

Education makes a people easy to lead, but difficult to drive; easy to govern, but impossible to enslave.—Attributed to Lord Brougham.

What greater or better gift can we offer the republic than to teach and instruct her youth ?
—Cicero.

'Tis education forms the common mind; just as the twig is bent the tree's inclined.
—Pope.

FOREWORD

Without some reminder of the events of the school year thirty-seven and thirty-eight, many of them would soon pass from memory. This volume of the Harrodian was published in order that they might not be forgotten.

In this book an attempt has been made to give an accurate account of the happenings of the year, to portray the scenes of the campus, and above all, to recall the happy associations.

If bringing to you this book instills in you a greater love and a higher esteem for Harrodsburg High School, then we have accomplished our purpose. It is with this thought in mind that we give this record of events to you. May it grow more precious to you with the passing of time.

W. W. ENSMINGER

DEDICATION

to

Mr. William W. Ensminger

Superintendent of the
Harrodsburg Public Schools

To a courteous gentleman, a proficient instructor, and a beloved friend, who by his interest in the general welfare of the students has won a lasting place in our hearts, we, the Senior Class of 1938, dedicate this volume of The Harrodian.

SENIOR CLASS ECHOES

Reverberating down through the years is a sound made by seventy-one large and small feet pattering along the corridors of Harrodsburg High School.

In September, 1934, this noise was supplemented by sounds which were later discovered to be timid, faltering voices in many keys, rising from the deep basso profundo, swelling to a high soprano.

As the days passed and familiarity removed timidly to some extent, the voices became more distinct and such questions as "Whose room are you in ?" "Are you passing, too ?" "Who's afraid of the big bad sophomores ?, were heard.

The din became more pronounced and resounded among the hills and cliffs through which the Sophomore Stream ran with great difficulty and much noise over boulders, rapids, and waterfalls. Some times the Stream flowed more smoothly, bringing only a faint murmur to our ears; but with the coming of final tests, the volume of the echoes increased to a deafening roar as it dropped from the heights of fancied security into the uncertain whirlpools of tests, from which some emerged victorious, while others disappeared in the tragic eddies of failure.

With a gentle murmur the Junior Stream wound its way through the Foothills of Endeavor, but the quiet lapping of the waters on the shore was broken now and then by strong gusts of wind which changed the smooth ripples into ruffled waves whose irregular beat against the Hills of Learning found an echo in trembling hearts.

Various tributaries have added their years' contributions to the stream, widening it with treasures of knowledge into the broader Senior River. Soon this River will pour into the uncertain Sea of Life, mixing its freshness and pureness with the impurities of the world. Aided by the Current of Education we have kept afloat so far, now it is left to us whether we shall sink beneath the mighty waves of the Sea of Life, or swim bravely on through the breakers to success.

L'ENVOI

We raise our eyes to the clock in the hall
While over us a sadness begins to fall,
For the hands are pointing to the very last hours
That made this glorious privilege ours—
The right to come at the start of day
Up the path through this doorway
Into the rooms that have held our joys,
The joys of all high school girls and boys,
Seeking knowledge that changes youth
Into men and women of learning and truth.
Priceless are the moments we've shared,
The teachers and friends for whom we've cared.
There were days we fretted and fussed awhile,
But we've healed all that with a little smile;
And out of our thoughts we've put away
All that would darken this glad day.
Four happy years of our young lives
Passed before we hardly realized
That happiness like this cannot last.
The twelfth hour has come and is almost passed,
We're sentenced to leave our cherished school
By virtue of the graduation rule.
What life holds for us we do not know,
Yet memories will linger wherever we go.
This school, its spirit, its admirable pride
Will add zest and vigor to our every stride.
You haven't given us silver or gold,
You've given us an aspiring soul,
You've given us ideals and thoughts
Your influence has magic wrought.
As we lift our hands to bid farewell,
The sorrow we feel no one can tell.
Tears will fall, smiles will fade,
We'll wish many times we could have stayed.
But we'll go; we have no choice;
We promise in a trembling voice
To uphold all you are and all you mean.
Our eyes are clouded with a tear's gleam,
Our hearts are forever bound to you,
School of the proud white and blue.

AGNES BELLEBAUM

CLASS SONG

We will remember our high school days
As we go on our separate ways.
Years of work and play and fun
Seem so short now they are done.
Memories of many a groan and a sigh
We carry with us as on we go.
We leave behind us a record high
A torch to others the way to show.

