CHILDREN OF PEACE

The altar of Peace has withering flowers, And unlit tapers at dusk The gathering gloom and the ghostly hour Have filled the world's garden with death.

Through the torturing gloom bright stars appear Tall tapers that twinkle and gleam

A procession of white-robed children draw near Singing a peaceful theme.

Each lights a candle on the dark, high altar While singing softly of peace; Their innocent smiles bring life to the flowers

While praying for war to cease.
