

APPROVE PLANS FOR ONWARD KY. EXPOSITION

county if a county exposition is held prior to the State Exposition. It was decided to ask each county to raise a minimum of $30 to create prizes of $15, $10 and $5 as county prizes for the three most ingenious articles discovered in each county. The three prize winners in each county will compete for State prizes of $100, $50, $25, $15 and $10 for the five most ingenious articles discovered in the State. The county prize winners will be determined by committees selected in each county.

All prize-winning articles, except where the prize does not represent the value of the exhibit, will be the property of the Onward Kentucky movement. They will be given to the Shakertown Countryside Industries for further study and development into articles which may be manufactured in small industries, to provide work for local persons.

An additional prize of $100 will be offered for the best county exhibit, to be pro-rated among the persons contributing to that county's exhibit.

Mrs. Paul Wickliffe, Greenville, president of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, who was present at the Lexington meeting, will direct the cooking arts exhibition. There will be no preliminary county expositions in this field, but Mrs. Wickliffe will name county chairmen who will assist in bringing to light interesting and unusual food preparation methods. Prizes of $200 will be awarded the best exhibitors in this field, each of whom must submit with his product the recipe for its preparation.

The ham exhibit will be in charge of the College of Agriculture, University of Kentucky. Besides cash prizes of $100, $50, $25, $15 and $10 for the five best hams exhibited, ninety-five additional blue ribbon prizes of $7.50 each will be offered for the next ninety-five hams. The 100 prize winning hams will be auctioned by Gov. A. B. Chandler to the highest bidders at the conclusion of the exposition.

At the conclusion of the meeting Friday, Mr. Isenberg was authorized by the forty odd executive committee members present to appoint a smaller committee to co-ordinate all plans for the exposition.

This committee includes James Speed, Louisville; Carlton Ball, Lexington; H. B. Skinner, Newport; Forest J. Alvin, Covington; Walter Belknap, Louisville; Mrs. J. U. Joliffe, Louisville; H. A. Gretter, Frankfort; Ed Wilder, secretary of the Lexington Board of Commerce; William B. Morrow, secretary of the Louisville Board of Trade; Mrs. Albert Pommering, Frankfort; Dr. Frank L. McVey, president of the University of Kentucky; Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the College of Agriculture; and Dr. H. C. Pepper, Paducah.

Famous Diamonds On Display Here

EXHIBIT SPONSORED BY THE CURREY & MORGAN DRUG STORE

Replicas of the world's famous historical diamonds are on display in the Currey & Morgan Drug Store window on Main street. Pieces of ore mined in Lesegras, Mexico, from which they are made, and various sizes of Mexican diamonds are also being shown by Sid Sidenberg, owner and representative of the Mexican diamond company.

In this display is a replica of the Great Mogul, supposed to be in possession of the Russian Crown Jewels, and the largest diamond known. The true stone weighs 279 carats. "Excelsior," one of the largest stones ever found weighed 971 and three quarters carats, but a black stone in the rim made it necessary to cut it down and the weight is now 239 carats. This giant belongs to a syndicate of capitalists, together with the mine owners of Jagersfontein, where the stone was found. A duplicate of this stone can be seen in the window.

Replicas of these stones, displayed, with the history of their origin, is known, their present owners and values are: The Polar Star, The Pigott, Orloff, Pasha of Egypt, Shah of Persia, Naasak, Kohinoor of Mountain of Light, Kohinoor (in new shape and cut) Sancy, Toskaner of Florintiner, Regent or Pitt, Star of the South, Hope Diamond the Cullinan diamond taken from the Premier mine in South Africa in 1905.