The roads we'll travel we cannot know;
Dim are the lights on paths we'll go.
Out of the darkness shines hopes star
To beckon us on to the goal so far.
Days may be weary and nights be long,
Yet with life's eventide there comes a song.
Faint, yet we listen unto the end;
Life's but a journey, friend with friend.

CHORUS

High school days, high school days
Memories of thee we'll cherish always.
Comrades and teachers we leave with regret,
Faces of friends we'll never forget.

JUNIOR DIVISION

The river is recognized as a stream that has developed considerable importance. In like manner, the significance of the juniors has grown through the years, and their accomplishments have been worthy of recognition.

JUNIOR CLASS

JUNIOR CLASS ECHOES

It seems ages ago, though in reality, it has been not quite three years, that a curious group of about seventy would-be high school students assembled in an overcrowded class room. That body of expectantly waiting youngsters was the freshman class of 1935 and the present junior class.

With surprising quickness we adapted ourselves to the high school routine, and under the supervision of Mr. DeMoisey and Miss Derickson, our home room teachers, we moved along smoothly enough, although we did not quite live up to our expectations that we would lead the school in scholarship, or place eleven freshmen on the football team. We found at the end of the school year our class ranked fairly high in scholarship, and that we had also made a place for ourselves on the athletic field.

Sophomore classes never seem to be quite so interesting or so much in the limelight as the other classes are. The only explanation of this is that the sophomore year is a lull between the exciting first and the dignified last year of school. Ours was no exception to the rule; and, though nothing happened to blot our record, there were no events interesting enough to record.

Although the boys of our class are generally fair and open minded, at the beginning of our junior year we could not refrain from using a bit of strategy on the unsuspecting girls at the election of our class officers. We elected a boy to fill each office, although the girls exceeded us in number. We were unable, however, to withstand their pleas for a little recognition; so we generously gave the office of secretary to a girl. The outcome of this election was as follows: Billy Sullivan, President; Chester Hawley, Vice-president; Gladys Anderson, Secretary; and Charles Wade, Treasurer.

Our junior year has passed pleasantly and swiftly, and we are looking forward to the senior year with the greatest of anticipation. We sincerely hope our echoes will resound more loudly than ever before.

SOPHOMORE DIVISION

As the water from the spring trickles into the brook and begins its journey toward the ocean; so, we, the sophomores, having been enriched by our experiences and activities as freshmen, are working toward our goal—graduation.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Glancing backward, we find that our sophomore year, though by no means perfect, has been decidedly successful. We have outgrown the puzzled temerity of our freshman year, and we feel a pride in the record of our activities. With all our numerous faults, we desire to challenge any other class who would like to compete with our scholastic record, for we believe we have "topped" them all in the number of A's we have received—thanks to the patient work of our splendid teachers. We hope we may live up to their high ideals. We have taken a particularly active part in all the various organizations of our school and smile with pride at our united effort in aiding the unfortunate at both Thanksgiving and Christmas.

We are justly proud of our accomplishments in athletics. Three sophomores were awarded an H as a mark of their tireless efforts and splendid playing for the Blue and White. We must not fail to mention that one of our number was placed on the district basketball team.

Some of us even ventured to try matrimony. Perhaps this was because of the fact we desired a higher social plane or a diversion from lessons.

The happy memories of our home room programs will always linger with us. Our home room teachers can be elated because of two great accomplishments. Mr. Goranflo has his boys so trained that they automatically bend at the mere sight of a rod; Miss Armstrong, that we girls literally dive simultaneously after a stray bit of paper or chalk.

But in spite of our joy in the past we must not linger too long in looking backward. We must look forward to our next two years as upper classmen. May we profit in the future by our mistakes in the past, and may our knowledge sustain us in future years as students in our beloved high school.

FRESHMAN DIVISION

Like the spring which bubbles forth from the depths of the earth to become larger as it continues on its course, we, the freshman class, begin to flow toward the broad waters of success and usefulness.

FRESHMAN CLASS

FRESHMAN CLASS ECHOES

Of all school life the hour when the lowly graded school pupil sheds the raiment of the grades and puts on the cloak of the freshman, brings to him his greatest thrill in life and the keenest anticipation.

Go with me to the high school chapel on the night of June 3, 1937. Was not that the evening when all honor was paid to the graduating class of that year? Amid pomp and ceremony we saw the graduates receive as their rewards their most treasured diplomas.

