

Sen. J. J. McBrayer, of Fayette Co. Announces For Congress In The 6th District

I take this occasion to announce my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Sixth Congressional District.

We, as a nation, are just emerging from a crisis more serious than any in the history of the United States with the possible exception of the period of the Revolution and the War between the States. The survival of our institutions and of our whole economic fabric has been tested to the uttermost, but under the leadership of the President of the United States there is evidence of recovery on every hand. We can rejoice in the spiritual and material improvement which has taken place in this country within the last two years. That gallant figure, with his high courage, with his indomitable will, with his magnificent ability, with his devotion to the interest of the body of the people, to the forgotten man as he once denominated him is leading the American people out of the Slough of Despond. His courage and optimism has had a tremendous effect upon the hearts and minds of our people in ending the Depression. He has done more in two years to rout the long entrenched forces of special privileges than has been accomplished in any period of our history.

Bold measures were needed, certain fundamental and economic adjustments were necessary, and certain temporary and emergency measures were demanded to restore property and to remove the cause of the dreadful ordeal through which we had passed.

Whatever was or may be the outcome of any part of that program he has convinced the American people that he is literally and faithfully carrying out his pledge to "drive the money changers from the temple." Whether he succeeds or fails in any engagement in the long war to finally redeem the nation from the forces of reaction and depression, we know that the whole force of the government is exerted to the utmost in the interest of the great masses of the people. His courage and masterful grasp of the spirit of his countrymen has been like the music of silver bugles sounding the charge to the people of the United States.

In November he will again be chosen as our leader, and with him a Democratic Congress to complete his program. I covet the honor of representing the Ashland District in that body. The present incumbent has been the recipient of your good will for fourteen years. From an examination of his record during that time I am constrained to say that there is nothing in that record to justify his continuance in that office in perpetuity.

During the next few weeks it shall be my pleasure to outline fully through public addresses and the press and by the radio, my attitude on all public questions and that program I shall consider a solemn covenant with the people of this district.

Respectfully,
J. J. McBRAYER.

Cure for Cold

When circus elephants catch cold, the attendants treat them with boiling vinegar. By means of a large bag that slips on over the trunk, the animals are made to inhale the vinegar, which is said to be very effective as a cure.

Old Age Pension Pay May Be Late In State

Announcement has been made at Frankfort that the payments of $5,000,000 annual old age assistance grants in Kentucky will be delayed until August or September in order to give time for detailed investigations of every applicant as required by law, and for preliminary organization for the task.

Although the law providing old age assistance shall become effective July 1, indications are that it may be delayed until August or September in order to give time for detailed investigations of every applicant as required by law, and for preliminary organization for the task.

Although the law providing old age assistance shall become effective July 1, indications are that it may be Sept. 1 before the paying machinery is operating smoothly.

The manual of the old age assistance regulations prepared by the department of welfare is now ready for approval by Gov. Chandler. It is to be submitted to him within the next few days. The manual includes all application forms. Attorney-General H. M. Vincent has approved the proposed regulations as complying with Kentucky statutes and the constitution.

Frederick A. Wallis, chairman of the welfare department, said details of organization were being worked out as rapidly as possible, but that no definite announcement could be made at this time regarding either the date of beginning payments or the type of organization.

Application blanks, as prepared by the Welfare Department, along with other regulations, have been approved by the Federal Social Security Board, Chairman Wallis announced last Friday.

All persons who have written letters of application to the Welfare Department will receive application blanks as soon as they can be printed and distributed, Wallis said. Other blanks will be sent to the County Clerk's office where they may be filled out.

Kentuckians over 65 who have insufficient income to maintain a "reasonable" standard of living will be eligible to receive grants of not more than $15 a month each. The Welfare Department will make a personal investigation of each case, and every applicant who has property will be required to give the State a lien to that property to cover the amount received.

ABOUT FISHING WORMS

(Editor Cynthia's Democrat)

We have been called a worm many times but even if we were one we make no claim to wormology so whether or not you agree with the following don't come back on us for further information. Lawrence Padgett says fishing worms make lightning bugs and quotes no less authority than his uncle Quince Whitaker, who is said to have bottled up six fishing worms in a can and puncturing the receptacle just enough to let in air but not let the worms out. In a few weeks the worms had disappeared and in their places were six lightning bugs making merry in the can and lighting up the place like nobody's business. As further proof of his contention, Lawrence said early in May worms are plentiful and there are no lightning bugs and then late in May even a fisherman couldn't find a worm and the air is full of lightning bugs. A wonderful opportunity awaits someone who can develop a half and half—that is a worm that the fish will relish and with a tail light to show the fisherman when to jerk.

TO BE LIKED, YOU MUST LIKE OTHERS

(Mason City, Ia., Globe-Gazette) I am interested in Robert Quillen's view that almost anybody of ordinary intelligence can be popular. All you have to do, he explains, "is to like people."

"Did you ever see a charming person with cold and unfriendly eye?" he inquires. "I am sure you haven't. Those who seem charming are the ones who seem to like you."

"As a general rule, you will find people willing to meet you half way and treat you as well as you treat them. They are willing to like you if you give no offense, and thus you begin with the seed of popularity already planted. All you need do is encourage it a little bit and let it develop by natural processes."

"Most people spoil things by talking too much. In thoughtless conversation with one friend, they make rather catty remarks about another. And the person talked about eventually hears what was said and feels hurt. It may not make an enemy of him, but he never again will believe that you like him and never again will like you. That ends your popularity so far as he is concerned."

"Everybody wishes to be liked. And most people will repay you generously if you like them and prove it by not making nasty cracks about them."

MRS. INSULL RESPONSIBLE FOR DIX DAM LANDSCAPING

The death of Mrs. Martin Insull, which occurred in Canada recently, recalls to mind the fact that she is responsible for the landscape gardening that was done at Dix dam at a cost of $30,000. The dam site is now one of the prettiest spots in Kentucky, as a result of her wishes in the matter, and if you have not seen it lately you should motor out and do so, for it is, a veritable "thing of beauty."—Danville Advocate.
