JUDGMENT.

Dowling Brothers et als

The defendants Dowling Brothers, filed herein a general demurrer to each paragraph of the petition as amended and paragraphed, and submitted to the Court for hearing thereon.

The Court being advised is of the opinion, and so adjudges, that said demurrer be, and it is hereby sustained to the second and third paragraphs of said ~~ANSWER~~ as amended and paragraphed, as to all of the parties plaintiffs. The Court is of opinion and so adjudges that the demurrer be, and it is hereby sustained to the first paragraph of the petition as amended and paragraphed, as to ~~all~~ the plaintiffs Jas. Taylor Donehie, William Donehie, Bettie Criss, Manlius Williams and Lena Williams, but the demurrer to said first paragraph is overruled as to the plaintiff Ella Thomas and George Thomas her husband; to the foregoing ruling of the Court in sustaining the demurrer to the petition as aforesaid Ella Thomas the petition/the plaintiffs/Bettie Criss, William Donehie, Jas. Taylor Donehie, Manlius Williams and Lena Williams object and except; and to the ruling overruling the demurrer to the first paragraph so far as Ella and George Thomas are concerned, the defendants Dowling Brothers object and except.

Thereupon came all of the plaintiffs herein and declined to plead further, whereupon came the defendants Dowling Brothers, and declined to plead further, and this cause is submitted to the Court for its judgment upon the pleadings and exhibits.

The Court being advised, is of opinion and so adjudges, that the Petition in equity herein be, and it is hereby, dismissed as to the plaintiff Jas. Taylor Donehie, William Donehie, Bettie Criss, Manlius Williams and Lena Williams, and that they have and take nothing by reason of said petition, to