To them that was the attainment of the goal toward which they had looked for four long years. But, timid, awkward, inexperienced, and afraid on that memorial night, amid the splendor of it all, we freshmen were recognized. Can one ever forget the moving spirit of the occasion, one who had taken us from the lingering memories of Mother Goose Rhymes and lifted us up into more useful fields ? I refer to our own Professor Powell. Our recognition was complete when he bade us rise and with a smile welcomed us as the new freshman class.

We were a motley gang that assembled for work in the fall of 1937. Gradually as our eyes became opened to the apparent necessity for orderliness and the good that comes with it, it was proposed by our home room teacher, Miss Shearer, that we have a class organization and elect officers. Accordingly, a vote was taken, first for the office of president. The ayes had it, and to the satisfaction and joy of all, the popular Jane Coyle was chosen for this important post. Here is a little secret about the election. After the vote was taken, Johnny Sullivan was heard to say that he had voted under a misapprehension, that he thought the vote was being taken for the prettiest girl.

For vice-president there is little to be said. The decision of the class was that this job be filled by none other than your class historian.

Taking into consideration that a treasurer of the class should not only be a judge of beauty, as evidenced by his vote on a former occasion, but that he should in some measure possess the ready faculty of being able to get the cash when needed, the eyes of all were turned to Johnny—I mean, of course, Johnny Sullivan, and the ayes had it.

The secretary, a job that called for work and figuring, went to J. W. Sims; and his speech of acceptance will go down in history as somewhat of a masterpiece.

With our organization under way, and with our teachers planning for us our method and plan of attack on all freshman subjects, gradually, out of chaos and confusion, came order into our lives and with it a reason for everything.

We joined the Latin Club with a membership of 69; also the Glee Club, Hi Y and Girl Reserves found us as members.

The school has always evidenced a deep interest in athletics, and the call for representation was answered by C. B. Yates and Gilbert Cloyd. This reminds me that, as the time for football approached, the class again showed that it knew what it was doing by electing as class cheer leader, Mildred Hatchett.

It would not be authentic and reliable history if we failed to make record of the esteem, respect and love we have for our teachers. But even if we did not so esteem, respect, and love our dear teachers, we would say so anyhow, because - - - well, who is running this show and who gives us our grades ?

We have twenty freshmen taking five subjects, which sounds like a great number, but when interviewed, they hinted that the real reason was they didn't know the "Big Apple" and "Susie Q" would be so popular.

As time goes on, gradually our interest in each other becomes deepened. With our loyalty for old H. H. S. bringing us closer together, we have built up a spirit of cooperation which we hope will increase until the freshman class stands united as seniors in 1941.

Flash! A four * * * * picture ! Title: "The Roller Skating Beauty" or "Pity the Sidewalk." Leading lady, Miss Sallie Van Winkle. In the supporting cast, Eula Lee Rue. (Miss Rue's shoulder was an excellent support to keep the leading lady from coming down to earth).

Mildred Gortney, Margaret Moore and Ermany Watts failed to see the Harrodsburg-Paris game because a certain teacher was afraid of being lost in a fog.

To remind your boy friend you are still around try Bessie Veatch's plan. Write a note several times each day saying: "Dear Sam! Hello, Bessie."

It could be so ! Seen at the famous "Trocadero" Deedie Allen and Bobby Ensminger . . . . Inspecting a new five room bungalow, Paul Freeman and Mildred Donovan . . . . Mayor Chester Hawley welcoming Bonnie Elerd to Covington . . . . A romance between sober James Hubert Ison and giggling Eula Lee Rue . . . . Notice how closely Charlie Robinson resembles the Duke of Windsor . . . . It seems Mary Elizabeth Dennis must be getting an entire book instead of a letter from Bill of Cincinnati . . . . Ask Jack Reed when William Parker said to him, "Oh Jack, look what you have done—lost my comb and mussed up my hair." . . . .There must be no one in school who can't realize that Stuart Alexander's nickname couldn't be anything else but "sleepy" . . . . One of our masculine class mates thinks Doris Freeman looks like Joan Crawford . . . . Winfield Gabhart has been called the "Manager" of the Burgin Bulldogs . . . "Jumping" Jimmy Mills, our popular man-about-town, is a serious rival of a junior boy for the attentions of "petite" sophomore girl . . . Girls be careful lest Joe Chatham asks you "How much do you weigh?" . . . . Doris Britton receives quite a few admiring glances from James Claunch . . . . We wonder what little joke Lewis Moss knows on Mary Lee Dunn . . . . Is Dorothy Lee Knight's interest in the Balden family, the daughters or the son? . . . We believe Virginia Lee Sims is still interested in race horses and their manager who looks extremely like Tyrone Power . . . . We are informed that only one-third of the junior and senior high school knows that "Fro" Renfro's first name is Oswald . . . . Russell Curtsinger is an example of the old saying "Silence and knowledge go hand in hand" . . . . One of the most stylish members of our class is Imogene Masters . . . . J. P. TIME MARCHES ON September	6	Readin', writin' and 'rithmetic, taught to the tune of civics, English and history. It's good to see old friends again.

