSITY STAFF

Son Of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Carpenter Given Chair in College Commerce, University Kentucky.

Dr. Cecil C. Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Carpenter, who live on the Perryville road near Harrodsburg, has been named assistant professor of economics, the College of Commerce, of the University of Kentucky, Lexington. He has assumed his duties and has taken over the classes of Dr. James W. Martin, who accepted the appointment of Gov. A. B. Chandler as acting chairman of the State Tax Commission. In addition he will take up other class work.

Dr. Carpenter, in order to accept his new position, resigned as head of the Department of Economics at Marshall College, Huntington, West Va., where he had been a member of the faculty since 1929. He also taught a class in money and banking for the Huntington chapter of the American Institute of Banking. Dr. Carpenter is well qualified for his position at the University. After receiving a degree of bachelor of science from the University in 1926, he studied the following year at the University of Illinois for a fellowship. He was also an assistant instructor in that University from 1926 to 1929 and was honored by being elected to Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity. Obtaining leave from Marshall College for the school year of 1931-32 he returned to Illinois on a fellowship and obtained a doctor of philosophy degree. Dr. Carpenter is married and has a son.

SCULPTOR BUILD WILL MEET CLASS FRIDAY, FEB. 21

A short session with his class in modeling was forced on Sculptor A. D. H. Build, of Lexington, Friday night, because the modeling clay which he had ordered for his students arrived from New York frozen en route by the extremely cold weather, and it could not be put in condition to be handled. Between ten and twelve students are enrolled in the class, one of them from Lawrenceburg.

Mr. Build will return to Harrodsburg Friday, February 21, and will meet his class at 7 o'clock at the State Bank and Trust Company building. Mr. Build brought with him Friday the modeling stands and tools ordered by his students. He invites any person interested to attend the class at the next meeting.

Loss Put at $12,000 As Two Homes Burn

Devine Residence Taken By Wind-swept Flames; Rose Hill Place Also Is Total Loss.

Sunday afternoon about one o'clock the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Devine, about four miles from Harrodsburg on the Mackville pike, was burned to the ground. Mr. and Mrs. Devine had just returned from church only a short time before the fire was discovered on the shingle roof. Most of the furniture on the first floor was saved but everything on the second floor of the residence was destroyed.

Fire Chief Phillips went to the scene from Harrodsburg and took some chemical equipment to aid in the fight with the flames. A bucket brigade was formed by neighbors who succeeded in saving all of the outbuildings but the fire had gained too much headway at the residence to be extinguished. Mr. Devine estimated his loss at $8,000. Mr. and Mrs. Devine are parents of Mrs. T. Hassell Bowen, Harrodsburg.

Saturday night about 7 o'clock a defective flue caused a fire which destroyed the six-room frame residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Claunch, Rose Hill. Mr. Claunch discovered the fire in the flue and used all the water at hand to control the flames but when he went for more water the flames got out of control. He estimated his total loss at $4,000.

No insurance was carried by Mr. Devine or Mr. Claunch.

CHARLES E. CURTIS

Charles Curtis Dies Suddenly

Former Vice President Succumbs To Heart Attack; Visited Harrodsburg in 1932.

Former Vice President Charles E. Curtis, 78 years old died Saturday, February 8, 1936, at the home of his sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann, and Mr. Gann, in Washington, D. C. Curtis was apparently recovering from a cold which had kept him confined to the house for several days, but there was no thought of his condition being serious. Death was due to a heart attack.

While Vice President of the United States Curtis visited Harrodsburg on September 24, 1932, while making his campaign with President Herbert Hoover for re-election to the two chief offices of the Nation, in opposition to President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Charles Garner. He was much interested in the Pioneer Memorial State Park, especially the Indian relics, and after his visit there made a short informal address to a crowd in the Court House yard, standing on the steps of the building.

Curtis, whose mother was descended from a Kaw Indian chief, was born in Topeka, Kansas, and his political career began in that state. In 1907 he was elected U. S. Senator and Vice President in 1928. Since the defeat with Hoover, he had been engaged in private law practice in Washington. He was taken back to Topeka for burial.

YOUNG BANQUETERS AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A banquet was enjoyed by the juniors of the Young People's Group of the United Presbyterian church Friday evening in the church dining room, with Miss Esther Christman as the after dinner speaker. Miss Jildred Hatchett presided, and Dr. John W. Carpenter, the pastor, gave the invocation and benediction. In addition to Miss Christman's talk other program numbers were a piano solo by Miss Frances Draffen and group songs by the children, about twenty of whom were present.

The table was very attractively decorated and lighted with candles. Mrs. Owens Ingram is director of the group.

Bill To Protect All Journalists

Reporters Will Not Be Forced To Viliate News Source Confidence.

On the heels of the Supreme Court decision outlawing the Louisiana newspaper advertising tax, House members moved Tuesday the adoption of a new statute prohibiting federal judicial bodies from forcing journalists to violate a news confidence.

Chairman Sumners said he ordered full hearings of the judicial committee on Representative Curley's bill amending the federal judicial code to afford this protection to editors, reporters, correspondents, and publishers.

Curley's measure provides that no journalist shall be adjudged guilty of contempt if he refuses to divulge confidential communications.

FARMERS ARE ADVISED AS TO FEED FOR EWES

Heavy losses this winter in breeding ewes, prompted County Agent P. R. Watlington, of Bourbon, to issue a statement in regard to feeding pregnant ewes. He advises 15 to 20% of the feed to be oil meal, a little corn and plenty of legume hay. Naturally an abundance of water is necessary with this dry feed.

This sort of ration will reduce constipation, Mr. Watlington stated.—Bourbon News.

FORMER LOCAL MAN GETS HIGH POSITION

H. D. Didier, one of the owners of the former Harrodsburg canning factory, was elected first vice president of the Kentucky-Tennessee Canners Association at its meeting in Knoxville last week. Mr. and Mrs. Didier formerly resided in Harrodsburg and moved from here to Paris. He is now manager of the Paris plant of the Kentucky Canning Company.

The Family DOCTOR By JOHN JOSEPH GAINES MD.

THOSE LITTLE BOYS

Last week an anxious father brought his little lad of seven to my office with a really well-fitting, surgical-looking bandage about his head, only one eye peeking through. There had been a fight at the country school house and it seems this seven-year-old got the worst of it. The teacher, good soul, had applied mercuriochrome from her kit, put on the dressing and hurriedly took the boy home in her car.

Removing the dressing, I found an abraded wound not skin-deep, extending from the inner margin of the left orbit, almost to the point of the nose; it had oozed blood rather freely, and blood alarms even a school-teacher. The slight wound had been treated thoroughly with mercuriochrome.

You know what I did. Well, I removed the bandage which was so snug and efficient as to be almost disabling in itself. I prescribed an ounce of the teacher's antiseptic. I told the father to leave off all dressings and paint lightly with mercuriochrome about four times a day. Within three days the wound had healed.

Now for the conclusions: All small, minor wounds, involving no important structures, heal better and faster IF LEFT IN THE OPEN AIR. Had I continued to keep over-heating dressings on that boy's face, he would have been coming back today for attention. Keep your small wound clean with any positive antiseptic, and use as few dressings as possible. They shut out air.

A new nickname is sought by the Boston Braves. When they find it, they will jack it up and run a new team under it?
