The Cincinnati Post

Plaintiff

V.

Joe Mathews & J.H. Mathews,

Defendants

Comes the plaintiff, Cincinnati Post, and states that the defendants Joe Mathews and J.H. Mathews are indebted to it in the sum of $135. 03 ; that said amount is for regular editions of the Cincinnati Post, a newspaper, which were delivered to defendants from time to time at their special instance and request the terms of which were embodied in a written contract which these defendants executed and acknowledged and which will be filed herewith as part hereof if required.

Plaintiff states that in accordance with said contract with these defendants regular editions of the Cincinnati Post were delivered to defendants but that defendants in disregard of their contract and promise to pay for said papers failed and refused to pay said amount or any part of the same ; that said amount is just due and wholly unpaid.

Premises considered plaintiff prays judgment against defendants for the sum of $135.03 ; for costs of this suit and for all other relief to which it may appear to be entitled.