	7	Schedules made out. Students searching for snap courses.
	8	Everyone buying and selling his books to get the most money he can. (The extra cash came in handy.)
	17	First football game of the season. Student body journeys to Frankfort to see the Pioneers beat the Panthers 25 to 0.
	23	Election of class officers. Doris Freeman elected president. We believe in woman suffrage.
October	1	Seniors start selling pencils with the football schedule on them. Paul Freeman champion salesman.
	14 & 15	Exams. Everybody worried. Seniors taking exams more seriously than ever before. We must graduate seventy-one strong !
	28	Class Hallowe'en party. Many gay costumes.
November	1	Chemistry and Physics classes go to the water works.
	18	One act plays. Mrs. Williams donates proceeds to the senior class. First large income for the Harrodian.
	19	Football schedule ends with Mt. Sterling. A good season.
	25	Thanksgiving vacation. No studying for four days.
December	10	Seniors start selling basketball pencils. A dream of more money for the annual.
	13	Heavy sleet. Half the student body skid to school and much to their disappointment (?) find school dismissed for three days. Thanks to the elements !
	16	Start of the basketball schedule. Pioneers are victorious over Mt. Sterling.
	17	Christmas Holidays. Many sad faces, but hopes of a visit from Santa Claus.
January	3	Back again. It is the same old school. Santa didn't treat some of us right.
	12	Mothers entertain football and basketball teams at banquet. Good eats but the letter men are relieved after the speeches are over, especially Bernard and Louis.
	13	Honor jackets given to the football and basketball teams. Record broken by fourteen seniors receiving the honor.
	21	First semester ends. Hurray, half of the school year has passed !
	27, 28 & 29	County tournament. We won over Burgin in finals. Needless to report—everyone happy.
February	3	Cap and gown discussion. Many bitter debates. Almost a fight. Referee, Mr. Ensminger. Jane almost eliminated.
	9	Bible study begins, conducted by Mrs. Dedman and Rev. Tomlin.
	15	Interstate Commerce speech. Students give their knowledge concerning highways traveled. Christine Bonta makes A on information coning state highway 35 between Harrodsburg and Danville.
	21	Virginia Lee Sims' sweater presented in assembly. Chemistry class and physics class go to the ice plant. Was the ice cream good ?
	24	H Club organized. New constitution and by-laws made.
	25	Last basketball game. Harrodsburg victorious over Madison. Very successful season. Sixteen wins and three losses.
March	4 & 5	District tournament at Lawrenceburg. Anybody want to fight ?
	31	Abraham Lincoln picture show. Big success. More money for the annual.
April	1	Senior "kid" day. For some, the costumes were an improvement.
	7	Elliott James gives a lecture on Liquid Air. To freshmen, wonders never cease.
	11-15	Thank goodness for K. E. A. Five days of spring vacation.
	23	Junior Ky. Academy of Science meeting in Richmond.
May	6	Seniors attend High School Day at Richmond.
	13	Senior play. Keen competition for Greta Garbo and Robert Taylor.
	20	Chemistry and physics classes go to Lexington on a pleasure trip.
	27	Junior-Senior reception at Beaumont Inn.
	29	Baccalaureate sermon.
June	1	Class night.
	3	Commencement. Seventy-one seniors receive their sheep-skins. The largest graduating class in the history of the Harrodsburg High School. "Au revoir" to the best high school in the state.

SPORTS

FOOTBALL SQUAD

GEORGE EDWARDS, End—"Dogs" was a great defensive player, and the opposing team rarely gained yardage around his end. He might be termed the "brain trust" of the team, because of the straight A's seen on his report card.

SAMUEL TEATER, Tackle—Weighing around a hundred and eighty-five pounds, this boy was a great player both on the offense and defense. Because of his size and agility he was a constant menace to opposing players. "Sambo" will be sorely missed next year.

WINFRED FOSTER, Guard—"Tycobb" showed great improvement over his first year of play and fitted snugly into the guard position. Possessing all of the qualities of a good guard, having speed and driving power, "Tycobb" will be a great asset to the team next year.

DICK MITCHELL, Center—Here is a boy that really loves the game of football, and he showed it every minute of the game. Dick has that sense of sighting the opponents play before it takes place. This foresight enables him to be in the midst of almost every play. Watch him go next year!

JAMES CLAUNCH, Guard—"Jakie" was handicapped because of his lack of weight, but his fighting spirit and aggressiveness helped greatly to offset this handicap. He was a willing worker, a fiery player, and a fighter. "Jakie" gave all that he had for H. H. S.

HARVEY DEAN, Tackle—The game of football was a new thing to Harvey a few years ago; but he learned fast, and the past year found him as a regular on the Pioneers and a tough, hard charging tackle. He should be one of the main cogs next year.

JACK REED, End—Standing six feet three and weighing around a hundred and eighty pounds, "Tom" was a great defensive end and an adept pass receiver. He has been a regular for the past three years and will be greatly missed next year.

JAMES BEST, Halfback—One of the greatest backs ever to carry the pigskin for H.H.S. Wt. 175 lbs., he can do anything required of a great ball player. Bullet-like passer, a long distance booter, fast, shifty, and a terrific line plunger. Captain of this year's team and gained a backfield position on the All-C. K. C. eleven.

CHARLES WADE, Fullback—"Chuck" took plenty of punishment battering the opponents' line to shreds, but he seemed to like it; and without him the Pioneers would have been greatly weakened. Much is expected of "Chuck" next year.

GEORGE SADLER, Quarterback—"Sad" is the type of player that a coach desires. He has a great competitive spirit, he loves to play the games, and he never concedes the other team the victory before the game is over. He's a fast, shifty, broken-field runner, a good passer, and a natural athlete. Sadler has another year to play for the Pioneers.

JIMMY MILLS, Halfback—Due to his lack of experience, Jimmy was not a regular at the first of the season, but Coach realized his abilities and played him in the latter part of the season. Had he had experience, it is certain that he would have been a real star. Possessing a fighting spirit, he was in on every play, and his passing was a big help to the team.

STANLEY HOUCHINS, Halfback—This was "Hardboots' " first year out for football, and he showed the fans that he possessed real ability. A very fast and elusive runner, Stanley stood out on pass defense and open field running.

C. B. YATES, Halfback—C. B. served as a reserve for the backfield during the past season because of his small size and inexperience, but it will be hard to keep him out of a regular position next year.

J. B. SCANLON, Tackle—This boy was the largest on the squad, weighing around two hundred and thirty pounds. J. B. was always ready to work, and he will be very valuable to the team next year.

JOHN HENRY, Tackle—Always ready for service and capable of doing a good job, Johnny should be a real asset to next year's team.

BEN LYONS, End—Ben was substituted a great deal during the season because he is big and fast and possesses a fighting spirit. A regular berth is in sight for this boy next year.

RUSSELL CURTSINGER, Halfback—This boy did not show his real class until the past year, which is unfortunately, his senior year. He is very elusive, a fine passer, and an excellent punter. Russell was always ready to do whatever Coach Goranflo wished, and he leaves a position that will be hard to fill.

FORREST DEMAREE, Guard—Another inexperienced player, Forrest convinced the fans that he had plenty of ability, and Coach gave him a chance to prove his ability often. Forrest is a senior and will be missed greatly next year.

SOL POTTER, Guard—Sol is a hard worker, and, because he is developing into a fine athlete, he should hold a regular job on next year's eleven. He is fast, aggressive, and a good defensive man.

PAUL RUSSELL, Halfback—"Rusty" did a good job in the backfield when he was substituted by Coach Goranflo, and he showed plenty of spirit and determination. Next year should find him holding a regular position on the team.

EDWIN PARKER, Tackle—This boy was in his first year of football. Since he was a freshman, he promises to develop into a fine performer. He has the size and ability. With careful training, Parker should be a valuable man to next year's squad.

MANAGERS CLOYD, HATCHETT AND GRAVES—Much of the success of our team can be attributed to our managers. Three more efficient supporters of the Blue and White cannot be found anywhere. These three boys were always ready to do whatever was asked of them by the coaches and the players.

SALE AND GORANFLO, Coaches—These two men guide the athletic destinies of Harrodsburg High School. Mr. Sale, as head basketball coach, and Mr. Goranflo, as head football coach, have established fine records in their respective sports. Both put out teams that showd good training in every department and coached teams that conducted themselves in a sportsmanlike manner, victory or defeat.

GEORGE SADLER, Forward—"Sad" was the sparkplug of the team. He is fast, an excellent ball handler, and a spirited player. George was the high scorer of the season with a hundred and seventy-five points. He was selected on the All-County Team and has another year to play.

GEORGE EDWARDS, Forward — "Dogs" showed vast improvement over his first year's play and developed into a real rebounder and an accurate long shot. He is also a fine defensive player. George will undoubtedly be an improved ball player next year and should be a star of the team.

STANLEY HOUCHINS, Guard—This boy is one of the finest players ever to wear the blue and white. "Hardboots" is a great ball handler, a fast-break artist, and a dead eye basket shot. He has been a regular on the team for the past three years and was named on the All-District Team this year. Stanley is a senior and his absence will be greatly felt next fall.

JACK REED, Center—Big "Tom" has been a valuable man to the Pioneers for the past three years. Because of his extreme height he made an excellent rebounder, and a large majority of his baskets were made by tip-in and follow-through shots. Jack was selected for the All-County Team this year. He leaves a position hard to fill.

JUNIOR BRITTON, Guard—This boy will, without doubt, develop into one of the best basket ball players ever produced. "Junie" is a beautiful ball handler and an excellent shot from almost any angle. He merited a position on the All-District Team this year. Watch his smoke next year!

BOBBY ENSMINGER, Guard— Bobby was considered a very valuable man to Coach Sale because of his ability to take the ball away from his opponents and also for his accuracy in hitting the basket. He will be greatly missed next year.

CHARLES WADE, Guard—"Chuck" is a dependable ball player and gives all that he has in every game. He is a fine defense player and by next year should be a scoring threat.

THORNTON LAMKIN, Guard—Here is a boy that should develop into a real star. When offered a chance to show his ability in the latter part of the season, he gave a good account of himself; and next year should find him as a regular.

THOMAS GRAVES, Center—"Rags" was expected to go places this year, but somehow he couldn't get going until the latter part of the season. Tommy is a good ball handler and a nice rebounder. He will be greatly missed next year.

JAMES CLAUNCH, Guard—This boy is one of the hardest fighting athletes ever to don a uniform. He has plenty of playing ability, but it was due in a large part to his flaming spirit that he gained a position on the squad.

SOL POTTER, Guard—Sol showed by his steady improvement during the past season that somebody will have to put up a battle to keep him off the first team next year. He is a good defensive player and a nice ball handler.

BASKETBALL SQUAD

REVIEW OF THE 1937-1938 ATHLETIC YEAR

The past year was one of the most successful years in athletics that the school has ever witnessed. The football team, under the efficient coaching of Coach Emmett Goranflo, completed the season with a record of six wins and four losses. Sportsmanship and spirited playing were outstanding characteristics of the team. The players had that "do or die" attitude; and due to this fact, the Pioneers could be counted on to play, whether or not they had strong opposition.

The basketball season ended with the records showing sixteen wins and three defeats. "Aggie" Sale, in his first year as head coach of the Pioneers, instilled in the boys great desire to win besides giving them expert training in basketball fundamentals. This year's outfit was, without doubt, the greatest ever to represent the school, not only because of their flaming desire to win, but also because of a great degree of natural ability seen in most of the players. Coach Sale and his boys deserve all of the credit that can be bestowed upon a basketball team and its coach. Next year should find the school represented in both sports by outstanding teams; and, through the efforts of Coaches Sale and Goranflo, the teams should carry on with the same spirit, determination, and sportsmanship that characterizes the past season's play.

FAREWELL

Four years ago we entered Harrodsburg High School, each with the common goal, that of being graduated. This goal seemed distant, a thing in the far future, that we should some day reach. The time has not been long; all too soon have we reached it. This point closes an epoch in our lives; it is the end of our happy, carefree days. We must say goodbye to all of our teachers whom we learned to love during our four years, we must say good-bye to all our friends who have grown dearer day by day, year by year, and we must say goodbye to the dear old school, the memory of which will forever remain a bright spot in our lives. It is with sad hearts that we leave it all, but we must go. Goodbye, dear High School; we'll love you always.

When In Danville We Shop At Wiseman's Of Course

A familiar expression with the more substantial trade. They like Wiseman's distinction . . . its rare combination of courtesy, convenience and attentiveness to the discriminating, which, when summed up—means better service. So, year after year those who are most appreciative of finer things choose Wiseman's.
